Seven inches! 2nd storm on the way

by STIRLING MORITA
and JOHN MAES

A Thanksgiving Eve storm of near-blizzard proportions socked the Northwest suburbs Wednesday night, causing an airplane to slip off a runway at O'Hare Airport and making Ill. Rte. 53 "bumper to bumper with accidents."

The Thanksgiving exodus from Chicago appeared to be heavy despite the storm and its early forecast. Traffic on major thoroughfares was moving about 15 to 20 miles per hour with numerous accidents tying up police.

The storm, which originated out of the Rocky Mountains and paralyzed St. Louis and western and southern Illinois earlier in the day, was expected to dump about seven inches in the Chicago area before tapering off early today, a U.S. Weather Service spokesman said. A second storm is expected Friday.

A TWA BOEING 707 and its wheels went off Runway 14 while it was landing about 8:15 p.m. The plane was mired in mud until tow trucks pulled it back to the terminal with 93 persons aboard, Larry Hilliard, TWA spokesman said.

No injuries were reported. The flight had been diverted from Kansas City to Detroit and was coming to Chicago.

Traffic at the airport was at a standstill. Flights, especially to snow-socked St. Louis, were being canceled, and some were running an hour late. Among the stranded passengers were the Buffalo Bills football team, including star running back O. J. Simpson who were headed to St. Louis to play a Thanksgiving Day football game against the Cardinals. The St. Louis airport was closed because of the storm.

In Detroit, about 23 passengers were injured when an American Airlines DC 10 was forced to make an emergency landing because of air turbulence over Lake Michigan. The plane was bound from Chicago to Newark, N.J.

LOCALLY, state police reported there were seven auto accidents at the Northwest Highway interchange

And 15 are from Malesky family

Thanksgiving for (count 'em) 25

by KAREN BLECHA

Thanksgiving is a family time. No one can deny it.

Around the country, in the Northwest suburbs, down the street and up the block, families will gather 'round the table to celebrate, stuff themselves silly and be together to give thanks for another year.

At a brick house on a quiet street in Des Plaines, it will be a special time. Twenty-five people will sit down for dinner and 15 of them will be the same family. For as the Edward Maleskys say, you can't beat turkey day when you've got a large brood.

THERE ARE 13 children in the family, seven of them his, six of them hers. They got together last year when Edward Malesky of Hoffman Estates and Dorothy O'Connor of Chicago, widower and widow, tied the knot in a ceremony that received widespread publicity.

Things have quieted down around the house at 1782 Ash Ct. and like many mothers, Dorothy Malesky will be up at the crack of dawn today to prepare the feast. In her oven will be 43 pounds of turkey, 10 pounds of potatoes, six pies and the other accoutrements that go along with the traditional meal.

Dinner will be at 5 p.m. after everyone is finished visiting friends or watching afternoon football. Fortunately, Mrs. Malesky likes entertaining large groups and they always celebrate their holidays at home.

"After I started counting us up, I knew we'd have Thanksgiving here again," she said laughing, "I couldn't do that to anyone."

AND SHE RAMBLES off the guest list, including grandparents, dates and friends plus David, 25; Jay, 24; Tim, 23; Karen, 21; Jim, 20; Patty, 19; Dan, 17; Janet, 17; Don, 15; Mike, 14; Ken, 12; Peggy, 10; and Mary 8.

Each of the families had a Jim but luckily one prefers to be called Jay.

"There did I get them all?" asks Mrs. Malesky. "It that 13?"

Malesky and his wife met on a blind date arranged by a relative and everyone thought the large number of kids might hinder the romance.

It didn't.

Home for the holiday? Not for this single

by BARBARA LADD

Customs and togetherness typify Thanksgiving for many families. Good food, light-hearted teasing, maybe an afternoon game of football, ping pong or cards.

For 22 years my Thanksgivings were like that.

This year is different.

This year's I'm scheduled to work. And if I wasn't, the 1,600 mile round trip would be impossible to make in one day anyway.

My face is missing this year from the table of parents, grandparents, cousins, aunts and uncles. Even my brother, who has been working in Africa, is hoping to be back home for the holidays (the first time in three years.

However much I would like to be with my family this Thanksgiving, I'm certainly not alone here.

The Census Bureau reports more than one million single persons living in Cook County. And chances are pretty good that a fair number of these people also will not be traveling home to their families.

Instead, they might sleep late, watch the football games, and go out to eat. If they are fortunate, like I have been, they will have friends around who will share the day.

It's not the Thanksgiving most of us are used to. But it's not necessarily an unhappy or intolerable experience.

It's just different.

Have a Happy Thanksgiving

GOP mulls 16 for county slate

by AL MESSERSCHMIDT

Two Arlington Heights residents are among 16 candidates being considered for Republican Party slating for county office in 1976, The Herald learned Wednesday.

Attorney James E. Helmer, 716 N. Gibbons, has appeared before suburban slatemakers as a candidate for Circuit Court clerk.

And, former High School Dist. 214 board member William F. Griffith has requested slating as one of three GOP candidates for the Metropolitan Sanitary District board.

The GOP's central committee will meet at 1:30 p.m. Monday to name candidates for court clerk, recorder, state's attorney and the MSD board.

THE SUBURBAN committeemen approved this week nine candidates for suburban judicial slating including Mount Prospect attorney Edward Hofert; Park Ridge attorney Robert Sklodowski; State Rep. Brian Duff, R-Wilmette; State Rep. Ronnie Palmer, R-Blue Island; and recently appointed Circuit Court Judge John A. Nordberg, Golf.

State's Atty. Bernard Carey apparently is without opposition as a candidate for GOP backing in 1976.

Four persons, however, are seeking slating for the court clerk's post and 10 possible candidates requested backing this week for MSD election.

Helmer, an FBI agent for 21 years, was slated by the GOP as a candidate for court clerk in May 1975 when county officials speculated that a special election would be required to fill a vacancy created by the death of Clerk Matthew Danaher.

A bill to cancel the election was passed by the General Assembly and Democrat Morgan Finley was appointed to the post.

HELMER FACES surprise opposition from attorney Sheldon Gardner for slating. Gardner, who heads the state's attorney's civil division, is an often-mentioned candidate for Comr. Floyd Fulle's county board seat.

New Trier Township insurance salesman Robert Ahern and Jack Renaud of Chicago also have appeared before suburban committeemen as candidates for the court clerk's post.

Griffith, 8 W. Euclid, chairman of Arlington Heights' village caucus, is the only Northwest suburban candidate for MSD slating. Village Pres. James Ryan was a GOP candidate for the MSD board in 1974.

A slatemaking committee recommended Friday slating of Griffith; Delores Foster, an aide to Illinois Comptroller George Lindberg; and Wesley Rudy, an employe of Household Finance Corp. for the MSD. Rudy and Mrs. Foster are Chicago residents.

Another 1974 MSD candidate, Casimir G. Oksas of Chicago, is one of two persons seeking GOP backing for election as county recorder.

Filing dates for candidate petitions are Dec. 8-15.

at Ill. Rte. 53. A tractor-trailer jackknifed about 9:30 p.m. on the Northwest Tollway near Ill. Rte. 53. No injuries were reported.

The Eisenhower Expressway was closed at Harlem Avenue because of auto accidents. State police also reported a tractor-trailer was jammed under a bridge on I-90 near North Avenue.

More than 50 fender-bender-type accidents were reported by local police, however, no major injuries were reported.

At least 11 deaths were blamed on the storm in the Midwest. Previous snows this week accounted for eight weather-related deaths in Indiana and two in New England for a total of 21.

IN MOLINE, Ill., a single-engine airplane crashed into a picket fence, narrowly missing a home, and killing the pilot. Authorities said low visibility apparently caused the crash.

Slick road conditions on Ill. Rte. 84 south of Savanna was the apparent cause of a two-car crash in which two Thompson, Ill., residents were killed.

State police in Springfield reported cars were inching toward St. Louis on interstate roads. Secondary and county roads in the area were closed.

Numerous cars near Rock Island were stranded in ditches and all the roads in the area were reported to be slippery and hazardous.

A 14-YEAR-OLD suffered a cut lip Wednesday in a car-school bus accident in the 400 block of Bennett Avenue, Palatine.

Uncle Sam and MONY have a great idea for people with no pension plan.

Recently enacted U.S. Government legislation has made possible generous tax benefits for people with no pension plan.

Under the Pension Reform Act, you can contribute annually up to 15% of your earnings—not to exceed $1500—to a pension plan. You can deduct the entire amount from your taxable income for the year and pay no current income taxes on it whatsoever. In fact, you pay no taxes on it until retirement when, most likely, you will be earning less and in a far lower tax bracket. What's more, the money contributed draws interest and increases rapidly in your retirement fund. And you pay no taxes on the interest, either, until retirement.

Through MONY, I have long specialized in pension plans. If you are not participating in a pension plan, I can show you how to get one of your own quickly and easily—while you save on taxes. Just fill in the coupon below.

WHAT TO DO TO BE THANKFUL:

1. BELIEVE THAT JESUS DIED FOR YOU.
2. ADMIT YOU ARE A SINNER
3. BE WILLING TO TURN FROM SIN
4. ASK JESUS TO FORGIVE YOUR SINS
5. ASK JESUS TO COME IN YOUR HEART

Suggested prayer:

Lord Jesus, I confess that I am a sinner, and I need help with my life. I believe that You died in my place for my sins; and I receive You, Jesus, right now into my heart. Take control of my life, and make me the kind of person You want me to be. Thank You for forgiving me all my sins, and coming into my heart this day.

5 things to do every day!

1. Read your Bible. Start with the Book of John.
2. Pray to Jesus every day. He is your best friend.
3. Get involved with other Christians in a Spirit filled church.
4. Share this Good News with some one. Tell them about Jesus.
5. Read and study I Cor. 12-13-14, Eph. 6:10-19, John 14:1-31, in your Bible.

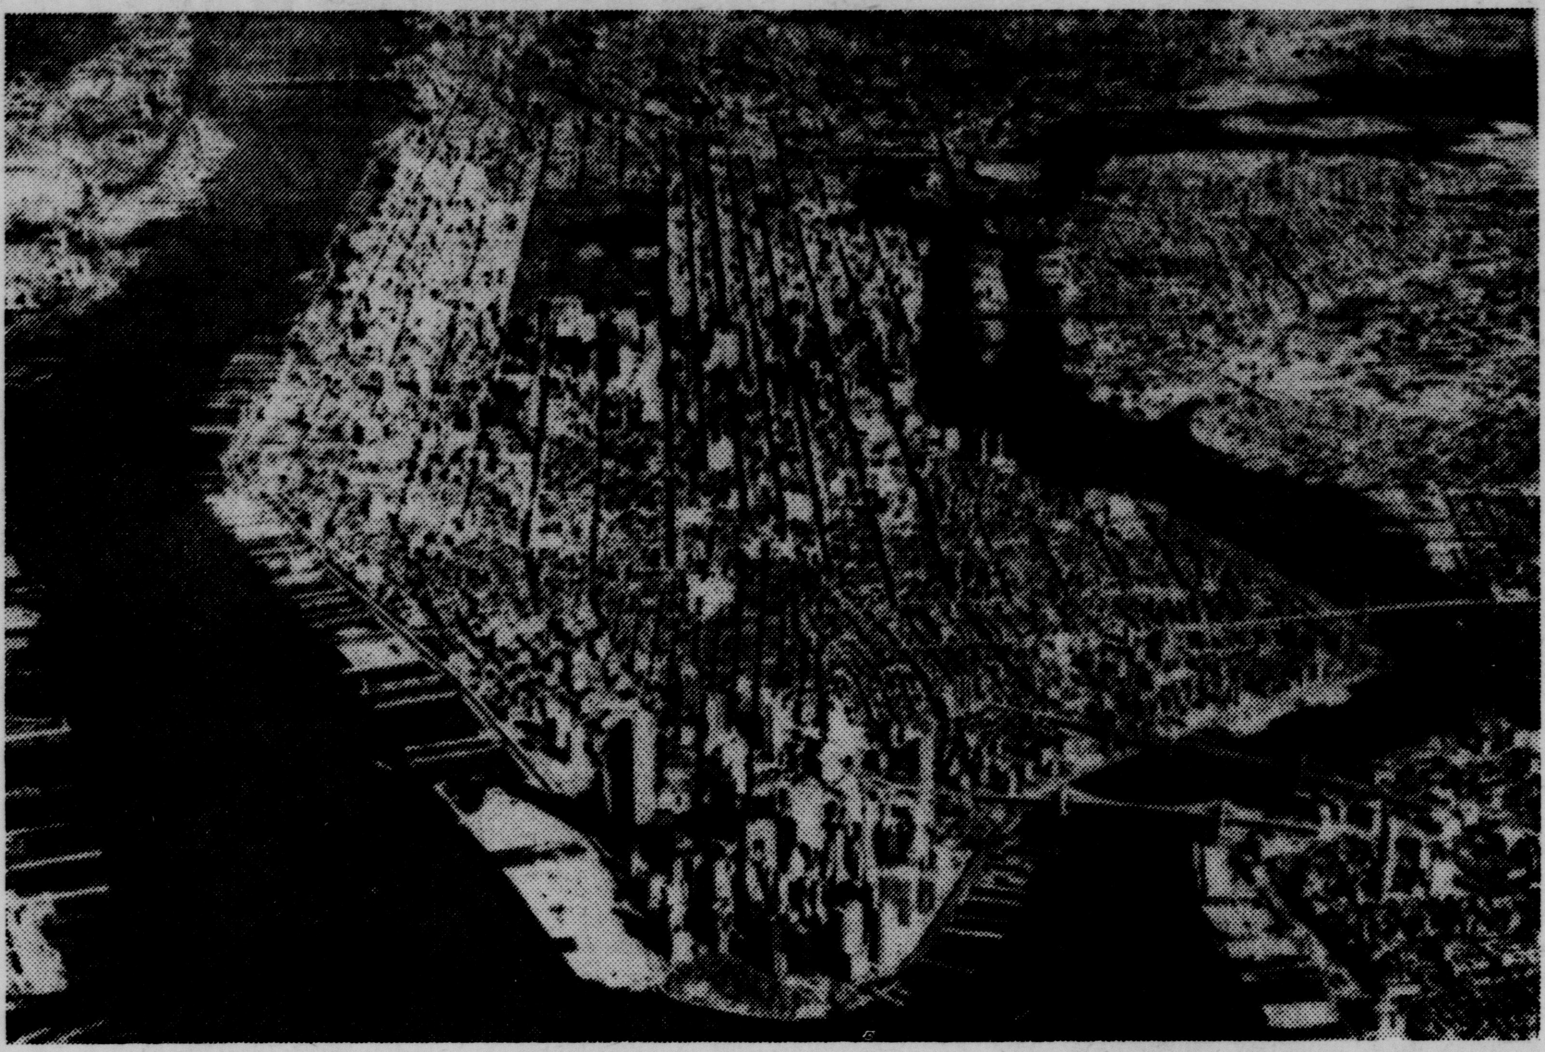
Ford proposes short-term help for N.Y.



AN AERIAL VIEW of New York, made on a particularly clear day, was sent to President Ford recently with an accompanying note describing the city as "one of the great works of man," and urging Ford to save it. Photo at right, shows landmarks corresponding to New York City aerial view.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford Wednesday proposed short-term federal loans of $2.3 billion to help New York City avert bankruptcy.

Ford, satisfied that New York's Legislature, banks and union pension funds have done enough to keep the city solvent, relented on his adamant opposition to federal aid for the city and announced a program of month-to-month loans.

He held a news conference last night to announce his change of heart.

Under Ford's plan New York City could borrow each month in which its revenues fall short of its expenses, but it would have to repay when its revenues exceed expenses. At the end of each year, the city could owe the federal government nothing.

The loans could reach a maximum of $2.3 billion. Treasury Secretary William E. Simon would approve each month's loan. Federal revenue sharing funds could be withheld if the city defaults on the federal borrowing.

"I trust we have all learned the hard lesson that no individual, no family, no business, no city, no state and no nation can go on indefinitely spending more money than it takes in," Ford said.

"If local parties fail to carry out their plan, I am prepared to stop even this seasonal federal assistance," Ford said.

He again proposed that Congress change the bankruptcy statutes to permit an "orderly" bankruptcy if the city fails to live within its plan.

L. William Seidman, Ford's economic coordinator, told reporters "the government can even make a profit" under Ford's plan.

Ford adamantly opposed help to the city until the past few days. "I do not think it's a healthy thing for the federal government to bail out a city — any city — that has handled its fiscal affairs as irresponsibly as New York has," he told a news conference on Oct. 9.

Seidman said the loans Ford is now recommending were nothing more than the loans any city makes to meet day-to-day needs in anticipation of revenues that will be coming in. New York could not make such loans.

Seidman said Ford reached his "final decision" earlier Wednesday.

On other news conference issues, Ford said:

- He has issued "specific instructions" that U. S. intelligence agencies must not plot assassinations of foreign leaders.
- He could make "no commitment" to a debate with Ronald Reagan, his challenger for the 1976 Republican nomination.
- The U.S. is "continuing contact with the Soviet officials" in an effort to "narrow the differences" that have led to complete deadlock in the second phase Strategic Arms Limitation talks.
- He could not predict "substantial" results from meetings next week with Chinese leaders but it is "vitally important" for him to meet with them.
- He will consult with Atty. Gen. Edward Levi on whether FBI officials and others responsible be prosecuted for attempts to discredit Martin Luther King.

'Squeaky' guilty of murder attempt

SACREMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme was found guilty Wednesday night of atttempting to assassinate President Ford on Sept. 5. Climaxing the first trial of its kind in the United States, the jury returned the finding after deliberating for 2½ days.

Miss Fromme, 27, who as a teen-ager cast her lot with convicted mass killer Charles Manson, was the first person tried under a 1965 federal law of trying to murder or assault the President the United States.

After Miss Fromme attempted unsuccessfully to make a statement in court, the red-haired defendant boycotted the reading of the verdict and returned to her cell. A hush fell over the courtroom as the verdict was read.

West Coast fire burns 71,000 acres

Four thousand men, some of them on the lines for a fifth straight day, battled two major brush fires Wednesday in the mountains north and east of Los Angeles. But cooling temperatures and abating winds held promise of bringing them under control. The flames in the rugged terrain of Big Tujunga Canyon, which broke out last Saturday, and in the skiing resort area of Mt. Baldy had charred an estimated 71,000 acres and destroyed or damaged 43 homes.

Patty insanity issue must be revealed

The government has asked a federal judge in San Francisco to order Patricia Hearst's attorneys to reveal by Dec. 1 whether they plan to use any kind of an insanity defense in her bank robbery trial. In a series of motions, prosecutors asked U.S. District Judge Oliver J. Carter to rule that if any insanity defense is used in Miss Hearst's trial, scheduled to begin Jan. 26, the prosecution must be notified.

Diehard resistance remains in Lisbon

Loyalist commandos, backed by tanks and warplanes, crushed left-wing rebels in Lisbon Wednesday, but a few diehard pockets of resistance held out. Diehard rebels were still holed up in a handful of towns south of Lisbon but officials said the last pockets of resistance were expected to surrender soon.

Senate panel slates Chile hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Intelligence Committee announced Wednesday it will hold public hearings next week on covert U.S. intelligence activities in Chile despite the refusal of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and CIA Director William E. Colby to testify.

The committee said it would hold the open hearings Dec. 4-5.

The announcement followed the panel's receipt of a letter from former President Richard M. Nixon's lawyer, saying Nixon is willing to testify before ranking committee members at his San Clemente, Calif., home and under certain conditions about U.S. intelligence activities.

The committee was reported to be considering Nixon's proposal, which was understood to convey his willingness to testify on CIA activities in Chile during his administration and on other subjects related to the continuing probe of intelligence activities.

Committee Chairman Frank Church, D-Idaho, issued a statement saying the hearings would go on despite the administration opposition to public testimony "because of the continuing public concern over the nature and extent of U.S. involvement in the overthrow of a democratically elected government in Chile."

Church, who was spending the Thanksgiving holiday in his home state, said President Ford had defended covert actions in Chile "as good for the Chilean people and good for the American people."

The American people, Church said, "deserve to hear why this is so."

He released the texts of letters from Kissinger and Colby dated Nov. 20 in which they said they could not testify in public on covert actions in Chile.

He said the prohibition "extended to the point of preventing CIA employees both past and present from coming before this committee."

In his letter to Church, Kissinger said, "I believe it would be wholly inappropriate for an incumbent secretary of state to appear in an open session to discuss, even on an unclassified basis, any real or purported covert operation of the United States government.

"The very presence of the President's senior cabinet officer at such a hearing would cast an implication which could have extremely serious international repercussions."

Colby said he could not appear for the CIA "in view of the President's decision that this agency should not participate in public hearings on covert action in Chile."

Meanwhile, committee spokesman said a letter was received Oct. 13 from Herbert Miller, Jr., Nixon's attorney, "in which there is a discussion of arrangements for testimony."

The letter was understood to have stipulated that:

- Nixon would submit to four hours of testimony at his San Clemente residence.
- Nixon would be testifying "voluntarily" and would still have the right of "executive privilege."
- His testimony may later be made public

Levi orders review of King murder probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate revelations of FBI harassment of Dr. Martin Luther King prompted Attorney General Edward H. Levi to order a review of the FBI investigation of King's murder with a view to reopening the case, the Justice Department said Wednesday.

"I have asked Assistant Attorneys General J. Stanley Pottinger and Richard L. Thornburgh to review the file and recommend to me whether the investigation should be reopened," Levi said in a statement by the Justice Department.

A spokesman said Levi took the action in view of testimony in the Senate intelligence committee that the FBI conducted a program of harassing King, the black civil rights leader, for seven years prior to his death in April of 1968.

Pottinger heads the department's civil rights division and Thornburgh heads the criminal division. Levi sent them memos Monday, asking them to review the case and recommend whether it should be reopened.

Justice Department spokesman John Wilson said Levi emphasized his action is not in itself a reopening of the investigation, and said there was no indication the original inquiry was not thorough.

Levi said he was advised by a Justice Department attorney, in fact, the FBI made an "incredibly good" investigation into King's death and there is no indication the agency pulled its punches.

King, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference who won a Nobel Peace Prize for his crusade on behalf of blacks, was shot to death at a motel during a visit to Memphis, Tenn., on behalf of striking garbage collectors.

The FBI got credit for tracking down James Earl Ray, who is serving a life sentence for the slaying. But the FBI's role in investigating King's assassination became controversial because of derogatory statements the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover made about the civil rights leader.

And a Senate investigation of FBI surveillance policies revealed Hoover considered King a "dangerous" black leader and instructed agents to blunt his effectiveness.

Persistent JFK murder mysteries cleared up

LEXINGTON, Mass. (UPI) — Some of the persistent "mysteries" of President Kennedy's assassination have been cleared up by computer-aided analysis of two films of his shooting, a photographic expert said Wednesday.

Itek Corp. Senior Photographic Scientist Francis Corbett said he could not say why things happened, but could say what happened, at least on the films.

His conclusions were based on analysis of the original films by amateur photographers Abraham Zapruder and Robert Hughes. Corbett stressed the fact he worked with the originals, not copies.

From the Hughes film, he said, it is clear there was movement in the sixth floor corner window of the Texas School Book Depository, from which Lee Harvey Oswald was said to have shot the President.

The Zapruder film, according to Corbett, shows Mrs. Kennedy possibly pushing the President back after a bullet impact shoves him forward. It also shows former Texas Gov. John Connally making a sudden motion one-half second before he claimed to have been hit and it shows all the matter splattered from the President's head flying forward.

Examination of the Zapruder film indicated a "rapid and unusual movement" by Connally just after the presidential car came into Zapruder's view, a half-second before the point at which he has said he was hit.

There was also a "clear indication all the particles ejected from the President's head travelled in a forward direction," Corbett said.

Mrs. Kennedy's hand was in front of the President "between his chest and chin," Corbett said. Measurements of the relative motion of the two indicate she may have pushed him back after he flew forward, apparently from a bullet impact.

Ryan calls for continued U.S. funds at hearing

The nation's sagging economy and energy shortages dominated testimony at a public hearing on U.S. domestic policy in Indianapolis, Ind., Tuesday attended by Village Pres. James T. Ryan of Arlington Heights.

Ryan was one of about 60 invited public officials at the all-day conference chaired by Sec. of Commerce Rogers C.B. Morton who sat in for Vice President Nelson Rockefeller.

Nearly 800 people attended the open meeting. Statements covered subjects including economic recovery, welfare and the environment.

"THE GENERAL tone of the (public) testimony was that things are very bad economically," Ryan said Wednesday. "The general tone of the remarks from people from Washington was that the economy is showing very good signs of improving, but that the energy situationiis bad and growing worse."

In prepared remarks, Ryan called for an extension of federal revenue sharing, expansion of federal block grants and a heightened spirit of inter-governmental cooperation.

Local governments "unilaterally and wholeheartedly support" legislation to extend federal revenue sharing through 1982, Ryan said.

But the formula for allocating revenue sharing funds to local communities should be changed from the current proposal that gives communities with high taxes or low per capita income more federal dollars, he said.

"Many local communities perceive this to be a formula imbalance which removes potentially significant incentives to exhibit financial prudence.'

THE VILLAGE of Arlington Heights gets nearly $500,000 a year in federal revenue sharing. Municipalities have come to rely on the money in their budgets, Ryan said.

"Of all cities recently interviewed by the National League of Cities, almost 65 per cent are experiencing revenues short of anticipated levels, with 40 per cent of all cities being required to enact some form of tax increase," he said.

Although the Arlington Heights Village Board last year voted not to apply for block grant funds under the U.S. Housing and Community Development Act, "local government should enthusiastically support this attempt to realign the federal-local relationship by re-delegating authority to the community," Ryan said.

Arlington Heights is entitled to $2 million over the next four years from the community development program. Local communities are permitted to spend the money on projects designated a priority by local officials.

"THE FIRST OF two public hearings was held Tuesday night by the village board's finance committee to determine if Arlington Heights should apply for community development funds in 1976.

Ryan called the domestic policy-committee's attention to a recent village report forecasting possible well-water shortages for Arlington Heights and other Northwest suburbs in the near future.

James T. Ryan

"Recently the Village of Arlington Heights has determined that the aquifer from which many local communities obtain their water supply is being seriously depleted.

"Since the only other feasible alternate water source is Lake Michigan, further consideration needs to be given to implementing a joint government venture for suppling water to participating communities. A potential approach might be the creation of a regional water authority," he said.

Herald reporter foils robbery try in park lot

A Herald reporter foiled an armed robbery attempt Wednesday night after arguing with the would-be robber and scaring him off with a scream in the parking lot of the Jewel Food Store, 122 N. Vail Ave., Arlington Heights.

Katherine Boyce, 25, Oak Park, told police she was approached by a youth who grabbed her arm, brandished a paring knife and demanded her money about 6:15 p.m.

She told the assailant, "You're kidding."

Miss Boyce argued with the youth and, seeing a commuter walking across the lot, screamed, "I'm being mugged!" The youth fled.

Miss Boyce went into the store seeking help. A boy was sent to call authorities from an outside pay telephone.

The assailant was described as being about 17 years old and about 5 feet 7 inches tall. He had a thin build, brown curly hair and was wearing wire rim glasses and a black stocking cap, she told police.

Nativity scene to join lanterns

A new nativity scene has been added to Arlington Heights' inventory of downtown holiday decorations.

The 20-piece scene was purchased by the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce and will be set up at the northeast corner of Davis Street and Evergreen Avenue.

Public works employes are expected to start hanging holiday decorations in the downtown area next week.

A total of 64 Italian lanterns will be mounted on streetlight poles along Northwest Highway and in the north and south business districts.

Trees around the downtown train station will be strung with lights.

A large Christmas tree will be set up near Miner Street and Northwest Highway.

LOTS OF GOODIES were on hand Wednesday at Ivy Hill School in Arlington Heights when fourth and fifth grades held their Thanksgiving feast. Students Jim Messineo and Mary Frances Bragiel were part of the group of parents and students who made a pioneer dinner featuring corn bread, stew, and homemade butter.

Herald reporter foils robbery try in park lot

A Herald reporter foiled an armed robbery attempt Wednesday night after arguing with the would-be robber and scaring him off with a scream in the parking lot of the Jewel Food Store, 122 N. Vail Ave., Arlington Heights.

Katherine Boyce, 25, Oak Park, told police she was approached by a youth who grabbed her arm, brandished a paring knife and demanded her money about 6:15 p.m.

She told the assailant, "You're kidding."

Miss Boyce argued with the youth and, seeing a commuter walking across the lot, screamed, "I'm being mugged!" The youth fled.

Miss Boyce went into the store seeking help. A boy was sent to call authorities from an outside pay telephone.

The assailant was described as being about 17 years old and about 5 feet 7 inches tall. He had a thin build, brown curly hair and was wearing wire rim glasses and a black stocking cap, she told police.

Nativity scene to join lanterns

A new nativity scene has been added to Arlington Heights' inventory of downtown holiday decorations.

The 20-piece scene was purchased by the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce and will be set up at the northeast corner of Davis Street and Evergreen Avenue.

Public works employes are expected to start hanging holiday decorations in the downtown area next week.

A total of 64 Italian lanterns will be mounted on streetlight poles along Northwest Highway and in the north and south business districts.

Trees around the downtown train station will be strung with lights.

A large Christmas tree will be set up near Miner Street and Northwest Highway.

James T. Ryan

The nation's sagging economy and energy shortages dominated testimony at a public hearing on U.S. domestic policy in Indianapolis, Ind., Tuesday attended by Village Pres. James T. Ryan of Arlington Heights.

Ryan was one of about 60 invited public officials at the all-day conference chaired by Sec. of Commerce Rogers C.B. Morton who sat in for Vice President Nelson Rockefeller.

Nearly 800 people attended the open meeting. Statements covered subjects including economic recovery, welfare and the environment.

"THE GENERAL tone of the (public) testimony was that things are very bad economically," Ryan said Wednesday. "The general tone of the remarks from people from Washington was that the economy is showing very good signs of improving, but that the energy situationiis bad and growing worse."

In prepared remarks, Ryan called for an extension of federal revenue sharing, expansion of federal block grants and a heightened spirit of inter-governmental cooperation.

Local governments "unilaterally and wholeheartedly support" legislation to extend federal revenue sharing through 1982, Ryan said.

But the formula for allocating revenue sharing funds to local communities should be changed from the current proposal that gives communities with high taxes or low per capita income more federal dollars, he said.

"Many local communities perceive this to be a formula imbalance which removes potentially significant incentives to exhibit financial prudence.'

THE VILLAGE of Arlington Heights gets nearly $500,000 a year in federal revenue sharing. Municipalities have come to rely on the money in their budgets, Ryan said.

"Of all cities recently interviewed by the National League of Cities, almost 65 per cent are experiencing revenues short of anticipated levels, with 40 per cent of all cities being required to enact some form of tax increase," he said.

Although the Arlington Heights Village Board last year voted not to apply for block grant funds under the U.S. Housing and Community Development Act, "local government should enthusiastically support this attempt to realign the federal-local relationship by re-delegating authority to the community," Ryan said.

Arlington Heights is entitled to $2 million over the next four years from the community development program. Local communities are permitted to spend the money on projects designated a priority by local officials.

"THE FIRST OF two public hearings was held Tuesday night by the village board's finance committee to determine if Arlington Heights should apply for community development funds in 1976.

Ryan called the domestic policy-committee's attention to a recent village report forecasting possible water shortages for Arlington Heights and other Northwest suburbs in the near future.

"Recently the Village of Arlington Heights has determined that the aquifer from which many local communities obtain their water supply is being seriously depleted.

"Since the only other feasible alternate water source is Lake Michigan, further consideration needs to be given to implementing a joint government venture for suppling water to participating communities. A potential approach might be the creation of a regional water authority," he said.

Schools

Wheeling-B.G. Dist. 21

A red maple tree has been planted in the front courtyard at Poe School, Arlington Heights. The tree is a gift from the school's Brownie and Junior Girl Scout troops in recognition of the nation's Bicentennial. An engraved plaque, commemorating the planting, will remain on display inside the school building.

Schaumburg Twp. Dist. 54

Students in Schaumburg School Dist. 54 are participating in a new program which aims to better acquaint them with the working world of their community.

The basic intent of the program is to inform and orient students to the concept of work and workers rather than to prepare them for a specific career.

The program offers activities such as: providing reading material relevant to various careers; involves students in related interview and research, and incorporates career talks and visits for first hand contact.

Elk Grove Twp. Dist. 59

Forest View Elementary School's PTO is sponsoring a mom's day out Tuesday. The day's schedule will include a tour of the Little Traveler in Geneva, Ill., shopping and lunch at the Mill Race Inn on the Fox River.

The bus will leave the school, 1901 Estates Dr., Mount Prospect, at 9 a.m. and will return at 3:15 p.m. Cost of the trip is $6.75. For reservations and information call Carol Cederberg, 439-7271.

East Maine Dist. 63

Teachers from East Maine School Dist. 63 will attend an art workshop Tuesday through Thursday at Ballard School. The workshop will be conducted by Florence Ann Wolfe, who has taught extensively and holds a master's degree from the University of South Carolina. All the workshop activities will be experiences which the teachers can relate to their own classroom teaching.

High School Dist. 214

The Buffalo Grove Instrumental Assn. Inc. will meet Tuesday at Buffalo Grove High School, 1100 W. Dundee Rd. The business meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. followed by a wine tasting party.

The 1974-75 second semester "Prospector," the Prospect High School student newspaper, received a first class rating from the National Scholastic Press Assn. (NSPA).

The Prospector was awarded marks of distinction in three major categories: coverage and content, writing and editing, and editorial leadership.

The NSPA is connected with the University of Minnesota. Entries were judged in comparison with publications from schools with similar enrollments.

Special Education

The Professionals in Learning Disabilities will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Northbrook Savings Bank, 1310 Shermer Ave., Northbrook.

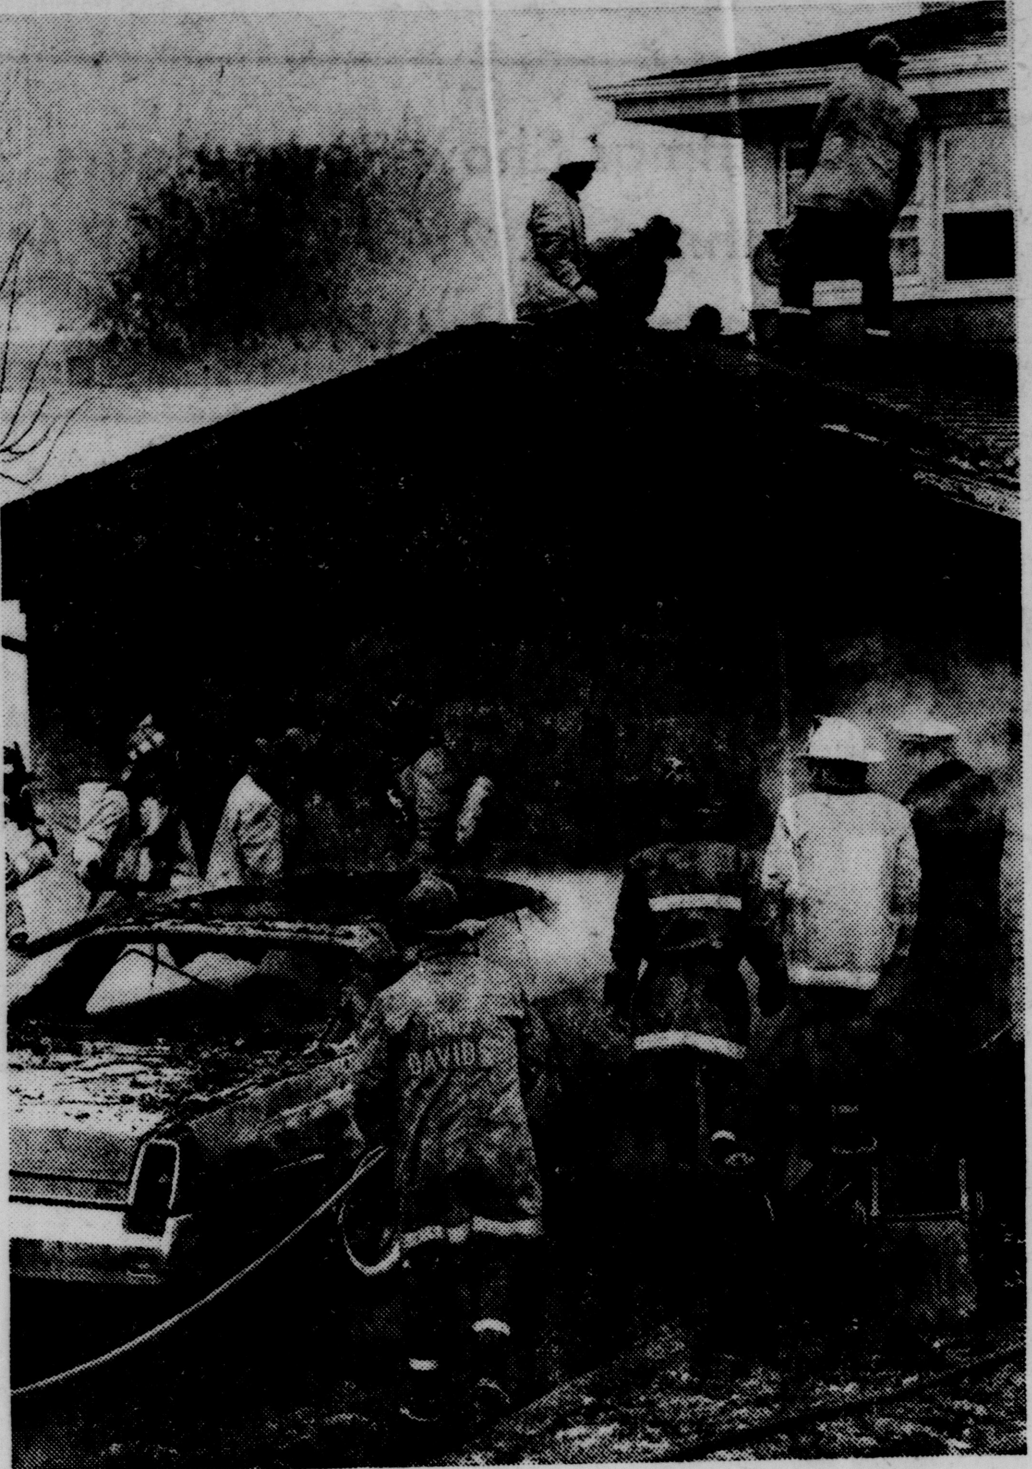
Christine Dove will discuss the subject of emotions in children. Ms. Dove is a psychiatric social worker at the Irene Josselyn Clinic in Northfield.

For further information regarding the program or other services offered by the organization call Nauma Peiser, 674-3352.

In general . . .

The National PTA and the National Foundation — March of Dimes are uniting their efforts to make parents and educators aware of the need for a parenthood and family life program as part of the public school curricula. They are sponsoring a triconference for Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, to be held at the O'Hare Inn, Mannheim and Higgins roads, Rosemont, Monday through Wednesday.

Featured speaker will be Virginia Trotter, assistant secretary for education, U. S. Dept. of Health, Education, and Welfare. The meeting is designed to attract PTA delegates, school administrators, teachers, students, and school nurses from the three states involved.



FIREMEN extinguish a garage fire Wednesday at 1912 N. Spruce Terr., Arlington Heights. Mrs. Richard Grinnell's car caught fire, and the flames spread to the garage. There were no injuries.

Dist. 214 seeks new name, image

These days almost everyone complains that they are nothing more than a number.

But when your name is a number, your identity suffers considerably.

So High School Dist. 214 is sponsoring a district-wide search for a new name and insignia to enhance its image. The contest is open to all residents served by the district's eight schools: Arlington, Buffalo Grove, Elk Grove, Forest View, Hersey, Prospect, Rolling Meadows and Wheeling high schools.

School officials hope their new name will reflect the district's concern for quality education. A selection committee of 11 community and school representatives will screen all entries and choose three names and insignias to present to the board of education after the contest closes Feb. 27.

ENTRIES FOR "Project Image" should be sent to William Warner, assistant superintendent for student and community relations, High School Dist. 214, 799 W. Kensington Rd., Mount Prospect, Ill. All entries should include a name, address and telephone number.

A plaque inscribed with the winners and details of the contest, will be placed on display at the district's administration center.

Cop dispatch system asks for grant

Northwest Central Dispatch, a police communications system which serves Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Mount Prospect and Elk Grove Village, has applied for a state grant to fund a second radio frequency.

Director Phil Herman said the system, with headquarters in Arlington Heights, has asked for $5,500 from the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission.

A second radio frequency is needed because of increased usage. "There has been tremendous system growth," Herman said.

The four communities which use the system have been asked to provide an additional $2,750 that is needed to purchase the radio equipment.

The costs have been divided according to the population proportion of each town, Herman said. The Village of Arlington Heights has been asked to pay $1,182.50, Mount Prospect, $797.50; Elk Grove Village, $440; and Buffalo Grove, $330.

The police radio network was established approximately five years ago, using federal funds to set up the program.

Throckmorton gets parks seat

Robert Throckmorton has been appointed to the Arlington Heights Park Board.

Throckmorton, 40, replaces Darwin W. Townsend, who resigned earlier this month because of a job transfer to Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. Throckmorton will serve until the next election in April 1977.

Throckmorton, 802 Appletree Ln., is a commercial bond manager with Allstate Insurance Co., Northbrook.

He will be sworn in at the next board meeting, Dec. 9.

Wheeling-B.G. Dist. 21

A red maple tree has been planted in the front courtyard at Poe School, Arlington Heights. The tree is a gift from the school's Brownie and Junior Girl Scout troops in recognition of the nation's Bicentennial. An engraved plaque, commemorating the planting, will remain on display inside the school building.

Schaumburg Twp. Dist. 54

Students in Schaumburg School Dist. 54 are participating in a new program which aims to better acquaint them with the working world of their community.

The basic intent of the program is to inform and orient students to the concept of work and workers rather than to prepare them for a specific career.

The program offers activities such as: providing reading material relevant to various careers; involves students in related interview and research, and incorporates career talks and visits for first hand contact.

Elk Grove Twp. Dist. 59

Forest View Elementary School's PTO is sponsoring a mom's day out Tuesday. The day's schedule will include a tour of the Little Traveler in Geneva, Ill., shopping and lunch at the Mill Race Inn on the Fox River.

The bus will leave the school, 1901 Estates Dr., Mount Prospect, at 9 a.m. and will return at 3:15 p.m. Cost of the trip is $6.75. For reservations and information call Carol Cederberg, 439-7271.

East Maine Dist. 63

Teachers from East Maine School Dist. 63 will attend an art workshop Tuesday through Thursday at Ballard School. The workshop will be conducted by Florence Ann Wolfe, who has taught extensively and holds a master's degree from the University of South Carolina. All the workshop activities will be experiences which the teachers can relate to their own classroom teaching.

High School Dist. 214

The Buffalo Grove Instrumental Assn. Inc. will meet Tuesday at Buffalo Grove High School, 1100 W. Dundee Rd. The business meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. followed by a wine tasting party.

Harold McNabb, English teacher and director of speech activities at Prospect High School, recently attended the Illinois Speech and Theatre Association's 1975 convention in St. Louis.

The annual convention provides sectional meetings in such areas as communication theory, creative dramatics, debate and threatre.

Two High School Dist. 214 graduates were recently promoted to executive reporters for the University of Illinois college paper.

The 1974-75 second semester "Prospector," the Prospect High School student newspaper, received a first class rating from the National Scholastic Press Assn. (NSPA).

The Prospector was awarded marks of distinction in three major categories: coverage and content, writing and editing, and editorial leadership.

The NSPA is connected with the University of Minnesota. Entries were judged in comparison with publications from schools with similar enrollments.

Special Education

The Professionals in Learning Disabilities will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Northbrook Savings Bank, 1310 Shermer Ave., Northbrook.

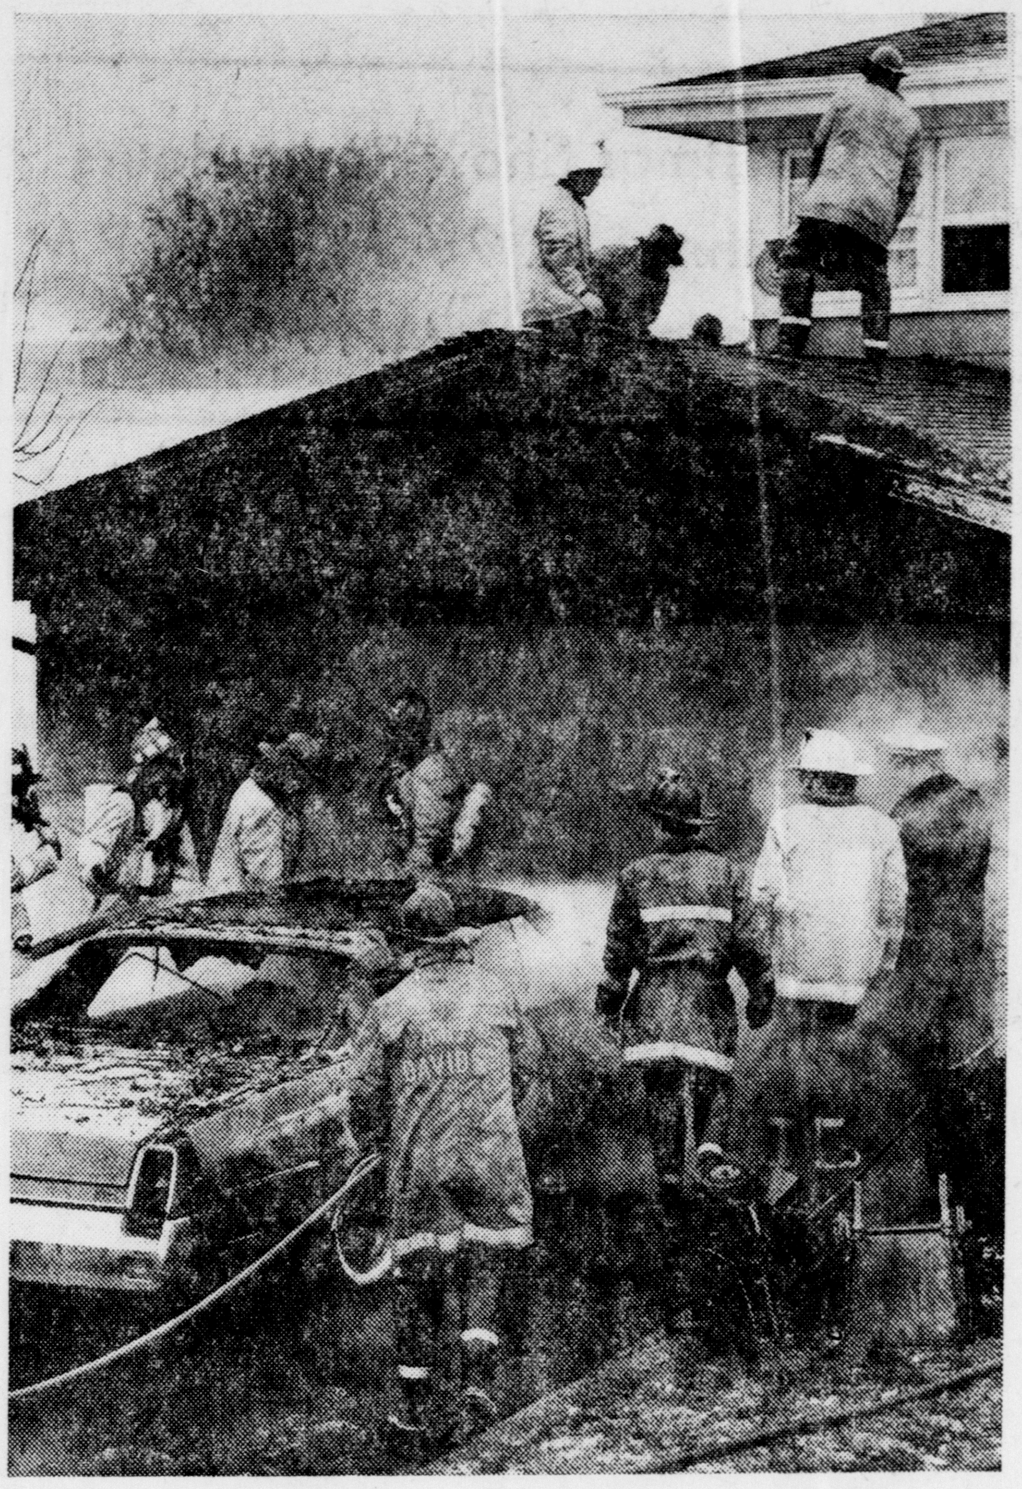
Christine Dove will discuss the subject of emotions in children. Ms. Dove is a psychiatric social worker at the Irene Josselyn Clinic in Northfield.

For further information regarding the program or other services offered by the organization call Nauma Peiser, 674-3352.

In general . . .

The National PTA and the National Foundation — March of Dimes are uniting their efforts to make parents and educators aware of the need for a parenthood and family life program as part of the public school curricula. They are sponsoring a triconference for Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, to be held at the O'Hare Inn, Mannheim and Higgins roads, Rosemont, Monday through Wednesday.

Featured speaker will be Virginia Trotter, assistant secretary for education, U. S. Dept. of Health, Education, and Welfare. The meeting is designed to attract PTA delegates, school administrators, teachers, students, and school nurses from the three states involved.



FIREMEN extinguish a garage fire Wednesday at 1912 N. Spruce Terr., Arlington Heights. Mrs. Richard Grinnell's car caught fire, and the flames spread to the garage. There were no injuries.

Dist. 214 seeks new name, image

These days almost everyone complains that they are nothing more than a number.

But when your name is a number, your identity suffers considerably.

So High School Dist. 214 is sponsoring a district-wide search for a new name and insignia to enhance its image. The contest is open to all residents served by the district's eight schools: Arlington, Buffalo Grove, Elk Grove, Forest View, Hersey, Prospect, Rolling Meadows and Wheeling high schools.

School officials hope their new name will reflect the district's concern for quality education. A selection committee of 11 community and school representatives will screen all entries and choose three names and insignias to present to the board of education after the contest closes Feb. 27.

ENTRIES FOR "Project Image" should be sent to William Warner, assistant superintendent for student and community relations, High School Dist. 214, 799 W. Kensington Rd., Mount Prospect, Ill. All entries should include a name, address and telephone number.

A plaque inscribed with the winners and details of the contest, will be placed on display at the district's administration center.

Community members of the committee are Richard Hall, Elk Grove Township Supervisor; Ethel Kolerus, Wheeling Township Supervisor; district resident William Griffith; and Hersey High School parent Mary Pavetto.

Report for aid to N.Y. pushes market up 3 pts.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market, helped by a break in New York City's financial crisis, pushed higher Wednesday for the third consecutive session in fairly active trading on the New York Stock Exchange despite profit taking.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which fluctuated throughout the day, gained 3.15 points to 858.55, giving it a three-day gain of 17.79 points. It had been ahead around six points before profit taking trimmed the gain.

Other averages also climbed during the day. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index rose 0.23 to 90.94 and the average price of an NYSE common share increased by 10 cents.

ADVANCES TOPPED declines, 803 to 576, among the 1,823 issues crossing the tape. The 444 unchanged issues showed there was some investor uncertainty.

Volume totaled 18,780,000 shares, up from the 17,490,000 traded Tuesday. The market will be closed Thanksgiving day.

At the outset, investors hailed the news the state legislature passed a $6.6 billion bill Tuesday designed to prevent New York City from defaulting on its debts.

Utilities dominated the volume list. Institutions were active. Southern Co. led the Big Board actives, unchanged at 14¾ on 353,100 shares, including a block of 269,900 shares at 14-5/8.

U.S. STEEL gained 1-5/8 to 62-5/8 The company announced it was raising tin product prices, in some cases lower than those planned by other producers. The Council on Wage and Price Stability had no immediate comment on the price hike.

Volatile Hewlett-Packard, a 1-1/8 point winner Tuesday, added another ¾ to 96½. Although the company reported slightly lower quarterly earnings, some investors apparently thought the results were better than expected.

Prices closed higher in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange. The average price of an Amex share increased three cents. Volume totaled 1,810,000 shares, up from the 1,590,000 traded Tuesday.

Dust of row settles as schools face 6% budget cuts

Education today

by DOROTHY OLIVER

The most recent political football — the state-aid appropriation to public schools — has been tossed around in recent weeks among the Illinois House, Senate, governor's office and finally the Illinois Office of Education.

The dust has settled and school administrators throughout the state are facing the reality that they will receive 6 per cent less in state money than they had hoped for.

It was quite a battle.

School people have been lobbying for months to convince the House and Senate to override Gov. Daniel Walker's appropriation veto.

TEACHERS JOINED hands with administrators and school board members — who they were battling with over annual contracts — to push for the override.

Parents were recruited and letter-writing campaigns organized. But in the end, fiscal frugality won out and school business managers returned to their budgets to look for places to cut.

The 6 per cent slash in school aid will have an effect on local school districts but it won't be as dramatic or obvious as the override debate would lead us to believe.

Districts that are already in debt — particularly those with declining student enrollment — will sink a little further into red ink. Those that are growing and solvent will have less money to carry over for the 1976-77 school year.

SCHOOLS WILL NOT be closed; teachers won't be fired; programs will not be cut. The men and women who sit in administration centers and put together budgets plan annually on getting less money than they're promised.

Most expenses in a school budget can not be changed now. In many districts supplies for the year have been purchased, and salary contracts signed. Other major expenses such as utility bills will roll in as though nothing ever had happened in the General Assembly.

One business manager put it simply: "There's not a lot you can do. We will hold back on expenditures and borrow a little more. Instead of buying the new duplicating machines, typewriters or desks we budgeted in we'll use the old ones until they fall apart. The next couple of years will be difficult, but we'll make it."

Not only did Walker cut the general appropriation to schools but he sliced the state reimbursement funds for special education programs. Many parents have been concerned whether their district's gifted program, bilingual or special education programs will be dropped.

THEY WON'T.

Most of the special education programs are mandated by the state and school districts must provide the service whether they have the money to do so or not.

One interesting element has surfaced during the override fight. In the midst of their complaints about the veto and loss of funds, school people still would admit they are receiving more money from the state than ever before. At the same time, they'd happily accept more.

The environment

Citizens urged to preserve wilderness

by LEA TONKIN

Citizens should act now to preserve the wilderness areas of America's national forests, said the Des Plaines Valley chapter of the Sierra Club.

The Des Plaines-based organization says a U.S. Forest Service plan to set aside wilderness areas and increase timber production on other forest lands will allow clearcutting in large potential wilderness areas.

"In reality, the timber industry has overcut its own land. Now they are going after the national forests including many of the 1,200 roadless areas, some 44 million acres of unprotected wilderness," a November Sierra Club newsletter said.

Gilbert Zieman, regional manager for the American Forest Institute, Des Plaines, said there is a danger of the public trying to manage the public domain. An "all purpose" forest benefits the American public, Zieman said, adding, "It belongs to all of us, not just the Sierra Club."

The U. S. Forest Service has conducted hearings on a proposal for classification of forest lands. The provision for multiple use forest management which includes recreation, watershed protection, harvesting and other activities "is the hope of the future," Zieman said. He said the lock-up of forest lands is demanded by some environmentalists at a time when consumers demand added forest products.

Opinions on the logging of national forest roadless areas can be sent to: Chief, Forest Service, Dept. of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250.

MOTOR RACING noise regulation proposals will be discussed at a Dec. 2 hearing slated by the Illinois Pollution Control Board. The session will start at 10 a.m. at the University of Illinois Circle Campus, Chicago.

CLEAN AIR progress in Illinois is delayed by the state and federal agency failure to develop regulation of indirect sources of air pollution, said the Citizens for a Better Environment organization, Chicago. The group filed suit in federal district court, Chicago, against the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, charging that the EPA suspended an Illinois plan for air pollution controls.

Indirect sources of air pollution include facilities such as shopping centers and highways which draw heavy concentrations of automobile traffic. Under the Clean Air Act of 1970, Illinois was required to devise a plan to meet national ambient air standards.

Dust of row settles as schools face 6% budget cuts

Education today

by DOROTHY OLIVER

The most recent political football — the state-aid appropriation to public schools — has been tossed around in recent weeks among the Illinois House, Senate, governor's office and finally the Illinois Office of Education.

The dust has settled and school administrators throughout the state are facing the reality that they will receive 6 per cent less in state money than they had hoped for.

It was quite a battle.

School people have been lobbying for months to convince the House and Senate to override Gov. Daniel Walker's appropriation veto.

TEACHERS JOINED hands with administrators and school board members — who they were battling with over annual contracts — to push for the override.

Parents were recruited and letter-writing campaigns organized. But in the end, fiscal frugality won out and school business managers returned to their budgets to look for places to cut.

The 6 per cent slash in school aid will have an effect on local school districts but it won't be as dramatic or obvious as the override debate would lead us to believe.

Districts that are already in debt — particularly those with declining student enrollment — will sink a little further into red ink. Those that are growing and solvent will have less money to carry over for the 1976-77 school year.

SCHOOLS WILL NOT be closed; teachers won't be fired; programs will not be cut. The men and women who sit in administration centers and put together budgets plan annually on getting less money than they're promised.

Most expenses in a school budget can not be changed now. In many districts supplies for the year have been purchased, and salary contracts signed. Other major expenses such as utility bills will roll in as though nothing ever had happened in the General Assembly.

One business manager put it simply: "There's not a lot you can do. We will hold back on expenditures and borrow a little more. Instead of buying the new duplicating machines, typewriters or desks we budgeted in we'll use the old ones until they fall apart. The next couple of years will be difficult, but we'll make it."

Not only did Walker cut the general appropriation to schools but he sliced the state reimbursement funds for special education programs. Many parents have been concerned whether their district's gifted program, bilingual or special education programs will be dropped.

THEY WON'T.

Most of the special education programs are mandated by the state and school districts must provide the service whether they have the money to do so or not.

One interesting element has surfaced during the override fight. In the midst of their complaints about the veto and loss of funds, school people still would admit they are receiving more money from the state than ever before. At the same time, they'd happily accept more.

Citizens urged to preserve wilderness

by LEA TONKIN

Citizens should act now to preserve the wilderness areas of America's national forests, said the Des Plaines Valley chapter of the Sierra Club.

The Des Plaines-based organization says a U.S. Forest Service plan to set aside wilderness areas and increase timber production on other forest lands will allow clearcutting in large potential wilderness areas.

"In reality, the timber industry has overcut its own land. Now they are going after the national forests including many of the 1,200 roadless areas, some 44 million acres of unprotected wilderness," a November Sierra Club newsletter said.

Gilbert Zieman, regional manager for the American Forest Institute, Des Plaines, said there is a danger of the public trying to manage the public domain. An "all purpose" forest benefits the American public, Zieman said, adding, "It belongs to all of us, not just the Sierra Club."

The U. S. Forest Service has conducted hearings on a proposal for classification of forest lands. The provision for multiple use forest management which includes recreation, watershed protection, harvesting and other activities "is the hope of the future," Zieman said. He said the lock-up of forest lands is demanded by some environmentalists at a time when consumers demand added forest products.

Opinions on the logging of national forest roadless areas can be sent to: Chief, Forest Service, Dept. of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250.

MOTOR RACING noise regulation proposals will be discussed at a Dec. 2 hearing slated by the Illinois Pollution Control Board. The session will start at 10 a.m. at the University of Illinois Circle Campus, Chicago.

CLEAN AIR progress in Illinois is delayed by the state and federal agency failure to develop regulation of indirect sources of air pollution, said the Citizens for a Better Environment organization, Chicago. The group filed suit in federal district court, Chicago, against the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, charging that the EPA suspended an Illinois plan for air pollution controls.

Indirect sources of air pollution include facilities such as shopping centers and highways which draw heavy concentrations of automobile traffic. Under the Clean Air Act of 1970, Illinois was required to devise a plan to meet national ambient air standards.

I REJECT THE WAY THEY DEPEND ON ME.

We can be thankful we have each other to depend upon!

The way we see it

A broad 'spirit of family'

The United States is a nation of families — and that accounts for the fact that Thanksgiving is perhaps the richest expression of our national character.

Thanksgiving. There is nothing more uniquely American than the gathering of families and friends for the traditional festive meal of Thanksgiving.

The holiday has endured in a nation rich with momentary fads and fashions. Every November we gather together, once again, to offer simple thankfulness.

But there's something even more important about this holiday. Especially in these difficult economic times, we must remember that there's another definition of "family" in both the Northwest suburbs and across the nation.

For the hungry, there are those in our family who selflessly offer food.

For those who are troubled in spirit, there are those in our family who offer spiritual and psychological support.

For those who are old, there are those in our family who provide a steadying arm.

For those who are lonely, there are those in our family who offer companionship.

Our "family" is not limited to Mom and Dad, Sister and Brother, Grandma and Grandpa.

No, our American family also consists of persons who help each other. This family should be a cause for joy and reflection before we settle down today to watch Thanksgiving football and eat the traditional meal.

In the Northwest suburbs, those persons with a broad sense of "family" deserve a special note of praise. Without this quality, the Pilgrims of 1620 would never have survived and flourished as an embryonic nation. This sense of family has prospered as our nation has grown; without it, our survival would be in doubt.

As we gather together with our families this Thanksgiving day, this gift of a broader "family" is a special aspect of American life worthy of special thanks.

Business 'homestead' tax merited

One of the persistent problems with the property tax is that when a person improves his property the taxes go up, thus discouraging many persons from making improvements.

The Illinois General Assembly this year took a step toward eliminating that problem by passing the Homestead Improvement Exemption, which allows a homeowner to exempt up to $15,000 worth of home improvements from the property tax assessment for four years.

Now the Cook County Board is studying a proposal from the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry which will give the same kind of tax incentive to industry. The proposal deserves approval by the county board.

The association has proposed that new industrial or commercial development or improvement of an existing commercial or industrial building be assessed at 22 per cent of market value for four years after completion. Such developments ordinarily would be assessed at 33 or 40 per cent of market value.

The theory behind the lower assessment would be to give developers an incentive to improve property in the county and to encourage them to build within Cook County rather than taking their business — and jobs — to neighboring counties where industrial property enjoys lower tax assessments.

The county board expressed concern about some technicalities in the association proposal, such as how to define when an improvement of an existing property began or ended. Such technical difficulties can and should be cleared up.

What is important is for the county to provide some kind of tax relief for business development in order to preserve the jobs and business needed by the county. The association proposal is clearly a step in that direction.

Suburbanites win 2 zoning rounds

Suburbanites won two rounds last week when the Cook County Zoning Board decided not to allow development on the Rob Roy golf course or Magnus Farm without further hearings.

Owners of both properties had asked the zoning board to rezone their land to allow new developments while the board was redoing the entire county-wide zoning plan.

The proposals were met with protests — in the case of Rob Roy from residents near the golf course, and in the case of Magnus Farm from the villages of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect.

The protests and the nature of the zoning proposals made by the two property owners differ, but the zoning board's action in both cases was to listen to the local protests.

The zoning board's decision still must be ratified by the county board, and the zoning board may later receive rezoning petitions from owners of both pieces of property.

But thus far at least the zoning board has guaranteed local communities will have a voice, with future rezoning subject to specific hearings, not lumped in with the general redrawing of county zoning maps.

Meyer fans outraged

Why they're thankful: they have Dorothy

A reader recently voiced criticism of a column in your paper by Dorothy Meyer. The lady was certainly within her rights. Our reply means to diminish that right in no way. We only mean to explain how wrong she was!

(Y)our paper has to tell us about our wells running low, taxes running high, crime jumping, public figures failing, but once a week Dorothy Meyer blows a whistle and, in print, says to us "hey, look at what happens in everyday life to a just-average person who has trouble wrestling with the normal things of life."

What a relief to find a gentle breeze of light commentary to provide variety from the front page. What constraint by The Herald to limit this soft touch of humor to only one issue per week.

And what sorrow that everyone can not find humor in this highly professional writing! The writer of the critical rejection suggests a high school student of journalism be given a chance to write a column. A brilliant idea, but the high school students can't be found to wipe dishes. How could they ever write a column about dirt on a kitchen floor or popcorn kernels they probably kicked under the kitchen stove?

Mister editor, give the kids every chance you can, but, please, sir, leave coverage of Arlington Heights government to trained professional journalists, let experienced people cover the police beat and Arlington race track happenings.

And don't let anybody intrude upon Dorothy Meyer's domain. Her kitchen may be as messy as ours, but her writing is clear as Mr. Clean, as brilliant as Windex, and as welcome as a warm day in mid-November.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Harrison
Arlington Heights

I TOO AM A READER and longtime subscriber to The Herald and before I do another thing today I must answer Mrs. P. M. Borman's letter in the Fence Post knocking one of my favorite columnists, Dorothy Meyer.

Mrs. Borman, there certainly is hidden humor in her articles. I'm certain most women have had the same thing happen to them. I know I laughed when I read about her finding hairy popcorn kernels under the stove. I have, although I hate to admit it. We all see ourselves and laugh at ourselves when we read of similarities.

One of Dorothy's most hilarious columns was the one of her taking her driver's test. I made copies of that one and send it to any of my friends who are about to embark on the journey. Dorothy should repeat that column again; it will really crack you up. Wish I had started a scrapbook of her articles to give friends in the hospital.

I've always wanted to meet Dorothy and finally did one day at The Herald. I was tickled pink. Love that gal!

Mrs. Ralph R. Evans
Rolling Meadows

MANY TIMES I'VE BEEN compelled to write a letter but his time I'm really going to do it. And it took Mrs. Borman's remarks about Dorothy Meyer's column to get me to do it.

First of all, let me say that I really enjoy reading the column and look forward to it every Saturday. I can see the humor in them, so much in fact that I chuckle out loud. (My little dog can vouch for that.)

I also care about Dorothy's kitchen being a mess because I can sure sympathize with her.

Mrs. Borman says she is one of the first subscribers to The Herald. If she's been reading Dorothy's column that long she must have liked them. If I don't like a column I don't read it.

Now tell me, what young student would be more informative than Dorothy, or as truthful? No one else would tell hundreds of readers about those hairy popcorn kernels or the greasy fuzz, even though we've all got them.

One more thing; Dorothy Meyer, please keep those humorous, informative, truthful, cheerful columns coming.

Ms. Dorothy Goza
Buffalo Grove

ON OPENING MY HERALD the morning of Nov. 17, I went right to the Fence Post section. Although they have cut this section considerably, I still read the letters that interest me. Noticing the one titled "Meyer rejected," I had to start there.

Dorothy, your critic must be at the top of the list as far as grouches go.

Your articles on Saturday really are good. I guess probably because I can identify with so many of them. All I can say is that this woman either has a spotlessly clean kitchen or else she hasn't moved her stove or refrigerator to clean behind it. Who is she trying to kid?

Please don't change your style. You always give me a good start with a smile on Saturday morning, and a closeness that I think the average housewife appreciates.

Marge Crowe
Arlington Heights

THERE IS NOTHING SO sad as a person with no sense of humor. I have raised seven children, cooked, canned, preserved and finished by cleaning an icky kitchen floor, greasy fuzz under the stove and hairy popcorn kernels.

I wonder why Mrs. Borman continues to read Dorothy's column. It is, especially in "times like these," that we common people need the lift of laughter that Dorothy Meyer always gives us.

Incidentally, I also read informative articles. "The world is so full of a number of things, I'm sure we should be as happy as kings."

Mrs. Elma V. Byrd
Arlington Heights

AFTER READING Dorothy Meyer's column each week, I've wanted to write to tell you how much I enjoy reading it. Mrs. P. M. Borman, whose letter appeared on Nov. 17 in the Fence Post of The Herald, made me so mad that I put aside my homework to let you know how I feel about this very funny, down to earth, sweet lady who keeps me laughing.

I rate Dorothy right up there with Erma Bomback.

Mrs. Borman, where's your sense of humor?

Thank you for listening. I do hope Dorothy Meyer will continue writing for The Herald for a long time.

Mrs. Paul Link
Rolling Meadows

AS AN AVID READER OF THE HERALD, I enjoy the column by Dorothy Meyer. Her humor is wonderful and down to earth in things most housewives have in common.

We may not be immaculate housekeepers, but not slobs either. Our aim is to have a reasonably clean, comfortable home, not house, where our friends and family feel at ease.

Her articles tell it like it is.

Thank you, a young journalist would be good, too, but please keep Dorothy's article.

Mrs. J. L. Stanton
Arlington Heights

IN DEFENSE OF DOROTHY MEYER, I thoroughly enjoy her humor and delight in her literary style of coping with problems encountered by many of us.

Your paper is eagerly anticipated, especially on Saturday mornings, as I know Dorothy's column will provide me with a good chuckle which is so needed in times that are filled with corruption and injustices.

Eleanor Strzok
Buffalo Grove

MAY I REPLY to Mrs. Borman's Nov. 17 letter "rejecting" Dorothy Meyer's articles?

Dorothy, we love you! We love your articles because they are a momentary relief from the "gloom" that we see covering Page 1. How relaxing to laugh over crabgrass, panty hose, and yes, even an "icky" kitchen floor. Why? Because we can relate to all of this, and find it amusing, certainly not "hidden humor."

Yes, a young student of journalism could write a more informative article, but we aren't seeking information in Dorothy's column . . . we love her sense of humor and hope she'll keep us laughing with her column for many more years.

God bless you Dorothy!

Mrs. C. J. Maurer
Arlington Heights

I HAPPEN TO THINK Dorothy Meyer's columns are hilarious. In fact, both my husband and I enjoy them tremendously and never fail to get a rollicking laugh every Saturday morning.

Dorothy seems to be very talented in the art of poking fun at herself. In "times like this" I think that's great. People are so morbid nowadays. To be able to laugh at yourself is a gift, and Dorothy is definitely gifted.

I'm particularly delighted that her kitchen is a mess. I've always felt a kindred spirit with ladies who have messy kitchens. Somehow, greaseless, dishless, spotless kitchens at nine o'clock in the morning make me feel uncomfortable. Especially after reading the "Stepford Wives."

So Dorothy, you keep on writing those funny columns. I love them. Who wants to be informed on a Saturday morning anyway? I'd much rather start the day with a good laugh.

Ms. Judy Forsberg
Arlington Heights

GOOD HEAVENS, MRS. BORMAN! Many of us readers care that Mrs. Meyer's kitchen is a mess. There are those of us who are working girls, as is she, who can relate.

I guess it all boils down to what is in the eyes and heart of the reader. I've never met Dorothy Meyer, but I feel I know her and love her. She opens her heart and lets you in, which is what a real friend does.

You can have your young journalism student who writes informative articles, but don't take Dorothy Meyer away from me. Her nonsensical humor (this too is journalism) is a delight for me when reading The Herald. Surely, "in these times" as you put it, we have room for a little nonsense. We get more than enough "information" from the various media.

'Act of kindness helps'

"An act of kindness helps."

I was shopping at National Food Store late afternoon of Nov. 12 and as I was checking out I just remembered two envelopes of food coupons I had to give someone. As there was an American-Mexican descent couple with a young son behind me I gave them to them. She was so pleased about it. So I was trying to dial for a cab to take me home and the woman came to me and said if I was calling someone to get me she'd be glad to drive me and my groceries home.

I thanked her and said it was supper time and she must be anxious to get home. She insisted. We chatted and I meant to get her address or name. I hope they get The Herald to see this.

McDonald story liked

Recently one of The Herald's reporters, Marilyn McDonald, wrote a feature story concerning the counseling program and future plans of the Maryville students. I feel the article was an example of excellent journalism in that it gave the reader a complete picture and it was accurate in its facts as well as the numerous quotes which were used.

The reaction of the Maryville boys and girls to the article was extremely positive. Oftentimes, only the more negative actions of our young people receive public notice.

On behalf of the students and staff of Maryville, I applaud your contribution to the community.

I REJECT THE WAY THEY DEPEND ON ME!

We can be thankful we have each other to depend upon!

The way we see it

A broad 'spirit of family'

The United States is a nation of families — and that accounts for the fact that Thanksgiving is perhaps the richest expression of our national character.

Thanksgiving. There is nothing more uniquely American than the gathering of families and friends for the traditional festive meal of Thanksgiving.

The holiday has endured in a nation rich with momentary fads and fashions. Every November we gather together, once again, to offer simple thankfulness.

But there's something even more important about this holiday. Especially in these difficult economic times, we must remember that there's another definition of "family" in both the Northwest suburbs and across the nation.

For the hungry, there are those in our family who selflessly offer food.

For those who are troubled in spirit, there are those in our family who offer spiritual and psychological support.

For those who are old, there are those in our family who provide a steadying arm.

For those who are lonely, there are those in our family who offer companionship.

Our "family" is not limited to Mom and Dad, Sister and Brother, Grandma and Grandpa.

No, our American family also consists of persons who help each other. This family should be a cause for joy and reflection before we settle down today to watch Thanksgiving football and eat the traditional meal.

In the Northwest suburbs, those persons with a broad sense of "family" deserve a special note of praise. Without this quality, the Pilgrims of 1620 would never have survived and flourished as an embryonic nation. This sense of family has prospered as our nation has grown; without it, our survival would be in doubt.

As we gather together with our families this Thanksgiving day, this gift of a broader "family" is a special aspect of American life worthy of special thanks.

Business 'homestead' tax merited

One of the persistent problems with the property tax is that when a person improves his property the taxes go up, thus discouraging many persons from making improvements.

The Illinois General Assembly this year took a step toward eliminating that problem by passing the Homestead Improvement Exemption, which allows a homeowner to exempt up to $15,000 worth of home improvements from the property tax assessment for four years.

Now the Cook County Board is studying a proposal from the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry which will give the same kind of tax incentive to industry. The proposal deserves approval by the county board.

The association has proposed that new industrial or commercial development or improvement of an existing commercial or industrial building be assessed at 22 per cent of market value for four years after completion. Such developments ordinarily would be assessed at 33 or 40 per cent of market value.

The theory behind the lower assessment would be to give developers an incentive to improve property in the county and to encourage them to build within Cook County rather than taking their business — and jobs — to neighboring counties where industrial property enjoys lower tax assessments.

The county board expressed concern about some technicalities in the association proposal, such as how to define when an improvement of an existing property began or ended. Such technical difficulties can and should be cleared up.

What is important is for the county to provide some kind of tax relief for business development in order to preserve the jobs and business needed by the county. The association proposal is clearly a step in that direction.

Suburbanites win 2 zoning rounds

Suburbanites won two rounds last week when the Cook County Zoning Board decided not to allow development on the Rob Roy golf course or Magnus Farm without further hearings.

Owners of both properties had asked the zoning board to rezone their land to allow new developments while the board was redoing the entire county-wide zoning plan.

The proposals were met with protests — in the case of Rob Roy from residents near the golf course, and in the case of Magnus Farm from the villages of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect.

The protests and the nature of the zoning proposals made by the two property owners differ, but the zoning board's action in both cases was to listen to the local protests.

The zoning board's decision still must be ratified by the county board, and the zoning board may later receive rezoning petitions from owners of both pieces of property.

But thus far at least the zoning board has guaranteed local communities will have a voice, with future rezoning subject to specific hearings, not lumped in with the general redrawing of county zoning maps.

Meyer fans outraged

Why they're thankful: they have Dorothy

A reader recently voiced criticism of a column in your paper by Dorothy Meyer. The lady was certainly within her rights. Our reply means to diminish that right in no way. We only mean to explain how wrong she was!

(Y)our paper has to tell us about our wells running low, taxes running high, crime jumping, public figures failing, but once a week Dorothy Meyer blows a whistle and, in print, says to us "hey, look at what happens in everyday life to a just-average person who has trouble wrestling with the normal things of life."

What a relief to find a gentle breeze of light commentary to provide variety from the front page. What constraint by The Herald to limit this soft touch of humor to only one issue per week.

And what sorrow that everyone can not find humor in this highly professional writing! The writer of the critical rejection suggests a high school student of journalism be given a chance to write a column. A brilliant idea, but the high school students can't be found to wipe dishes. How could they ever write a column about dirt on a kitchen floor or popcorn kernels they probably kicked under the kitchen stove?

Mister editor, give the kids every chance you can, but, please, sir, leave coverage of Arlington Heights government to trained professional journalists, let experienced people cover the police beat and Arlington race track happenings.

And don't let anybody intrude upon Dorothy Meyer's domain. Her kitchen may be as messy as ours, but her writing is clear as Mr. Clean, as brilliant as Windex, and as welcome as a warm day in mid-November.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Harrison
Arlington Heights

I TOO AM A READER and long-time subscriber to The Herald and before I do another thing today I must answer Mrs. P. M. Borman's letter in the Fence Post knocking one of my favorite columnists, Dorothy Meyer.

Mrs. Borman, there certainly is hidden humor in her articles. I'm certain most women have had the same thing happen to them. I know I laughed when I read about her finding hairy popcorn kernels under the stove. I have, although I hate to admit it. We all see ourselves and laugh at ourselves when we read of similarities.

One of Dorothy's most hilarious columns was the one of her taking her driver's test. I made copies of that one and send it to any of my friends who are about to embark on the journey. Dorothy should repeat that column again; it will really crack you up. Wish I had started a scrapbook of her articles to give friends in the hospital.

I've always wanted to meet Dorothy and finally did one day at The Herald. I was tickled pink. Love that gal!

Mrs. Ralph R. Evans
Rolling Meadows

MANY TIMES I'VE BEEN compelled to write a letter but his time I'm really going to do it. And it took Mrs. Borman's remarks about Dorothy Meyer's column to get me to do it.

First of all, let me say that I really enjoy reading the column and look forward to it every Saturday. I can see the humor in them, so much in fact that I chuckle out loud. (My little dog can vouch for that.)

I also care about Dorothy's kitchen being a mess because I can sure sympathize with her.

Mrs. Borman says she is one of the first subscribers to The Herald. If she's been reading Dorothy's column that long she must have liked them. If I don't like a column I don't read it.

Now tell me, what young student would be more informative than Dorothy, or as truthful? No one else would tell hundreds of readers about those hairy popcorn kernels or the greasy fuzz, even though we've all got them.

One more thing; Dorothy Meyer, please keep those humorous, informative, truthful, cheerful columns coming.

Ms. Dorothy Goza
Buffalo Grove

ON OPENING MY HERALD the morning of Nov. 17, I went right to the Fence Post section. Although they have cut this section considerably, I still read the letters that interest me. Noticing the one titled "Meyer rejected," I had to start there.

Dorothy, your critic must be at the top of the list as far as grouches go.

Your articles on Saturday really are good. I guess probably because I can identify with so many of them. All I can say is that this woman either has a spotlessly clean kitchen or else she hasn't moved her stove or refrigerator to clean behind it. Who is she trying to kid?

Please don't change your style. You always give me a good start with a smile on Saturday morning, and a closeness that I think the average housewife appreciates.

Marge Crowe
Arlington Heights

THERE IS NOTHING SO sad as a person with no sense of humor. I have raised seven children, cooked, canned, preserved and finished by cleaning an icky kitchen floor, greasy fuzz under the stove and hairy popcorn kernels.

I wonder why Mrs. Borman continues to read Dorothy's column. It is, especially in "times like these," that we common people need the lift of laughter that Dorothy Meyer always gives us.

Incidentally, I also read informative articles. "The world is so full of a number of things, I'm sure we should be as happy as kings."

Mrs. Elma V. Byrd
Arlington Heights

AFTER READING Dorothy Meyer's column each week, I've wanted to write to tell you how much I enjoy reading it. Mrs. P. M. Borman, whose letter appeared on Nov. 17 in the Fence Post of The Herald, made me so mad that I put aside my homework to let you know how I feel about this very funny, down to earth, sweet lady who keeps me laughing.

I rate Dorothy right up there with Erma Bomback.

Mrs. Borman, where's your sense of humor?

Thank you for listening. I do hope Dorothy Meyer will continue writing for The Herald for a long time.

Mrs. Paul Link
Rolling Meadows

AS AN AVID READER OF THE HERALD, I enjoy the column by Dorothy Meyer. Her humor is wonderful and down to earth in things most housewives have in common.

We may not be immaculate housekeepers, but not slobs either. Our aim is to have a reasonably clean, comfortable home, not house, where our friends and family feel at ease.

Her articles tell it like it is.

Thank you, a young journalist would be good, too, but please keep Dorothy's article.

Mrs. J. L. Stanton
Arlington Heights

IN DEFENSE OF DOROTHY MEYER, I thoroughly enjoy her humor and delight in her literary style of coping with problems encountered by many of us.

Your paper is eagerly anticipated, especially on Saturday mornings, as I know Dorothy's column will provide me with a good chuckle which is so needed in times that are filled with corruption and injustices.

Eleanor Strzok

U.S. to prosecute county cases

Samuel Skinner

by STEVE BROWN

The federal government will start prosecuting criminal cases usually handled by local authorities because of a breakdown in the Cook County criminal justice system, U.S. Atty. Samuel Skinner announced Wednesday.

Skinner told newsmen he normally looks at the federal government as a backstop for local governments, but with "problems as severe as we have in Cook County, it is time for the federal government to move."

Skinner's comments came as he announced the indictments of 26 Chicagoans on a variety of federal gun law violation charges. During a news conference in the Dirksen Federal Building, Skinner displayed several sawed-off shotguns and automatic weapons.

SKINNER SAID the weapons were purchased by undercover agents of the U.S. Treasury Dept., Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms division, in the past few months.

"I would like to say that local law enforcement in this county is so effective that we can move on to other areas, but as of this point it is not."

Skinner said county gun courts do not produce many convictions. He said many indictments in the circuit courts are not prosecuted, but are thrown out and convicted felons are not convicted when new charges arise.

Skinner said the residents of Cook County should go to the county board and demand more funds for courts, police and prosecutors.

An aide to County State's Atty. Bernard Carey said Carey has always deferred the prosecution of gun cases to the federal government because the federal charges carry stiffer penalties.

THE AIDE ALSO suggested Skinner was not really condemning the efforts of local law enforcement officials, but rather pointing to the need for additional funds for programs.

County Sheriff Richard J. Elrod was unavailable for comment Wednesday.

Skinner also announced the federal government will increase the number of agents working on gun cases and other problems in the county in the near future.

Most of the men charged in Wednesday's indictment were arrested in overnight raids, Skinner said.

Skinner noted that existing gun laws do nothing to suppress the problem of illegal firearm sales.

"WE ARE CAUGHT in a Catch 22 situation here. People feel that it is not safe to walk the streets so they buy guns, are frequently arrested and they should really not go to jail.

"But the people actually dealing in the sale of illegal firearms, the ones that should be prosecuted, frequently are not."

Skinner said many of the persons indicted Wednesday had prior felony convictions. He said the arrests, which came with the assistance of the Chicago Police Dept. Gang Crimes Units, culminated an 18-month investigation.

Skinner said the federal government will begin using federal laws to seek convictions in areas where local police agencies normally work.

and you're always going to have some minor problems," said Malesky. "But things are working out fine."

Vacations are rare and going out to dinner, almost an impossibility, unless it's smorgasboard. "With our kids they'd all want steak," said Malesky.

THE BIGGEST problem, he says, was the kids not wanting to leave their friends. So they selected a middle territory when looking for a house — a place that would not be too far from Hoffman Estates or Chicago.

"We've adjusted fine. It was a little different cooking for such a large group and sometimes I still guess wrong," said Mrs. Malesky. Then she added, because she's tired of hearing the comparison:

"We are not like the Brady Bunch! They have Alice (the cook and housekeeper on the television show). We don't!"

Mrs. Malesky said she has no idea how much her Thanksgiving dinner will cost or for that matter, how much it costs to raise such a large family.

"They're fed well, you can see that by looking at them," she said. Malesky is an accountant and three months ago the family opened The Sweet Tooth, a doughnut and ice cream shop in Des Plaines.

"WE HAD TO put the kids to work," said Malesky.

Today will be different from the Thanksgivings he and his wife spent as children, since each of them come from very small families. But it will be a happier one.

"We're thankful for our family and that we are all well," said Mrs. Malesky. "We're thankful for what we have."

U.S. to prosecute county cases

by STEVE BROWN

The federal government will start prosecuting criminal cases usually handled by local authorities because of a breakdown in the Cook County criminal justice system, U.S. Atty. Samuel Skinner announced Wednesday.

Skinner told newsmen he normally looks at the federal government as a backstop for local governments, but with "problems as severe as we have in Cook County, it is time for the federal government to move."

Skinner's comments came as he announced the indictments of 26 Chicagoans on a variety of federal gun law violation charges. During a news conference in the Dirksen Federal Building, Skinner displayed several sawed-off shotguns and automatic weapons.

SKINNER SAID the weapons were purchased by undercover agents of the U.S. Treasury Dept., Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms division, in the past few months.

"I would like to say that local law enforcement in this county is so effective that we can move on to other areas, but as of this point it is not."

Skinner said county gun courts do not produce many convictions. He said many indictments in the circuit courts are not prosecuted, but are thrown out and convicted felons are not convicted when new charges arise.

Skinner said the residents of Cook County should go to the county board and demand more funds for courts, police and prosecutors.

An aide to County State's Atty. Bernard Carey said Carey has always deferred the prosecution of gun cases to the federal government because the federal charges carry stiffer penalties.

Slim football menu today; attractive weekend card

by GARY KALE

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Thanksgiving Day football menu is pretty skimpy so if you're waiting for dessert, leave an order for a large bowl of post-season happiness.

Thursday's National Football League action has a two-game entree — Buffalo (6-4) at St. Louis (8-2) and Los Angeles (8-2) at Detroit (6-4), both on national television.

The slim college football presentation features Cotton Bowl-bound Georgia against Georgia Tech and the traditional Philadelphia area game of Temple against Villanova.

Holiday weekend college television offers Georgia-Georgia Tech on Thursday night, Texas-Texas A&M Friday afternoon and USC-UCLA Friday night, and Army-Navy and Alabama-Auburn on Saturday.

The clash of second-ranked Texas A&M and Texas could produce an opponent for Georgia. UCLA can clinch the Rose Bowl berth opposite Ohio State by beating Southern California Friday night.

One of the finest individual offensive battles of the season shapes up at St. Louis when Buffalo's O. J. Simpson, the NFL's leading ground gainer, matches muscles with Terry Metcalf, the league's total yardage leader.

Buffalo is tied with Baltimore for second place in the AFC East, a game behind Miami, and an outstanding performance by O. J. could position the Bills for a good run at the Dolphins.

Simpson has carried the ball 245 times this season, gained 1,394 yards and scored 12 touchdowns rushing. He has also caught 15 passes for 215 yards and five TDs. Metcalf has a net total of 1,887 yards, achieved on 685 yards rushing (on 137 carries), 280 yards on 36 pass receptions, 227 yards on 19 punt returns and 695 yards on 26 kick off returns. Terry has nine touchdowns for the year, seven on rushes.

The Los Angeles-Detroit rivalry is one of the closest series wars in the NFL, with the Rams holding a 25-24-1 edge over the Lions. A Los Angeles victory would present Rams fans with a third consecutive NFC western division title. Detroit faces elimination in the NFC central section and desperately needs a victory to stay in the running for a conference wild card berth in the playoffs.

Los Angeles' Larry McCutcheon is coming off his best rushing game of the year, a 114-yard burst against Chicago Bears. Detroit, also playing its second game in five days, was beaten by Kansas City in overtime last Sunday.

The 14th ranked Georgia Bulldogs are favored by a touchdown over state rival Georgia Tech, but the absence of injured Kevin McLee, their leading scorer, could have the oddsmakers mistaken about the Yellow Jackets' underdog role.

Temple rides a four-game winning string and a 5-5 record against 4-6 Villanova. The Owls rapped Drake, 44-7, last Saturday.

If Texas (9-1) beats Texas A&M (9-0), the Longhorns will win the Southwest Conference title and the host role in the Cotton Classic. An A&M victory will not automatically give the Aggies the championship. They'd have to beat Arkansas on Dec. 6 to take all the honors.

Quarterback David Shipman is a questionable starter for the Aggies after pulling a hamstring muscle and straining a knee in the last month. Earl Campbell, the Longhorns' top running back was hospitalized earlier this week for fluid accumulations in his elbows.

UCLA (7-2-1) must win its game with Southern Cal for a Rose Bowl visit and are two-point favorites to beat the Trojans, who play their last game for NFL-bound coach John McKay. A UCLA loss or tie sends the University of California to Pasadena for the Ohio State clash.

Area records only four tourney wins

A Herald Staff Report

Four area basketball coaches should enjoy their Thanksgiving dinners just a little bit more. Their clubs responded with victories Wednesday evening in an ambitious schedule of tournament competition.

Buffalo Grove, Arlington, Elk Grove and Forest View were the only Herald area clubs able to survive the action as eight were leveled in what was not a very profitable evening overall.

Her's the way the action developed as a heavy snowstorm moved into the area and cut down on the crowds at many sites:

BISON STING CARMEL

All-State candidate Brian Allsmiller spiced a steady Buffalo Grove attack with eight straight second-quarter points Wednesday night as the Bison went on to bury host Carmel of Mundelein, 68-48, in the first match of a round-robin tournament.

Allsmiller finished with 25 points for the game, but his 14-point second period salted the decision away early as the Bison rocketed to a 30-13 margin before settling for a 38-25 halftime cushion.

While Allsmiller was hitting from everywhere on the floor and frustrating his high-scoring adversary Mark Ornatek with just nine points, Bison Tim Stonerook added a pleasant punch with 22 points and scrappy guard Mike Ledna dished out six assists despite foul trouble. Buffalo Grove's next assignment is at 8:30 Friday night.

Buffalo Grove	16	22	16	14—68
Carmel	9	16	8	15—48

CARD BALANCE EARNS WIN

Four Arlington Cardinals contributed to a well-rounded attack Wednesday night that produced a convincing 68-55 triumph over Willowbrook in the first round of the York Thanksgiving round-robin tournament.

After spotting its taller opponent a 10-2 lead, Arlington's Don Drain, taking the coaching duties from sidelined George Zigman, ordered a 2-3 zone to combat Willowbrook's inside game.

The strategy paid off handsomely as Arlington went on to outscore the Warriors 18-13 in the second period to force a 29-29 standoff at halftime.

The Cardinals broke the contest open midway through the third period in a nine-point scoring spree and padded the margin with a 19-11 scoring edge in the final stanza.

Greg Kloiber and Frank DeSimone each chipped in 16 points for Arlington while Greg Jantsch and Jim Grandt supported with a dozen apiece. Arlington tackles York at 8:30 Friday night.

Arlington	11	18	20	19—68

FALCONS IMPRESSIVE

Forest View broke open a tight game in an explosive third period and rode to an impressive 75-64 victory over St. Edward of Elgin at Woodstock.

Coach Ted Wissen's Falcons held a 34-27 lead at the intermission, but it was the offensive work of Nate Adams and Ray Michaelsen that blew open the tourney game.

Adams had six baskets and two free throws for 14 points and Michaelsen tossed in 12 markers as Forest View pulled out to a 62-41 cushion with 28 points in eight minutes.

Adams and Michaelsen both finished with 21 points and Jim O'Rourke chipped in with 16. Forest View returns to the Woodstock floor Friday at 8 p.m.

SCORE BY QUARTERS

Forest View	16	18	28	13—75
St. Edward	13	14	14	23—64

BALANCE FOR ELK GROVE

Elk Grove opened its season with a balanced scoring attack, solid defense and some snappy outside shooting in riding to a 65-47 victory over Hoffman Estates.

The Grenadiers jumped out in front 30-25 at halftime and then pulled away with a 19-9 third period bulge.

Five boys scored in double figures for the winners with Dave Hornacek leading the way with 14. Mike Behn added 13, Joe Parmentier 12, Mark Smith 11, and Mark Sass 10. Smith, Sass and Behn were playing in their first varsity games and they responded well.

Gene Foster and Jeff Curtin dropped in 10 each for the Hoffman Hawks.

Elk Grove returns to play Friday at 8:30 against Lake Pak. Hoffman will play Addison Trail at 7 p.m. Lake Park rocked Addision 51-41 in Wednesday's other game with Addison playing without All-State candidate Scott Anderson.

Elk Grove	14	16	19	16—65
Hoffman	12	13	9	13—47

HUSKIES FALL, 56-50

Glenbard West hit 22-of-29 at the free throw line, including four pressure shots in the closing eight seconds, and tipped Hersey 56-50 in tourney play in Glen Ellyn.

Jeff Tarter, who finished with 14 points, connected on two foul shots with eight seconds remaining to push the Hilltoppers on top 54-50, and then brother Todd cashed on a pair in the final second to set the final advantage.

Hersey led most of the way in the opening half and took a 27-23 margin at the break on a baseline jumper by Clyde Glass and short jump shot by Tom Burzak at the buzzer.

The Huskies maintained their lead throughout most of the third period until a steal and layup gave Glenbard a 37-35 margin with 25 seconds left. Todd Tarter hit two free throws to make it 39-35, but Glass connected in the closing seconds.

It was tight to the finish with Glenbard finally pulling it out at the foul line. Hersey lost Tom Frye, who was high for the losers with 12 points, on fouls with 1:46 left.

Jay McDermott followed Frye with 10 points and Glass and Burzak had eight each. Hersey returns to play at 3:45 Friday.

SCORE BY QUARTERS

Glenbard West	8	15	16	17—56
Hersey	9	18	10	13—50

NEW TRIER 'BURNS' PROSPECT

The New Trier East Indians hit on 61 per cent of their shots in defeating hosting Prospect, 67-43.

Both teams were very accurate in the first quarter with the Knights only trailing 20-16. New Trier, 1-0 on the season, led 32-26 at the half.

After a basket by Ed Spore brought Prospect to within 11 with 3:20 left in the third quarter, the Knights failed to score until 7:46 of the final period. By that time it was 48-32 with the Indians pulling away in this round robin tourney.

New Trier's Jeff Ryan led four Indians in double figures with 15. Mike Wood was high man for the Knights with 14. Brad Millar had 11 and Chris Etter 8.

The Knights are 1-1. They'll move to New Trier on Friday for the second round of the tourney.

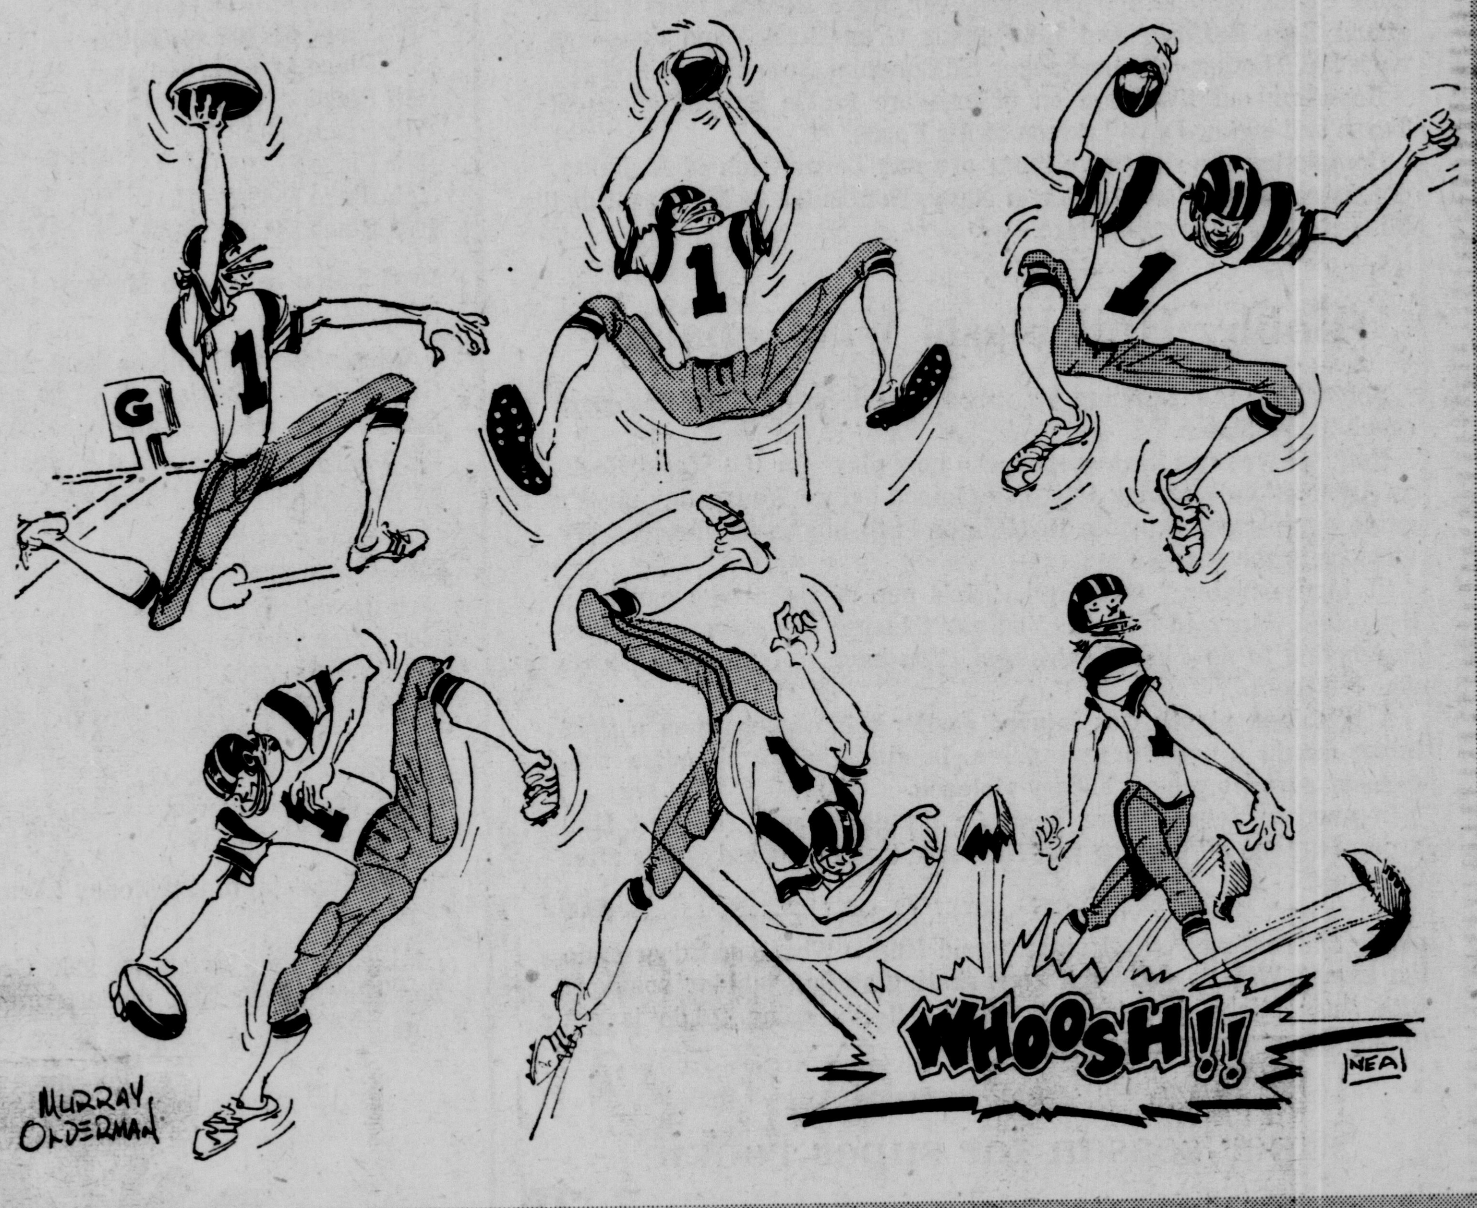
The ultimate spike



Black Hawks blow lead; tie keeps string intact

The Chicago Black Hawks, coasting along with a 4-1 lead in the third period, escaped with a National Hockey League tie Wednesday evening in the Stadium.

Toronto's Maple Leafs, quiet on the attack early, stormed back for a 4-4 deadlock, gaining the equalizer at 18:14 on Darryl Sittler's second goal.

Although the Hawks extended their unbeaten string to 12 games and walked out with a 10-4-8 overall mark, they still let apparent victory slip away.

Sittler scored Toronto's second goal at 13:34 against Tony Esposito and then Stan Weir counted at 17:21 to cut the deficit to 4-3. Sittler's final count gave the Leafs their sixth tie in 21 games and a 9-6-6 mark.

In the opening period the Black Hawks put 14 shots on goal and three into the net against Toronto's Wayne Thomas.

Cliff Koroll, who figured in each of the first three scores, fired in his sixth goal of the year on a power play at 5:19, and Johnny Marks rifled in a 25-footer over the left shoulder of Thomas at 14:51 to make it 2-0.

The Pit Martin line continued to dazzle when Martin, with help from Koroll, flicked in a goal in the closing seconds of the opening stanza.

Toronto, which had only five shots on goal in that first period, put some pressure on Esposito in the second, sending 12 shots on the net with Ian Turnbull counting at 11:20 on a power play.

Chicago, putting 10 shots on goal, took a 4-1 lead at 13:15 when Dennis Hull, with an assist from Ivan Boldirev, slipped in a controversial goal past Thomas, the 27-year-old performer who didn't play in a single NHL game last season after serving as a regular in 1973-74.

The Hawks took a comfortable lead into the final period, but it wasn't over yet.

Reprints of bowling series available at Herald offices

Special reprints of the Earl Anthony bowling series that appeared in the Herald are now available.

The four-part series features the stance, arm swing, delivery and approach, and delivery and release.

Anthony is the most successful performer on professional tour today, the first bowler to crack the $100,000 barrier in winnings for a single season.

Anyone interested in copies of his series may pick up the reprints starting Friday at the receptionist desk of the Herald offices, 217 W. Campbell and 114 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights; and 601 W. Golf, Mount Prospect.

FALCONS IMPRESSIVE

Forest View broke open a tight game in an explosive third period and rode to an impressive 75-64 victory over St. Edward of Elgin at Woodstock.

Coach Ted Wissen's Falcons held a 34-27 lead at the intermission, but it was the offensive work of Nate Adams and Ray Michaelsen that blew open the tourney game.

Adams had six baskets and two free throws for 14 points and Michaelsen tossed in 12 markers as Forest View pulled out to a 62-41 cushion with 28 points in eight minutes.

Adams and Michaelsen both finished with 21 points and Jim O'Rourke chipped in with 16. Forest View returns to the Woodstock floor Friday at 8 p.m.

BALANCE FOR ELK GROVE

Elk Grove opened its season with a balanced scoring attack, solid defense and some snappy outside shooting in riding to a 65-47 victory over Hoffman Estates.

The Grenadiers jumped out in front 30-25 at halftime and then pulled away with a 19-9 third period bulge.

Five boys scored in double figures for the winners with Dave Hornacek leading the way with 14. Mike Behn added 13, Joe Parmentier 12, Mark Smith 11, and Mark Sass 10. Smith, Sass and Behn were playing in their first varsity games and they responded well.

Gene Foster and Jeff Curtin dropped in 10 each for the Hoffman Hawks.

Elk Grove returns to play Friday at 8:30 against Lake Pak. Hoffman will play Addison Trail at 7 p.m. Lake Park rocked Addision 51-41 in Wednesday's other game with Addison playing without All-State candidate Scott Anderson.

HUSKIES FALL, 56-50

Glenbard West hit 22-of-29 at the free throw line, including four pressure shots in the closing eight seconds, and tipped Hersey 56-50 in tourney play in Glen Ellyn.

Jeff Tarter, who finished with 14 points, connected on two foul shots with eight seconds remaining to push the Hilltoppers on top 54-50, and then brother Todd cashed on a pair in the final second to set the final advantage.

Hersey led most of the way in the opening half and took a 27-23 margin at the break on a baseline jumper by Clyde Glass and short jump shot by Tom Burzak at the buzzer.

The Huskies maintained their lead throughout most of the third period until a steal and layup gave Glenbard a 37-35 margin with 25 seconds left. Todd Tarter hit two free throws to make it 39-35, but Glass connected in the closing seconds.

It was tight to the finish with Glenbard finally pulling it out at the foul line. Hersey lost Tom Frye, who was high for the losers with 12 points, on fouls with 1:46 left.

Jay McDermott followed Frye with 10 points and Glass and Burzak had eight each. Hersey returns to play at 3:45 Friday.

NEW TRIER 'BURNS' PROSPECT

The New Trier East Indians hit on 61 per cent of their shots in defeating hosting Prospect, 67-43.

Both teams were very accurate in the first quarter with the Knights only trailing 20-16. New Trier, 1-0 on the season, led 32-26 at the half.

After a basket by Ed Spore brought Prospect to within 11 with 3:20 left in the third quarter, the Knights failed to score until 7:46 of the final period. By that time it was 48-32 with the Indians pulling away in this round robin tourney.

New Trier's Jeff Ryan led four Indians in double figures with 15. Mike Wood was high man for the Knights with 14. Brad Millar had 11 and Chris Etter 8.

The Knights are 1-1. They'll move to New Trier on Friday for the second round of the tourney.

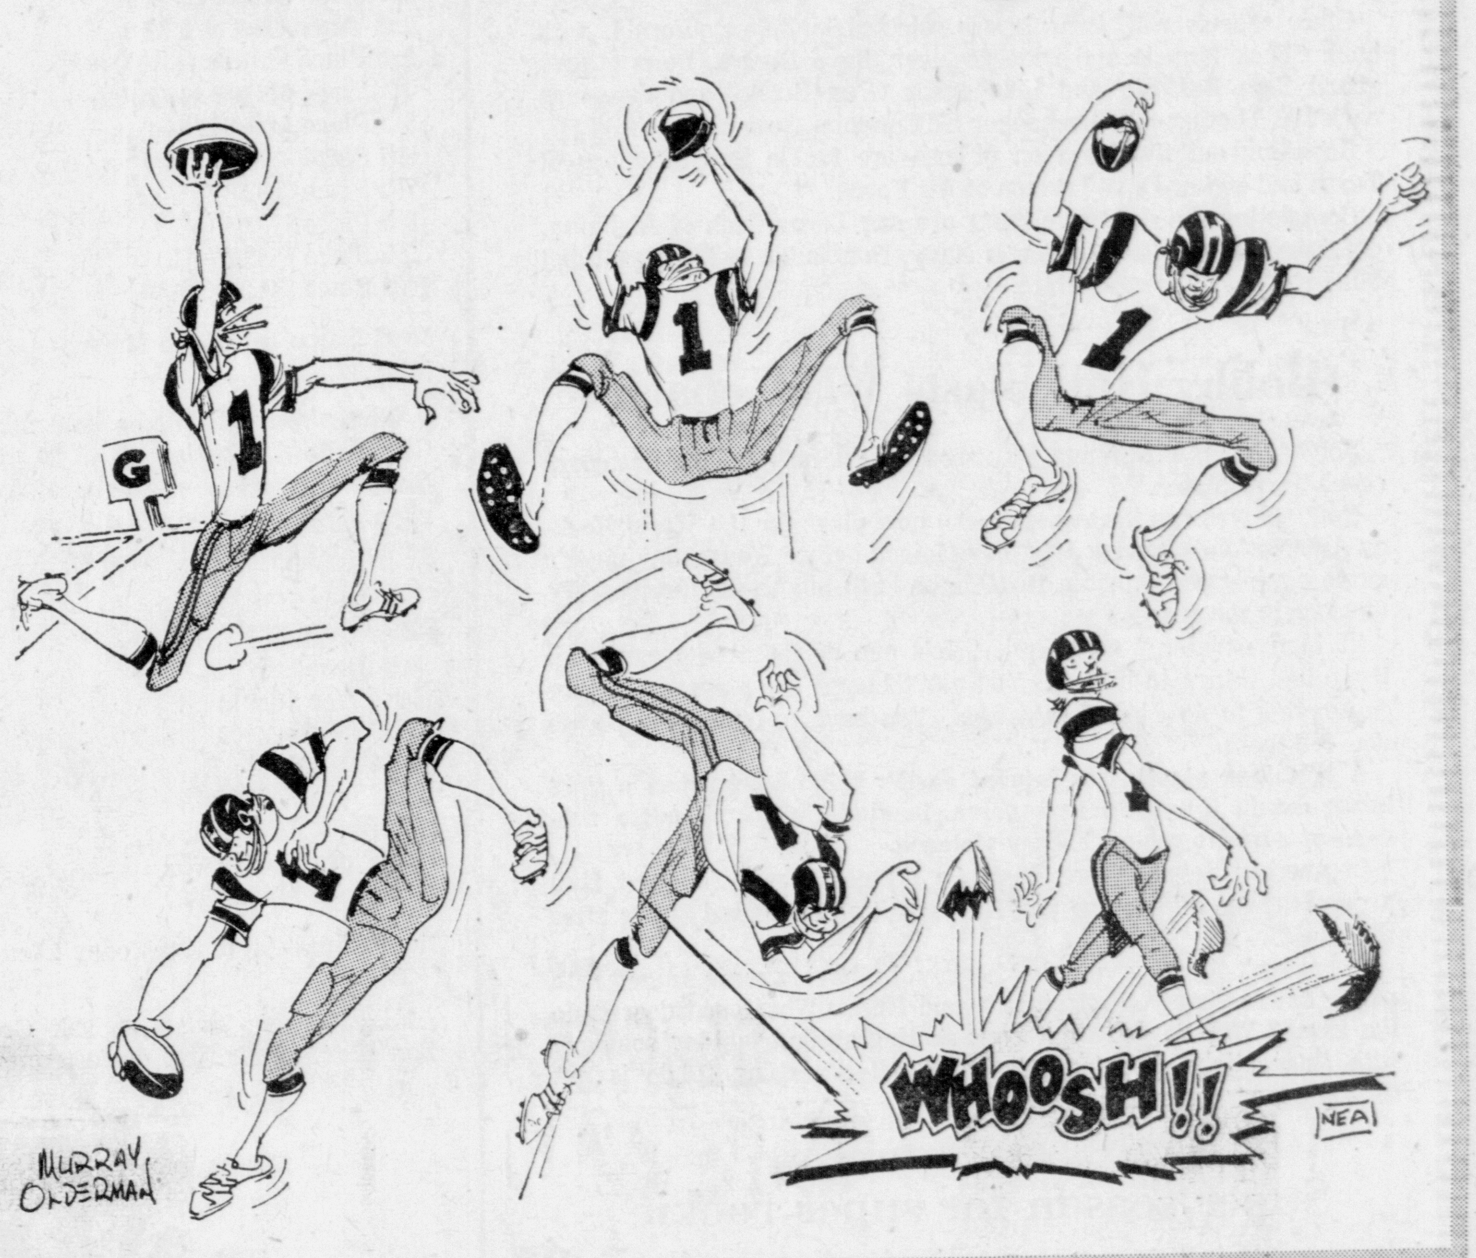
The ultimate spike



Black Hawks blow lead; tie keeps string intact

The Chicago Black Hawks, coasting along with a 4-1 lead in the third period, escaped with a National Hockey League tie Wednesday evening in the Stadium.

Toronto's Maple Leafs, quiet on the attack early, stormed back for a 4-4 deadlock, gaining the equalizer at 18:14 on Darryl Sittler's second goal.

Although the Hawks extended their unbeaten string to 12 games and walked out with a 10-4-8 overall mark, they still let apparent victory slip away.

Sittler scored Toronto's second goal at 13:34 against Tony Esposito and then Stan Weir counted at 17:21 to cut the deficit to 4-3. Sittler's final count gave the Leafs their sixth tie in 21 games and a 9-6-6 mark.

In the opening period the Black Hawks put 14 shots on goal and three into the net against Toronto's Wayne Thomas.

Cliff Koroll, who figured in each of the first three scores, fired in his sixth goal of the year on a power play at 5:19, and Johnny Marks rifled in a 25-footer over the left shoulder of Thomas at 14:51 to make it 2-0.

The Pit Martin line continued to dazzle when Martin, with help from Koroll, flicked in a goal in the closing seconds of the opening stanza.

Toronto, which had only five shots on goal in that first period, put some pressure on Esposito in the second, sending 12 shots on the net with Ian Turnbull counting at 11:20 on a power play.

Chicago, putting 10 shots on goal, took a 4-1 lead at 13:15 when Dennis Hull, with an assist from Ivan Boldirev, slipped in a controversial goal past Thomas, the 27-year-old performer who didn't play in a single NHL game last season after serving as a regular in 1973-74.

The Hawks took a comfortable lead into the final period, but it wasn't over yet.

All-America team features four Buckeyes

Football News has named four Ohio State players berths to its 1975 All-America football team.

Tailback Archie Griffin, quarterback Cornelius Greene, guard Ted Smith and punter Tom Skladany were the four Buckeyes honored by the weekly national football paper, the first All-America team to be officially released.

Oklahoma placed three players on the team, offensive tackle Mike Vaughn and the Selmon brothers, defensive tackle LeRoy and middle guard Dewey. Big Eight co-champion Nebraska had a pair, center Rik Bonness and defensive end Bob Martin.

Griffin and Dewey Selmon were similarly honored last year. Another repeat selection is Notre Dame's defensive standout Steve Niehaus, who made it as a tackle last season and this year is at end.

Vaughn and Skladany are juniors and the only other underclassmen among the 24 Football News All-Americas are wide receiver Larry Seivers of Tennessee and tailback Ricky Bell of Southern California.

Other schools with two players selected include California, with back Chuck Muncie and wide receiver Steve Rivera, Penn State's guard Tom Rafferty and Linebacker Greg Buttle, and defensive back Pat Thomas plus linebacker Ed Simonini, both of Texas A&M.

Rounding out the team on offense are tackle Bob Simmons of Texas and kicker Dave Lawson of Air Force.

Completing the defensive team are end Leroy Cook of Alabama, defensive backs Chet Moeller of Navy, Don Dufek of Michigan, and Mike Haynes of Arizona State.

Bobby Hull blasts WHA coach

Bobby Hull is continuing his verbal attack on Cincinnati Stingers coach Terry Slater.

Hull, the veteran hockey star who now plays for the World Hockey Association Winnipeg Jets, complained before Wednesday night's game against the Stingers that Slater is to blame for unnecessary violence in the sport.

"I blame Slater," said Hull. "He's one of those who cause all these bad things to happen. You can't blame the players. They're just trying to do what they're told. You have to blame the people who tell them."

A Winnipeg player was injured earlier this season when a fight broke out in a Jets-Stingers game, leading Hull to sit out a subsequent game to protest hockey violence.

In another Jets-Stingers game, a Stinger player followed Hull around the ice all evening and Hull admitted he cursed Slater after the game.

"That isn't the way you play hockey, by having some second rate player harrassing you all night," said Hull. "What good does it do the game? Why do you want guys skating around jabbing someone with their sticks, hooking, slashing? All it's going to do is get someone hurt and end his career."

Super season for super rookie

Nobody in the entire history of baseball has ever been able to accomplish what super rook Fred Lynn did this year.

Not Ted Williams, not Carl Yastrzemski, not anybody — even Babe Ruth, who also broke in to the major leagues with the Boston Red Sox.

The 23-year-old Lynn not only was voted the American League Rookie of the Year for 1975, but also was named Wednesday by the Baseball Writers Association of America as the league's Most Valuable Player by the widest margin ever.

A smooth-moving outfielder who learned to play Fenway Park's wall like a veteran, Lynn collected 22 of the 24 first place votes cast and won the MVP in a runaway over Kansas City first baseman John Mayberry, 326 points to 157. Fred's rookie teammate, outfielder Jim Rice, drew 154 points for third place and pitcher Rollie Fingers of the Oakland A's, who received the other two first place votes, had 129 for fourth place.

Lynn's MVP credentials couldn't be topped by his rivals in the balloting. He hit .331, drove in 105 runs and hit 21 home runs. His one regret was the "failure to do more" for Boston in the World Series loss to the Cincinnati Reds.

Bills' plane diverted to Chicago

A plane carrying the Buffalo Bills to St. Louis for a nationally televised Thanksgiving Day NFL game with the St. Louis Cardinals was diverted to Chicago by poor visability at Lambert-St. Louis Airport Wednesday night . . . The team hoped to arrive in St. Louis early this morning.

Marvin Barnes, the American Basketball Assn. Rookie of the Year last season, was ordered by a jury Wednesday to pay a former Providence College teammate $10,000 damages for an assault in October 1972 . . . Barnes had been sued for $1.5 million in a civil damage case . . . The jury awarded damages for pain and suffering, but withheld an award for punitive damages.

Running back Mack Herron, former Chicago Public League star, charged Wednesday he was waived by the New England Patriots because of a personality conflict with coach Chuck Fairbanks . . . Herron, picked up by the Atlanta Falcons, said he was used as a scapegoat for the team's poor season . . . Ole Miss coach Ken Cooper, whose surprising Rebels bounced back to clinch at least a tie for second in the Southeastern Conference, has been named SEC Coach of the Year by UPI.

Jean-Claude Killy, a winner of three Olympic gold medals in skiing in 1968, has been named to head the new Shawnee Village Ski Area opening next month at the Pocono Mountain Resort, Pa . . . Killy will supervise ski programs, a school, pro shop and ski rental operations.

St. Viator to battle Marquette at Streator

St. Viator will meet Marquette in the consolation bracket of the Streator basketball tourney Friday at noon after the Lions dropped a tough, 38-32 decision to Kankakee Eastridge late Tuesday.

The Lions of coach Ron Cregier saw their record drop to 1-1 for the young season as Eastridge controlled the backboards and held Viator's 6-9 center Glen Girard to just six points. Paul Wiloff, the Lions' 6-6 sophomore forward was the game's high scorer with 11.

Eastridge, led by Darryl Mitchell's 10 points, jumped out to an 8-4 first-quarter edge and stayed on top the rest of the way. They outrebounded Viator 30-19 and benefited from the Lions' 10-for-17 effort at the free throw line.

"We're going to have to regroup and get ourselves together," said Cregier, whose only real consolation was a good performance from sophomore Greg Harris.

opener to Grant, 50-46 Wednesday night.

With just 3:22 left on the clock, Wildcat Dave Schultz fed Keith Schildt for a seven-foot baseline jumper that gave Wheeling its only lead in the second half, 44-43.

A couple of 'Cat miscues down the stretch, though, propelled Grant back on top and enabled the Bulldogs to ride out the clock and hand Wheeling its second defeat of the season.

Al Begrowicz paced the Wildcat attack with 14 points while Schildt was the only other Wheeling player to hit double figures with 11.

"It was really a disappointing effort," shrugged Wheeling coach Ted Ecker. "Our offense was never in the game. We had just too many inexcusable turnovers." Wheeling's next test at Woodstock is Friday at 1 p.m.

MAINE WEST FALLS

Maine South broke open a tight ball game late in the second half en route to a 73-65 victory at Prospect's gym in a round robin tournament.

Action moves to New Trier East on Friday with Maine West playing New Trier and Prospect meeting Maine South. The tourney will wind up on Saturday at Maine South.

MUSTANGS FALL SHORT

A game rally by Rolling Meadows over the final two minutes was thwarted by four straight turnovers as Niles North hung on to win the first-round game of the Rolling Meadows Thanksgiving Round Robin.

The Mustangs of coach Bill Weinberg had staged a dramatic comeback after trailing 60-52 midway through the fourth quarter.

Basketbs by Mustangs Gerry McGill and John Carbery helped trim the margin to 62-59 at the two-minute mark, but four Meadows miscues enabled the Vikings to cement the decision.

Noe Nunez spearheaded a balanced Rolling Meadows attack with 17 points while John Carbery contributed 16, Gerry McGill 10 and Dave Bell eight. But the Mustangs couldn't contend with Niles North's Howard Lapping, who after going scoreless in the first quarter, rattled the nets for a game-high 25 points.

In the tournament's opening game, Fenton dumped Maine North, 75-56 as Larry Lindahl tallied 21 points and Bill Zozokos added 18 for the winners. Maine North was paced by Scott Mohr, Ron Brooks and Jim Karas — all with 14. Mike Abraham tallied a dozen.

PROVISO TOPS FREMD, 65-55

Fremd opened its 1975 basketball season on an encouraging note Wednesday night despite falling to perennially awesome Proviso East, 65-55, at the Glenbard West Thanksgiving Tournament. The Vikings next play Friday at 2 p.m.

Although never leading in the contest, Fremd matched Proviso's famed full-court press with one of its own and cut the margin to 10 points on several occasions in the second half.

Rick Kolze pumped in 20 points, Dale Hallberg contributed 11, Craig Rawlins nine and Kerry Field seven to spearhead Fremd's attack.

But a rash of turnovers parlayed with the sharpshooting of Proviso's Desmond Rouse (17 points), Earl Murchison (15) and Manuel Wilbon (15) kept the Vikings at bay.

HIGHLIGHTS

It may be a short week, but it'll be filled with tradition and possible muscle-flexing by some of the bowl-bound teams as they conclude the regular season. And a few teams had better do some muscle-flexing if they expect to be bowl-bound!

U.C.L.A. is in the latter group. With a win over Southern California Friday night, the Bruins can wrap up the Pacific 8 title and a trip to the Rose Bowl. The Trojans are already headed for the Liberty Bowl, but they will have a deciding "vote" on U.C.L.A.'s future. A close vote . . . the Uclans will host the Rose Bowl, beating Southern Cal by six points.

Also on Friday night, the Southwest Conference comes down to the nitty-gritty. Texas A & M entertains Texas in a battle of unbeatens in the conference. If the Longhorns win—and they're favored by a point, they win the championship and a trip to the Cotton Bowl. If Texas A & M should win, there'll be an extended wait 'til next week when the Aggies play Arkansas.

In the annual service academy game in Philadelphia, one might say that Army will have the tradition, but Navy will have the power. Army's tradition in the past few years has been to lose, and this year looks to be no different. The powerful Midshipmen are 25-point favorites.

The championship of the Western Athletic Conference and the host spot in the Fiesta Bowl will be at stake as Arizona meets Arizona State. Although the Sun Devils are undefeated and the Wildcats have only lost one—and contrary to national polls—neither team's power quotient has been high enough to be ranked in our Top 20 more than two or three times during the season. Calibre of competition plays a big part in a team's rating. Arizona will just nip Arizona State by one point.

In three traditional games, each involving a team headed for a post-season bowl, Sugar Bowl-bound Alabama is favored by 24 points over Auburn. Florida is going to the Gator Bowl, and they should beat Miami by 21. And Georgia, a surprise participant in the Cotton Bowl, will wind up its regular season beating Georgia Tech by five points.

Of 2,066 games forecast through Saturday. November 15th, we've picked 1,574 correctly . . . missed on 492 . . . and 42 games have ended in ties. That gives us a "smile-and-frown" average of .762.

Sandy Mendenhall 4th in gym action

Sandy Mendenhall, competing for Gymnastics Unlimited in Schaumburg, finished fourth in the Elite Championship optional division at DuPage College Nov. 22-23.

She is now eligible to compete in the Olympic Trials in Texas on Dec. 6.

Sandy also took a first place at Mendota High School earlier this month in an Illinois state tumbling meet. Mimi Eberle won a title in her age bracket and Gary Buckley and Todd Falkenberg of the boys' team took third place in their respective brackets.

Area man wins in racquetball

Champions have been crowned in three divisions of the Illinois State Novice Racquetball Tournament hosted by Arlington Tennis and Racquetball Club in Palatine.

In competition over the weekend, Ric Dern of Hoffman Estates captured the Men's Division title by defeating Rick Hobday of Palatine, 21-16 and 21-7.

In the Women's Division, Kris Diggs of Rockford topped Cameron Dick of River Forest, 21-11 and 21-1. The Junior Division (under 18) match was won by Bruce Weiner of Lincolnwood who edged Steve Breckinridge of Palatine, 21-10 and 21-8.

The tournament drew a record number of entries in the rapidly-growing sport with nearly 75 players participating in all divisions.

Additional novice and open racquetball tournaments are being planned at the Palatine-located club.

HIGHLIGHTS

It may be a short week, but it'll be filled with tradition and possible muscle-flexing by some of the bowl-bound teams as they conclude the regular season. And a few teams had better do some muscle-flexing if they expect to be bowl-bound!

U.C.L.A. is in the latter group. With a win over Southern California Friday night, the Bruins can wrap up the Pacific 8 title and a trip to the Rose Bowl. The Trojans are already headed for the Liberty Bowl, but they will have a deciding "vote" on U.C.L.A.'s future. A close vote . . . the Uclans will host the Rose Bowl, beating Southern Cal by six points.

Also on Friday night, the Southwest Conference comes down to the nitty-gritty. Texas A & M entertains Texas in a battle of unbeatens in the conference. If the Longhorns win—and they're favored by a point, they win the championship and a trip to the Cotton Bowl. If Texas A & M should win, there'll be an extended wait 'til next week when the Aggies play Arkansas.

In the annual service academy game in Philadelphia, one might say that Army will have the tradition, but Navy will have the power. Army's tradition in the past few years has been to lose, and this year looks to be no different. The powerful Midshipmen are 25-point favorites.

The championship of the Western Athletic Conference and the host spot in the Fiesta Bowl will be at stake as Arizona meets Arizona State. Although the Sun Devils are undefeated and the Wildcats have only lost one—and contrary to national polls—neither team's power quotient has been high enough to be ranked in our Top 20 more than two or three times during the season. Calibre of competition plays a big part in a team's rating. Arizona will just nip Arizona State by one point.

In three traditional games, each involving a team headed for a post-season bowl, Sugar Bowl-bound Alabama is favored by 24 points over Auburn. Florida is going to the Gator Bowl, and they should beat Miami by 21. And Georgia, a surprise participant in the Cotton Bowl, will wind up its regular season beating Georgia Tech by five points.

Of 2,066 games forecast through Saturday, November 15th, we've picked 1,574 correctly . . . missed on 492 . . . and 42 games have ended in ties. That gives us a "smile-and-frown" average of .762.

Sandy Mendenhall 4th in gym action

Sandy Mendenhall, competing for Gymnastics Unlimited in Schaumburg, finished fourth in the Elite Championship optional division at DuPage College Nov. 22-23.

She is now eligible to compete in the Olympic Trials in Texas on Dec. 6.

Sandy also took a first place at Mendota High School earlier this month in an Illinois state tumbling meet. Mimi Eberle won a title in her age bracket and Gary Buckley and Todd Falkenberg of the boys' team took third place in their respective brackets.

Area man wins in racquetball

Champions have been crowned in three divisions of the Illinois State Novice Racquetball Tournament hosted by Arlington Tennis and Racquetball Club in Palatine.

In competition over the weekend, Ric Dern of Hoffman Estates captured the Men's Division title by defeating Rick Hobday of Palatine, 21-16 and 21-7.

In the Women's Division, Kris Diggs of Rockford topped Cameron Dick of River Forest, 21-11 and 21-1. The Junior Division (under 18) match was won by Bruce Weiner of Lincolnwood who edged Steve Breckinridge of Palatine, 21-10 and 21-8.

The tournament drew a record number of entries in the rapidly-growing sport with nearly 75 players participating in all divisions.

Additional novice and open racquetball tournaments are being planned at the Palatine-located club.

Chicago Jesters

PEEWEES

Park Ridge 5, Jesters 3

The Jesters were unable to hold a first period 3-1 lead. Park Ridge, skating well throughout the game, scored twice in each of last two periods for the victory. Jester goals were scored by Mike Garcia, John Kulpa, and Mike Gellinger. Assists went to Garcia (2) John Adams, Gellinger and Jeff Solber.

Jesters 2, Saints 2

Mike Marigliano played well in nets for Jesters, making 22 saves. Goals were scored by Brian Norris and Jeff Solber for the Jesters with assists going to Mitch Erich, Tim Kirkham and Mike Gellinger.

Spartans 4, Jesters 3

Spartans scored in final two minutes to notch the win after Jesters had fought from behind twice. Jester goals were scored by Mike Gellinger (2) and Mike Garcia. Assists went to Jeff Solber (2) and Garcia (2).

Minor Hawk Major 6, Jesters 0

Jesters 5, Aurora Flyers 5

Aurora Flyers came on strong scoring three goals in first minutes of first period. Jesters came back tying the score in the first period then going ahead 5-4 in 3rd period. In last few minutes of 3rd period Aurora scored to tie the game. Jesters goals scored by Jeff Solber (2), Mike Garcia, Mike Tomkins, Mike Gellinger. Assists going to Gellinger, Brian Norris, and Garcia.

St. Louis Sharks 2, Jesters 1

Jesters 3, St. Louis Rockets 2

Mike Garcia scored on a breakaway in the third period to break a 2-all tie and help the Jesters edge the Rockets. Garcia scored twice and Jeff Solber had the other Jester goal. Assists went to Garcia and Mike Gellinger (2).

Jesters 3, St. Louis-Affton 1

The Jesters skated well in their third game of the day to beat a good Affton team. Mike Garcia scored two goals and Louis Belpedio one. Assists went to Brian Norris, Pat Perner and Jeff Solber.

Jesters 5, St. Louis Rockets 2

The Jesters handled the Rockets for the second time in as many days and third time this year. Pat Perner and Mike Garcia each scored two goals with Mike Gellinger getting the other. Assists went to Mitch Erich (2) Brian Norris (2) John Adams, John Kulpa, Dan Jelinek, Dale Discher and Perner.

Jesters 7, St. Louis Sharks 1

Pat Perner opened the scoring with two shorthanded goals for the Jesters and completed his hat trick in the third period as the Jesters avenged their only loss of the St. Louis trip. Other goals were scored by John Adams, Brad Johnson, Louis Belpedio, and Mike Garcia. Assists were recorded by Mitch Erich, Mike Gellinger, Dino Guerin, Dan Jelinek (2) and Adams.

Chicago Jesters

PEEWEES

Park Ridge 5, Jesters 3

The Jesters were unable to hold a first period 3-1 lead. Park Ridge, skating well throughout the game, scored twice in each of last two periods for the victory. Jester goals were scored by Mike Garcia, John Kulpa, and Mike Gellinger. Assists went to Garcia (2) John Adams, Gellinger and Jeff Solber.

Jesters 2, Saints 2

Mike Marigliano played well in nets for Jesters, making 22 saves. Goals were scored by Brian Norris and Jeff Solber for the Jesters with assists going to Mitch Erich, Tim Kirkham and Mike Gellinger.

Spartans 4, Jesters 3

Spartans scored in final two minutes to notch the win after Jesters had fought from behind twice. Jester goals were scored by Mike Gellinger (2) and Mike Garcia. Assists went to Jeff Solber (2) and Garcia (2).

Minor Hawk Major 6, Jesters 0

Jesters 5, Aurora Flyers 5

Aurora Flyers came on strong scoring three goals in first minutes of first period. Jesters came back tying the score in the first period then going ahead 5-4 in 3rd period. In last few minutes of 3rd period Aurora scored to tie the game. Jesters goals scored by Jeff Solber (2), Mike Garcia, Mike Tomkins, Mike Gellinger. Assists going to Gellinger, Brian Norris, and Garcia.

St. Louis Sharks 2, Jesters 1

Jesters 3, St. Louis Rockets 2

Mike Garcia scored on a breakaway in the third period to break a 2-all tie and help the Jesters edge the Rockets. Garcia scored twice and Jeff Solber had the other Jester goal. Assists went to Garcia and Mike Gellinger (2).

Jesters 3, St. Louis-Affton 1

The Jesters skated well in their third game of the day to beat a good Affton team. Mike Garcia scored two goals and Louis Belpedio one. Assists went to Brian Norris, Pat Perner and Jeff Solber.

Jesters 5, St. Louis Rockets 2

The Jesters handled the Rockets for the second time in as many days and third time this year. Pat Perner and Mike Garcia each scored two goals with Mike Gellinger getting the other. Assists went to Mitch Erich (2) Brian Norris (2) John Adams, John Kulpa, Dan Jelinek, Dale Discher and Perner.

Jesters 7, St. Louis Sharks 1

Pat Perner opened the scoring with two shorthanded goals for the Jesters and completed his hat trick in the third period as the Jesters avenged their only loss of the St. Louis trip. Other goals were scored by John Adams, Brad Johnson, Louis Belpedio, and Mike Garcia. Assists were recorded by Mitch Erich, Mike Gellinger, Dino Guerin, Dan Jelinek (2) and Adams.

Ask Andy

Artemia survive almost everything

Andy sends a complete 20-volume set of the Merit Students Encyclopedia to David King, 11, of Oak Hill, W. Va., for his question:
WHAT IS AN ARTEMIA?

The artemia is at home in salty or extra-salty water which may be cool, warm or boiling hot. He looks like a busy little whisk broom, about as big as your fingernail. Though a saltwater creature, he is not found in the sea. And he can survive such a wide range of hardships that surely he deserves an award for endurance.

His more common name is the brine shrimp, and he can live in super-salty water where no other creatures can survive. Though he's only half an inch long, his cousins include the leggy lobsters and the crusty crabs. Artemia, the brine shrimp, looks like a glassy whisk broom — with a pair of turreted eyes on his head. You may not notice, but there is a third eye in the middle of his forehead.

His body is a long skinny streak, half of which is tail. His brushes are nine pairs of whiskery legs attached to his upper half and spreading like fluffy fans on either side. When trawling for food, he swims on his back catching floating morsels in his whiskers and sweeping them up into his mouth.

In most cases, the brine shrimp can survive in sea water and sometimes in almost fresh water. But he prefers water that is saltier than the sea, perhaps because predators cannot survive there. We find him in saltwater springs and ponds and in drying lakes that become saltier than the sea. Brine shrimp are very much at home in the extra-salty water of Utah's Great Salt Lake. Some types survive in water that is 10 times saltier than the sea.

Some brine shrimp are quite at home in salt springs where the steaming water reaches boiling point. And their eggs can survive even tougher conditions. In most cases the parents mate, but certain females produce fertile eggs without mating. Usually the female carries the eggs and young larvas in a pouch on her body, releasing them when conditions are favorable.

The tiny eggs are encased in super-tough shells, which enable them to survive through many years of drought. Lab experiments have proved that brine shrimp eggs can be totally dried out in a hot vacuum. When cooled and returned to salt water, they hatch. A few will survive after being boiled for a couple of hours.

Artemia, the brine shrimp, may look like a whispy feather from fairyland, but actually he is one of the most durable creatures on earth. Usually, wherever he lives he thrives in multitudes — safe from predators who cannot abide his saltwater home. Billions of brine shrimp are gathered to feed aquarium fishes. Their eggs are sold in packages, hatched in salt water and used to feed more fishes.

Andy sends a 7-volume set of C. S. Lewis' "Chronicles of Narnia" to Louise Correia, 12, of Taber, Alta., Canada, for her question:
HOW DO TURTLES REPRODUCE?

There are male and female turtles, and usually the mating season is in the spring. The male comes courting to attract the female's attention. The big Galapagos tortoise roars like a bull and nips the female's legs. A male sea turtle may swim on his back and stroke the female's cheek. Sometimes the female mate only once and lays clutches of eggs through several seasons.

She may be a small-, medium-or large-size turtle, but she is sure to dig a hole and lay her eggs in dirt or sand. She scoops out a flask-shaped nest and places the eggs inside.

Then she scrapes a pile of dirt or debris over the opening — goes off and forgets the whole thing. The round, soft-shelled eggs are incubated by the warm sun and usually hatch in a few weeks. The infants are mini-copies of the adults and all ready to take care of themselves. But sad to say, many of the eggs and babies are devoured by hungry animals — and others are stolen by people.

The artemia is at home in salty or extra-salty water which may be cool, warm or boiling hot. He looks like a busy little whisk broom, about as big as your fingernail. Though a saltwater creature, he is not found in the sea. And he can survive such a wide range of hardships that surely he deserves an award for endurance.

His more common name is the brine shrimp, and he can live in super-salty water where no other creatures can survive. Though he's only half an inch long, his cousins include the leggy lobsters and the crusty crabs. Artemia, the brine shrimp, looks like a glassy whisk broom — with a pair of turreted eyes on his head. You may not notice, but there is a third eye in the middle of his forehead.

His body is a long skinny streak, half of which is tail. His brushes are nine pairs of whiskery legs attached to his upper half and spreading like fluffy fans on either side. When trawling for food, he swims on his back catching floating morsels in his whiskers and sweeping them up into his mouth.

In most cases, the brine shrimp can survive in sea water and sometimes in almost fresh water. But he prefers water that is saltier than the sea, perhaps because predators cannot survive there. We find him in saltwater springs and ponds and in drying lakes that become saltier than the sea. Brine shrimp are very much at home in the extra-salty water of Utah's Great Salt Lake. Some types survive in water that is 10 times saltier than the sea.

Some brine shrimp are quite at home in salt springs where the steaming water reaches boiling point. And their eggs can survive even tougher conditions. In most cases the parents mate, but certain females produce fertile eggs without mating. Usually the female carries the eggs and young larvas in a pouch on her body, releasing them when conditions are favorable.

The tiny eggs are encased in supertough shells, which enable them to survive through many years of drought. Lab experiments have proved that brine shrimp eggs can be totally dried out in a hot vacuum. When cooled and returned to salt water, they hatch. A few will survive after being boiled for a couple of hours.

Artemia, the brine shrimp, may look like a whispy feather from fairyland, but actually he is one of the most durable creatures on earth. Usually, wherever he lives he thrives in multitudes — safe from predators who cannot abide his saltwater home. Billions of brine shrimp are gathered to feed aquarium fishes. Their eggs are sold in packages, hatched in salt water and used to feed more fishes.

Andy sends a 7-volume set of C. S. Lewis' "Chronicles of Narnia" to Louise Correia, 12, of Taber, Alta., Canada, for her question:
HOW DO TURTLES REPRODUCE?

There are male and female turtles, and usually the mating season is in the spring. The male comes courting to attract the female's attention. The big Galapagos tortoise roars like a bull and nips the female's legs. A male sea turtle may swim on his back and stroke the female's cheek. Sometimes the female mate only once and lays clutches of eggs through several seasons.

She may be a small-, medium-or large-size turtle, but she is sure to dig a hole and lay her eggs in dirt or sand. She scoops out a flask-shaped nest and places the eggs inside.

Then she scrapes a pile of dirt or debris over the opening — goes off and forgets the whole thing. The round, soft-shelled eggs are incubated by the warm sun and usually hatch in a few weeks. The infants are mini-copies of the adults and all ready to take care of themselves. But sad to say, many of the eggs and babies are devoured by hungry animals — and others are stolen by people.

Professor grabs heart lead in this hand

Win at bridge

by Oswald and Jim Jacoby

The student gasped when the Professor won the first trick with the ace of hearts over East's queen.

The Professor knocked out East's ace of clubs and claimed the balance after West cashed three heart tricks.

"Why didn't you duck the first heart?" asked the student, after the Professor had chalked up the rubber.

"I couldn't afford to," replied the Professor. "If I could have depended on my opponents to keep leading hearts everything would have been fine. I could have made an extra trick. But someone might have shifted to a spade and I would have chucked my contract."

"Suppose West had made the tricky opening lead of the lowest card of a five-card suit?" asked the student.

"I would have paid off," replied the Professor. "West might well have done that, but he would have needed five hearts first."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Professor grabs heart lead in this hand

Win at bridge

by Oswald and Jim Jacoby

The student gasped when the Professor won the first trick with the ace of hearts over East's queen.

The Professor knocked out East's ace of clubs and claimed the balance after West cashed three heart tricks.

"Why didn't you duck the first heart?" asked the student, after the Professor had chalked up the rubber.

"I couldn't afford to," replied the Professor. "If I could have depended on my opponents to keep leading hearts everything would have been fine. I could have made an extra trick. But someone might have shifted to a spade and I would have chucked my contract."

"Suppose West had made the tricky opening lead of the lowest card of a five-card suit?" asked the student.

"I would have paid off," replied the Professor. "West might well have done that, but he would have needed five hearts first."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE – Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

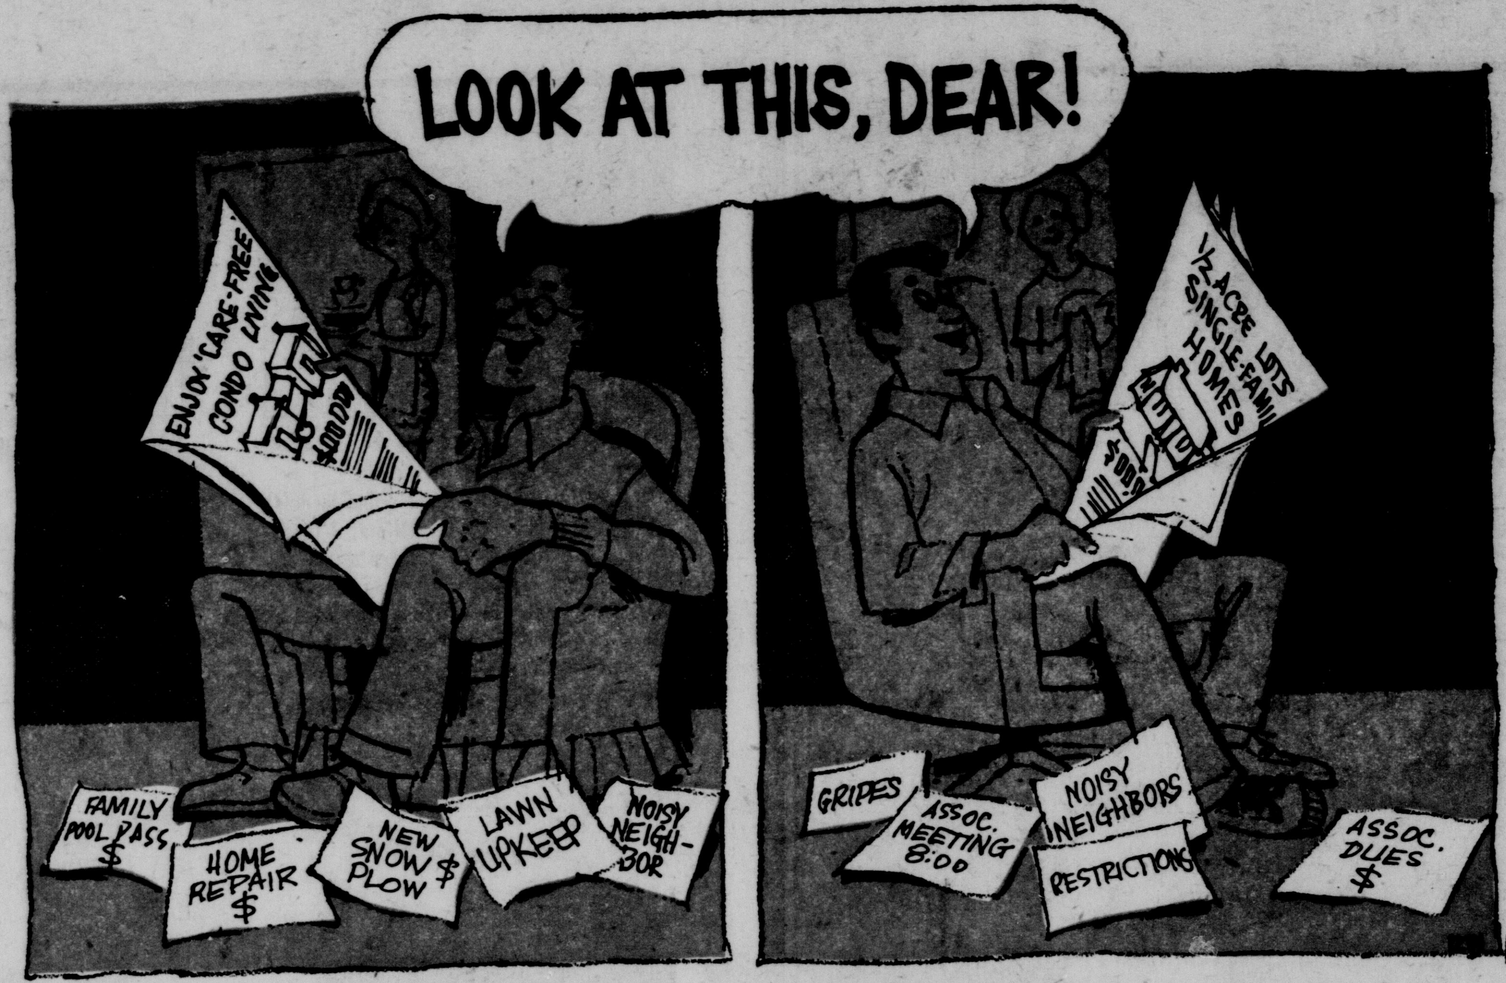
Participation key to successful condominium living

by ANNE SLAVICEK



The salesman in the condominium development model will tell you that living in a townhouse quadrohome or high rise condominium is "carefree living at its best."

Throughout the Northwest suburbs, owners of the new forms of "maintenance free" housing are discovering that the freedom from lawnmowing is no guarantee of carefree ownership.

In fact, owners find inattention to the activities of the condominium association and bylaws of the development can hurt a condominium owner's investment and make day-to-day living uncomfortable a lot faster than having a next-door neighbor in a single-family house who doesn't keep up his property.

"I HAVE AN investment here . . . either it was let somebody else make the wrong decisions or get involved and make the decisions myself," said Dennis Conley, former officer of the Sheffield Manor Homeowners Assn., Schaumburg.

Gordon Line, president of the Barrington Square Improvement Assn., for four years spent 20 to 35 hours a week involved in his townhouse development's problems. Now, with a full-time staff, he's down to 10 hours a week, but he says he doesn't fault others who aren't involved in the association." It's not really apathy. If you don't have a gripe there are better things to do than go to a board meeting," he said.

Donald Burton, president of the Huntington Commons Condominiums Homeowners Assn., Section One, in Mount Prospect, also thinks he spends more time on the association than he would maintaining a single family home. Like Conley, he said he believes, "condominium living is not what they advertise it to be. It's not carefree. You have to get involved because you have an investment to protect."

The three homeowners got involved in condominium association leadership several years ago. Conley lives in a quadrohome development. Line has a Hoffman Estates townhouse and Burton owns a condominium unit in a four-story building.

EACH OF THE homeowners was among the early residents of a nearby housing project. They share the experience as leaders of fledgling owner organizations.

Line's development, Barrington Square, is the only one of the three which dropped the services of a professional management firm and hired individuals to manage the affairs of the association. Line first got involved four years ago when his association's board was still controlled by Barrington Square's developer, Kaufman and Broad.

Line and another association board member were critical of the management firm hired to run the development and ended up persuading the builder to allow them to become managers of the association at no pay.

"They weren't competent, and they weren't maintenance-oriented. They didn't have any master plan for preventative maintenance, and they had no system to make sure the association fees were collected," Line said of the management firm.

The other board member who worked with Line to get self-management — Shirley Gibbons — is a full time coordinator of services for the Barrington Square Improvement Assn. She — like the other employes of the association including a superintendent of maintenance, an accountant, a tax lawyer and an attorney hired to handle association business on retainer — is an owner of one of the townhouses.

THE ASSOCIATION hires work crews to do lawn work, snow removal and regular maintenance. The 700-unit development had 38 employes last summer, and has a permanent, full-time maintenance crew.

Line says that as association president he finds himself more involved in policy decisions, negotiations with the developer and work on condominium legislation than routine maintenance problems.

He estimates 20 to 25 per cent of the residents are involved in at least one phase of the association. But there are other owners who pay their assessments and don't want the hassle or headaches of being involved in making the rules, Line said.

"It's a tremendous change. Four years ago there were large angry crowds at board meetings," Line said. Now the meetings are attended by fewer residents.

"If we get a call in the morning about a maintenance problem it's usually fixed that day," he explains.

Conley believes that Sheffield Manor, a development of 520 units, isn't large enough for self-management. The development changed management companies since control was transferred from the builder, Levitt and Sons, to the individual owners of the quadrohomes, however.

CONLEY LISTS problems that his condominium association has had to solve. "They were the usual problems at first — the sidewalks weren't in, the streets weren't in, there was no mail delivery," he said.

Owner apathy is a problem for some associations, Conley said. "Last year we raised the assessment. We had very good attendance at the meetings for a while," he said.

Another problem for the Sheffield Manor group is the withholding of monthly assessments by owners who have complaints against the builder. Conley said the association has had to take pool privileges away from some people, and the organization took out a mortgage lien on one owner who refused to pay.

Approximately 20 per cent of the Huntington Commons owners are involved in the association, Burton said. He said involvement is a matter of protecting an investment. The board increased assessments nearly 20 per cent when management control was changed from the builder, Kenroy, Inc. to the association.

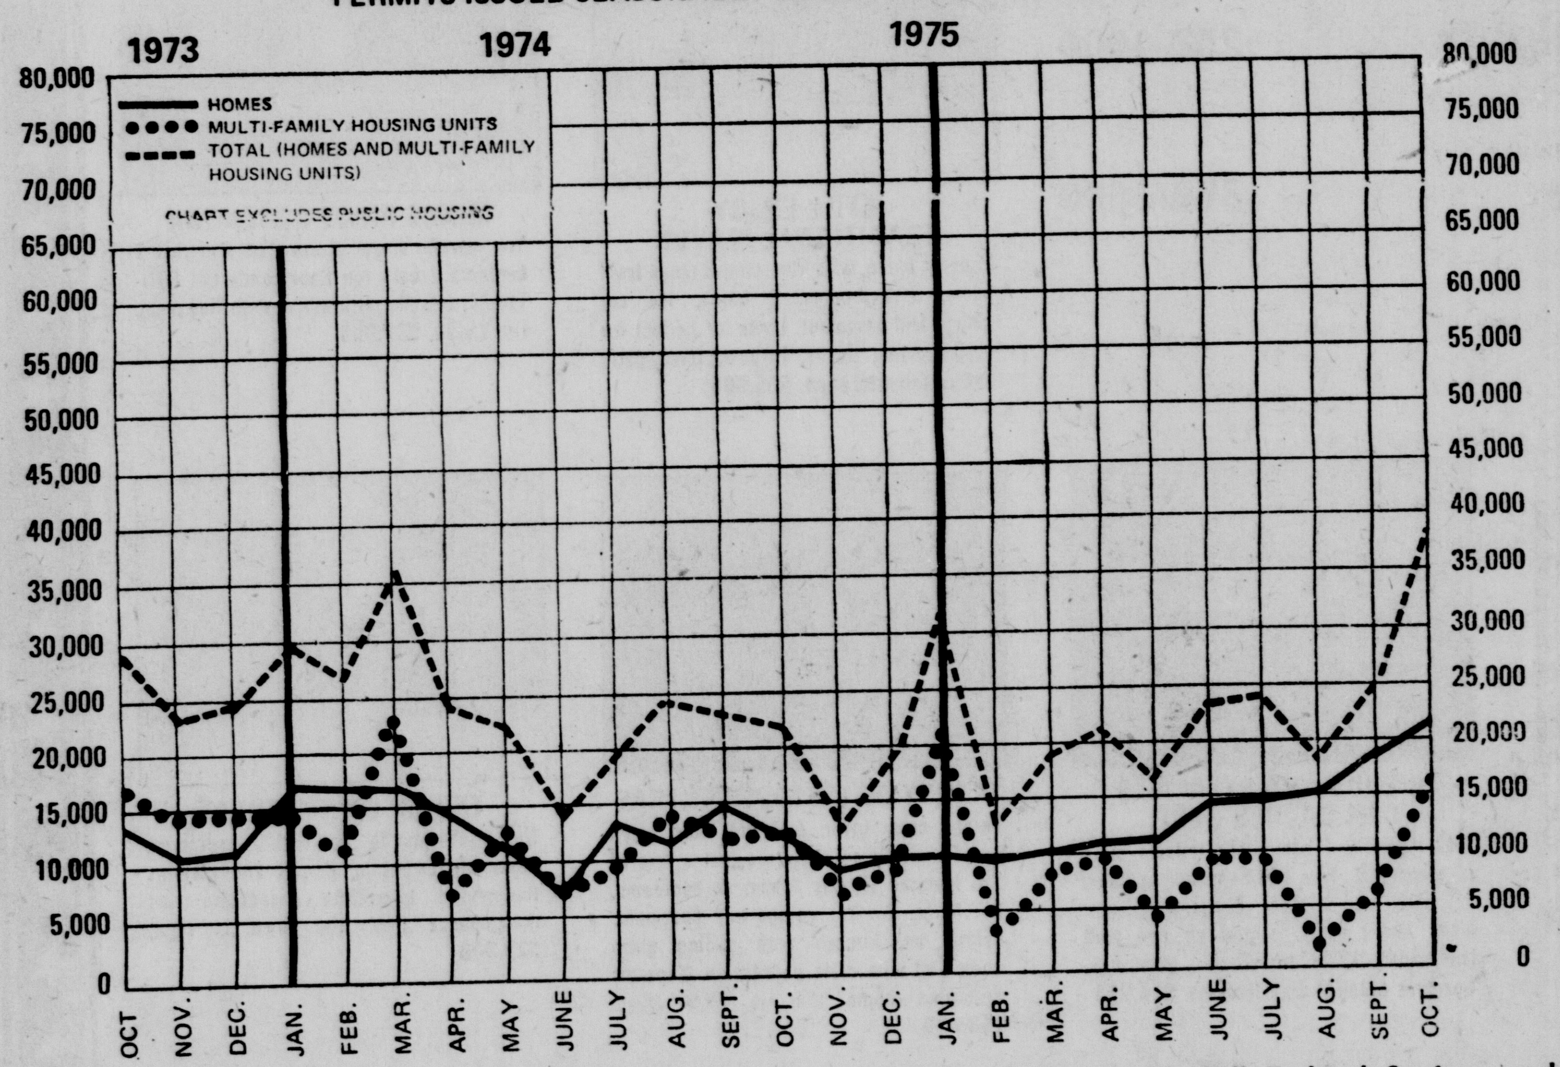
Burton says the problems his association has had to cope with stem from owners who aren't really happy with the concept of living in a condominium. "They didn't realize they would have to share the pool, they don't like the loud stereos of their neighbors, they are irritated by the rules, and they argue that it's their home and they can do whatever they want," he said.

THE DECISION to ban individual outside Christmas decorations caused owner discontent, Burton said. Other issues include car washing in the indoor garage, the question of management agent prodding and the dedication of private streets as public roadways.

Burton, as Conley and Line, believes that participation in homeowners associations is the key to a successful development. "This is a government, a small government that's very local. People should be more interested in who is president of their condominium association than in who is president of the U.S., because that board governs their everyday living," Burton said.

HOUSING CONSTRUCTION INDICATOR

PERMITS ISSUED SEASONALLY ADJUSTED AT ANNUAL RATE



HOUSING PERMITS in the Chicago metropolitan area increased 74 per cent compared to last year according to a report by Bell Federal Savings and Loan Assn., Chicago.

Housing starts up 74% over year ago

New housing starts during October increased 74 per cent compared to year-earlier figures, said a report released this week by Bell Federal Savings and Loan Assn., Chicago.

In the suburbs, new home permits jumped 68 per cent from 919 units a year ago to 1,547 permits during October. Schaumburg is among the top 10 Chicago metropolitan area housing leaders for 1975, the Bell survey shows. Plans for 484 homes were recorded for the first 10 months of the year.

For the six-county Chicago metropolitan area, home permits increased during October to 1,979 units compared to 1,116 in October of the previous year. Apartment construction, which has been the slowest to improve, rose 70 per cent from 1,020 units in October, 1974 to 1,737 apartments in October of this year.

IN THE NORTHWEST suburbs, home building permits in October compared to year-earlier figures are as follows:

	Oct. 1975	Oct. 1974
Arlington Heights	15	8
Buffalo Grove	22	54
Des Plaines	11	1
Elk Grove Village	5	3
Hoffman Estates	20	6
Mount Prospect	4	14
Palatine	11	2
Schaumburg	104	79
Wheeling	12	50

Multi-family home permits issued during October include 38 units in Buffalo Grove, 48 units in Des Plaines and 138 units in Mount Prospect.

The October seasonally adjusted annual housing rate increased 47 per cent compared to the September level. This marks the second month of improvement, the Bell report said. October permits were issued at an annual housing rate equivalent to 37,500 units.

Building permits for all types of construction including residential, commercial and industrial projects, totaled $207,447,516 during October. The figure is a 25 per cent increase compared to the year earlier report of $165,388,777. Total permit values increased 127 per cent in Chicago, 9 per cent in Chicago area suburbs and 12 per cent in unincorporated areas.

Participation key to successful condominium living

by ANNE SLAVICEK

The salesman in the condominium development model will tell you that living in a townhouse quadrohome or high rise condominium is "carefree living at its best."

Throughout the Northwest suburbs, owners of the new forms of "maintenance free" housing are discovering that the freedom from lawnmowing is no guarantee of carefree ownership.

In fact, owners find inattention to the activities of the condominium association and bylaws of the development can hurt a condominium owner's investment and make day-to-day living uncomfortable a lot faster than having a next-door neighbor in a single-family house who doesn't keep up his property.

"I HAVE AN investment here . . . either it was let somebody else make the wrong decisions or get involved and make the decisions myself," said Dennis Conley, former officer of the Sheffield Manor Homeowners Assn., Schaumburg.

Gordon Line, president of the Barrington Square Improvement Assn., for four years spent 20 to 35 hours a week involved in his townhouse development's problems. Now, with a full-time staff, he's down to 10 hours a week, but he says he doesn't fault others who aren't involved in the association." It's not really apathy. If you don't have a gripe there are better things to do than go to a board meeting," he said.

Donald Burton, president of the Huntington Commons Condominiums Homeowners Assn., Section One, in Mount Prospect, also thinks he spends more time on the association than he would maintaining a single family home. Like Conley, he said he believes, "condominium living is not what they advertise it to be. It's not carefree. You have to get involved because you have an investment to protect."

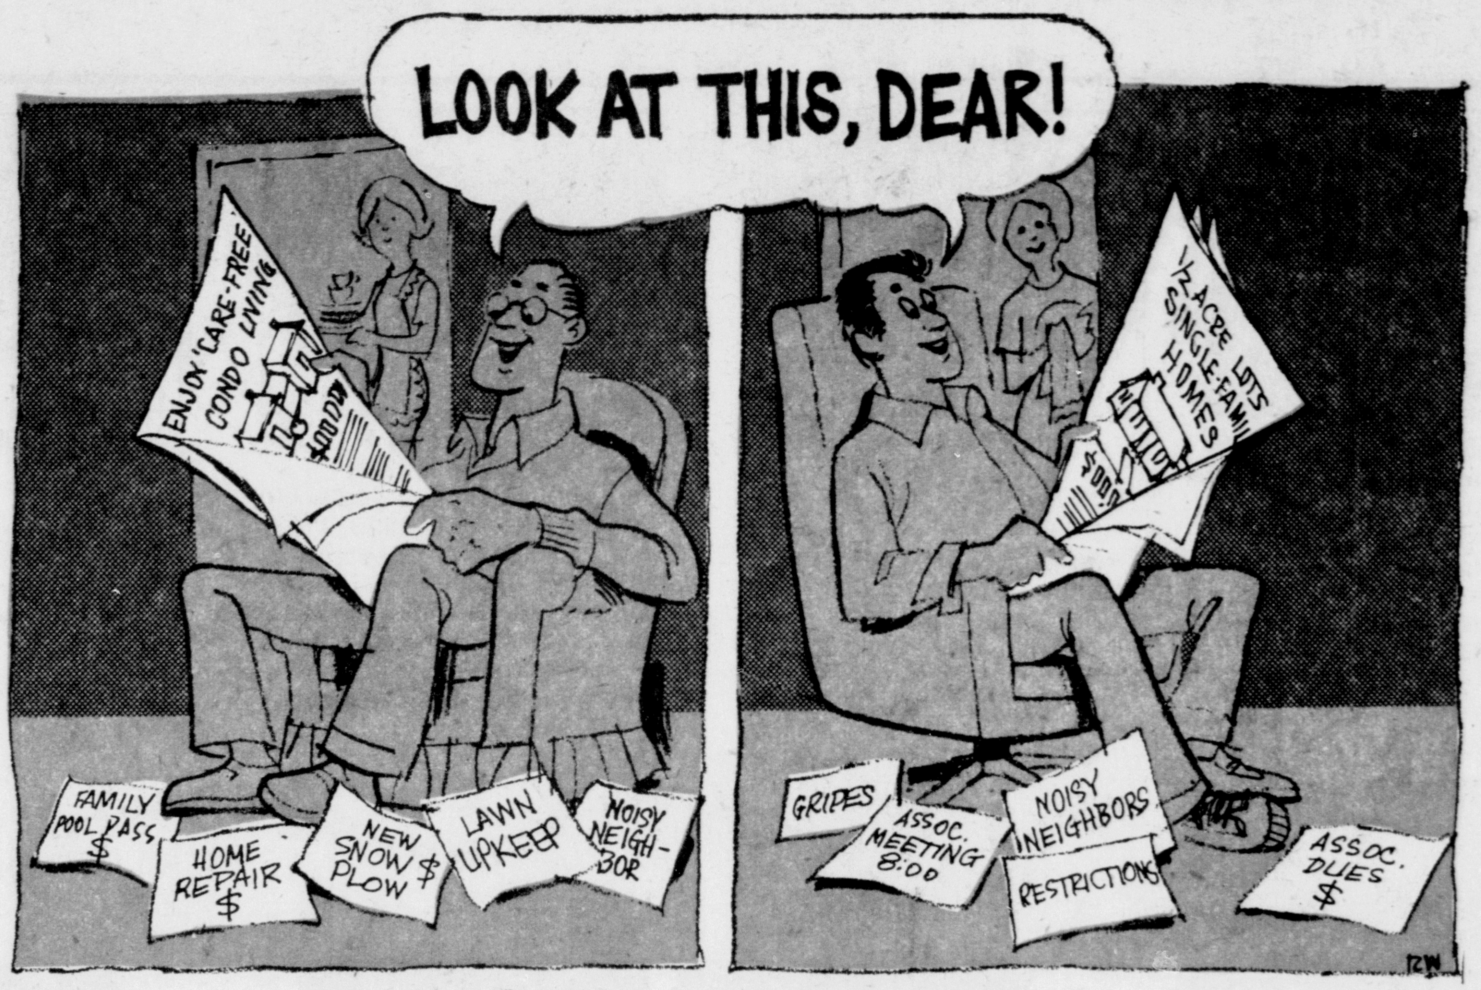
The three homeowners got involved in condominium association leadership several years ago. Conley lives in a quadrohome development. Line has a Hoffman Estates townhouse and Burton owns a condominium unit in a four-story building.

EACH OF THE homeowners was among the early residents of a nearby housing project. They share the experience as leaders of fledgling owner organizations.

Line's development, Barrington Square, is the only one of the three which dropped the services of a professional management firm and hired individuals to manage the affairs of the association. Line first got involved four years ago when his association's board was still controlled by Barrington Square's developer, Kaufman and Broad.

Line and another association board member were critical of the management firm hired to run the development and ended up persuading the builder to allow them to become managers of the association at no pay.

"They weren't competent, and they weren't maintenance-oriented. They didn't have any master plan for preventative maintenance, and they had no system to make sure the association fees were collected," Line said of the management firm.



The other board member who worked with Line to get self-management — Shirley Gibbons — is a full time coordinator of services for the Barrington Square Improvement Assn. She — like the other employes of the association including a superintendent of maintenance, an accountant, a tax lawyer and an attorney hired to handle association business on retainer — is an owner of one of the townhouses.

THE ASSOCIATION hires work crews to do lawn work, snow removal and regular maintenance. The 700-unit development had 38 employes last summer, and has a permanent, full-time maintenance crew.

Line says that as association president he finds himself more involved in policy decisions, negotiations with the developer and work on condominium legislation than routine maintenance problems.

He estimates 20 to 25 per cent of the residents are involved in at least one phase of the association. But there are other owners who pay their assessments and don't want the hassle or headaches of being involved in making the rules, Line said.

"It's a tremendous change. Four years ago there were large angry crowds at board meetings," Line said. Now the meetings are attended by fewer residents.

"If we get a call in the morning about a maintenance problem it's usually fixed that day," he explains.

Conley believes that Sheffield Manor, a development of 520 units, isn't large enough for self-management. The development changed management companies since control was transferred from the builder, Levitt and Sons, to the individual owners of the quadrohomes, however.

CONLEY LISTS problems that his condominium association has had to solve. "They were the usual problems at first — the sidewalks weren't in, the streets weren't in, there was no mail delivery," he said.

Owner apathy is a problem for some associations, Conley said. "Last year we raised the assessment. We had very good attendance at the meetings for a while," he said.

Another problem for the Sheffield Manor group is the withholding of monthly assessments by owners who have complaints against the builder. Conley said the association has had to take pool privileges away from some people, and the organization took out a mortgage lien on one owner who refused to pay.

Approximately 20 per cent of the Huntington Commons owners are involved in the association, Burton said. He said involvement is a matter of protecting an investment. The board increased assessments nearly 20 per cent when management control was changed from the builder, Kenroy, Inc. to the association.

Burton says the problems his association has had to cope with stem from owners who aren't really happy with the concept of living in a condominium. "They didn't realize they would have to share the pool, they don't like the loud stereos of their neighbors, they are irritated by the rules, and they argue that it's their home and they can do whatever they want," he said.

THE DECISION to ban individual outside Christmas decorations caused owner discontent, Burton said. Other issues include car washing in the indoor garage, the question of management agent prodding and the dedication of private streets as public roadways.

Burton, as Conley and Line, believes that participation in homeowners associations is the key to a successful development. "This is a government, a small government that's very local. People should be more interested in who is president of their condominium association than in who is president of the U.S., because that board governs their everyday living," Burton said.

MAP sales show increase

A total of 566 home sales in October, 1975, was reported by MAP Multiple Listing Real Estate Service, an approximate 55 per cent increase over the previous period in 1974 with a proportionate increase in overall sales volume.

The report was made by Stan Lieberman, president of MAP Multiple Listing Real Estate Service, and reflects the real estate sales activity of all MAP Multiple offices in the area.

Of the 566 sales, 337 sales were directly attributed to multiple sales participation among MAP Real Estate offices. The total MAP sales volume for October, 1975, exceeded $28 million and the average per home sale was over $50,000 an all-time high in the MAP real estate market area.

"The October sales figures are another definite indication of the consistent home market in the northwest suburbs and an even stronger indication of the influence of MAP Multiple Listing Service as one of Mid-America's most active real estate sales organizations," Lieberman said.

"Our overall sales picture is enlightening and I feel strongly that the market will continue to remain healthy and active," said Lieberman. "Our sales are running over 20 per cent of last year and from all indications, the customer confidence and the stronger transferee market will continue to grow even stronger in 1976."

MAP Multiple Listing Real Estate Service serves the principal communities of Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights, Palatine, Prospect Heights, Buffalo Grove, Wheeling, Elk Grove Village, Rolling Meadows, Schaumburg, Hanover Park, Streamwood and Hoffman Estates.

MR. AND MRS. BERNARD O'Connor of Rolling Meadows, right, check some of the reading material they received as winners of a one-week trip for two to Washington, D.C. The trip was the grand prize given by The Herald at the Eastman Kodak multi-media show "Profile '76." Making the presentation was Linda Fischer, promotion manager of The Herald.

To relocate office

IDC Real Estate/Chicago has announced that Systematic Recycling, Inc. will relocate their northwest suburban offices to The Tower office building in Rolling Meadows.

Systematic Recycling, Inc., paper brokers and recyclers, are currently located on Lake-Cook Road in Palatine.

The Tower office complex will house the international, national and regional headquarters for major corporations. The first tenants took occupancy in October, and the complex is already 57 per cent leased.

Tom Stengren tops $1 million

Tom Stengren, principle of Century 21-Countryside's Mt. Prospect office, surpassed one million dollars in real estate sales as of October. Stengren has been active in real estate in the northwest suburban area since 1971. He is a member of the board of directors for the Optimist Club of Arlington Heights, and has resided in the Arlington Heights area with his wife Rosemary for six years.

MR. AND MRS. BERNARD O'Connor of Rolling Meadows, right, check some of the reading material they received as winners of a one-week trip for two to Washington, D.C. The trip was the grand prize given by The Herald at the Eastman Kodak multi-media show "Profile '76." Making the presentation was Linda Fischer, promotion manager of The Herald.

To relocate office

IDC Real Estate/Chicago has announced that Systematic Recycling, Inc. will relocate their northwest suburban offices to The Tower office building in Rolling Meadows.

Systematic Recycling, Inc., paper brokers and recyclers, are currently located on Lake-Cook Road in Palatine.

The Tower office complex will house the international, national and regional headquarters for major corporations. The first tenants took occupancy in October, and the complex is already 57 per cent leased.

Tom Stengren tops $1 million

Tom Stengren, principle of Century 21-Countryside's Mt. Prospect office, surpassed one million dollars in real estate sales as of October. Stengren has been active in real estate in the northwest suburban area since 1971. He is a member of the board of directors for the Optimist Club of Arlington Heights, and has resided in the Arlington Heights area with his wife Rosemary for six years.

J. C. Penney offers Bicentennial music package to schools

A "last call" to high schools and colleges in the Woodfield area which have not yet requested JCPenney's Bicentennial gift of American music was issued by Sam Casady.

"So far, 23 high schools and one college in the Woodfield area have received their sets of the Bicentennial Musical Celebration," Casady said. "We want to be sure that every school with a band, orchestra or choral group receives its package of music before our supply runs out."

To date, more than 24,000 schools throughout the United States and Puerto Rico have received the Bicentennial Musical Celebration as a gift from JCPenney in honor of our country's 200th birthday. There are about 30,000 high schools and colleges in the United States.

In addition, several thousand Celebration sets have been presented to churches, choral societies, Girl Scout and Boy Scout organizations, police and fire department bands and public libraries. The United States Information Agency has requested and received 85 complete sets for its key posts overseas.

The Bicentennial Musical Celebration contains 35 selections consisting of 70 minutes of music specially arranged to recapture America's past and 30 minutes of newly-commissioned works by contemporary American composers. None of it is available from commercial sources. All of it is scored in sheet music form with parts for full band, choral group or orchestra. Music for rock and jazz groups is included as well as folk songs, madrigals and band music dating as far back as 1770.

Announce land sale

Bennett & Kahnweiler Associates announces the sale of an 87,000 square foot parcel of land at the northeast corner of Greenleaf Avenue and Lively Boulevard, Elk Grove Village, to International Processing Company. The purchaser will construct a one story 30,000 square foot manufacturing facility to accommodate the firm's electro-plating business.

BACK TO WORK...
but at reduced earnings.

You have already received benefits for the period you were totally disabled. But now, what? Your disablement restricts activity, cuts down your earnings, and continues to drain savings.

Provident Mutual introduces a new income protection policy embracing a dual concept:

Full policy benefits during periods of total disability AND ALSO sensible blend of partial benefits and limited earned income after you have returned to work on a part-time basis because of a disability's RESIDUAL effects.

There are a lot of other plus factors with this new policy: a hedge against inflation, 10-day approval, an option to purchase more benefits at a future time regardless of the state of your health . . . and so on. I can explain them almost quicker than you can trip and break a leg!

To date, more than 24,000 schools throughout the United States and Puerto Rico have received the Bicentennial Musical Celebration as a gift from JCPenney in honor of our country's 200th birthday. There are about 30,000 high schools and colleges in the United States.

In addition, several thousand Celebration sets have been presented to churches, choral societies, Girl Scout and Boy Scout organizations, police and fire department bands and public libraries. The United States Information Agency has requested and received 85 complete sets for its key posts overseas.

The Bicentennial Musical Celebration contains 35 selections consisting of 70 minutes of music specially arranged to recapture America's past and 30 minutes of newly-commissioned works by contemporary American composers. None of it is available from commercial sources. All of it is scored in sheet music form with parts for full band, choral group or orchestra. Music for rock and jazz groups is included as well as folk songs, madrigals and band music dating as far back as 1770.

Announce land sale

Bennett & Kahnweiler Associates announces the sale of an 87,000 square foot parcel of land at the northeast corner of Greenleaf Avenue and Lively Boulevard, Elk Grove Village, to International Processing Company. The purchaser will construct a one story 30,000 square foot manufacturing facility to accommodate the firm's electro-plating business.

BACK TO WORK...
but at reduced earnings.

You have already received benefits for the period you were totally disabled. But now, what? Your disablement restricts activity, cuts down your earnings, and continues to drain savings.

Provident Mutual introduces a new income protection policy embracing a dual concept:

Full policy benefits during periods of total disability AND ALSO sensible blend of partial benefits and limited earned income after you have returned to work on a part-time basis because of a disability's RESIDUAL effects.

There are a lot of other plus factors with this new policy: a hedge against inflation, 10-day approval, an option to purchase more benefits at a future time regardless of the state of your health . . . and so on. I can explain them almost quicker than you can trip and break a leg!

LET'S TALK IT OVER

JERRY BOUSCHARD

When real estate changes hands, there are certain "closing costs" incurred, over and above the agreed-to selling price of the property. Taxes and interest, for example, are expenses which may have been already paid by the seller but now, to be perfectly fair, they must be pro-rated between buyer and seller. This is done in proportion to the time each was in possession of the property during the year.

Each party . . . buyer and seller . . . may deduct the pro-rated amount only as a taxable deduction, even though one party actually made the actual payment in full.

You need skilled counsel on tax matters and you need expert advice on real estate transactions. "Let's talk it over," while you're in the planning stage.

Expert offers care tips for house plants in winter

House plants can help create a pleaant home environment. Small plants can add color and scenery to windows or tables, while large ones can soften and blend with groups of furniture.

However, many people are often puzzled as to why some house plants thrive while others refuse to flourish, even with tender loving care, says James A. Fizzell, horticulturist, University of Illinois Extension Service in Cook County.

First, you must realize that many house plants are really native to the tropical forest. So, it is necessary to create an environment that meets the basic needs of these plants.

Plants vary considerably in their requirement for light. Such plants as Croton need direct sunlight while Philodendron or Swedish Ivy will grow under low light intensity, says Fizzell.

Incandescent light, or artificial fluorescent light 10 to 14 inches above the plants will provide enough light for plants that need medium intensity such as African Violets. If you use fluorescent tubes, use combination of half warm white and half cool white, Fizzell adds.

Most house plants grow well between 60 to 70 degrees Fahrenheit. Temperatures above 75 degrees make plants more spindly, less resistant to disease and insects and hasten the death of flowers.

Since many house plants are of tropical origin, they need a higher humidity than is usually available in the average home. Sprinkling or spraying plants with water on bright days may be helpful in raising the humidity around the leaves. Growing plants together or setting them on a tray of gravel with moisture in the tray is also helpful.

Improper watering is the cause of most house plant problems, says Fizzell. Both under and over watering may cause plants' leaves to yellow and fall off. Be sure the container in which the plant is growing has adequate drainage. Never let the plant stand in water continuously.

Most house plants, except those with hairy leaves, respond to an occasional bath. Syringing the plants weekly with a fine spray of clean water removes accumulated dust and keeps the stomates (pores) open. Fizzell suggests showering small plants in the sink or shower.

Broad-leaved plants such as palms may be cleaned by dusting with a soft cloth. Use a fine, soft brush, such as camel's hair to clean hairy-leafed plants, concludes Fizzell.

Six hit million dollar mark

Six associates with Annen & Busse, Inc., Realtors, reached their million dollar sales mark during the month of October.

John Bulczak, resident of the northwest suburbs for the past 12 years and a four-year veteran in the real estate field, is the newest member of the Annen & Busse Million Dollar Sales Club. He serves his clients from the firm's Arlington Heights Office.

Pearl Dombrowski, associated with Annen & Busse in their Arlington Heights location since 1968, has received her million dollar honors for the fourth time and is also a former recipient of the firm's President's Club Award. She is a lifetime member of the MAP Multiple Listing Service' Million Dollar Sales club as well as the Illinois Association of Realtors' Million Dollar Sales Club.

Muriel Hogarty, in her eleventh year with Annen & Busse, Mount Prospect, has maintained her million dollar sales status for eight of those 11 years. She is also a lifetime member of the MAP Million Dollar Sales Club and the IAR Million Dollar Sales Club. She is an active member and former director of the Women In Real Estate organization.

Nancy Olexik, a member of the staff in the Annen & Busse Palatine Office, has reached her sales mark for the second year in a row, having just started in the real estate profession only three years ago. She has the particularly unique talent of fluently speaking six languages and finds this is a special way of being of service to clients.

Pete Rodgers, office sales manager of the Annen & Busse Palatine location, is an eight-year member of the firm and has repeated his Million Dollar Sales Club membership consistently over those years. He is a Lifetime Member of the MAP Multiple Listing Service Million Dollar Sales Club.

Del Sears, associate office manager of Annen & Busse, Mount Prospect, celebrated his 10th anniversary with the firm this year. This is Sears' fifth time honored for his Million Dollar sales achievement and he is a Lifetime Member of the MAP Multiple Listing Service and the Illinois Association of Realtors' Million Dollar Sales Clubs.

Just Pants opens

The 37th Just Pants store has opened in Randhurst, Mount Prospect, featuring a new floor design for the national pants merchandisers but retaining its popular monster wall of pants.

Ken Metcalfe, who has been with the Just Pants organization for four years, was named Randhurst's store manager. Metcalfe estimates that already 5,000 pairs of pants are available in the store, about 1,000 shirt and top styles and more on the way.

Draw your drapes

Drawn drapes add coziness to your room in winter, psychologically and realistically. The softness of the fabric provides a mood of warmth, and mellows the tonal qualities of sound, both speech and music. The drapes also create a barrier against the outside cold, and increase your comfort in other ways as well, reports the National Better Heating-Cooling Council.

The closed drapes act as a barrier against incursions of cold wind that might be leaking in through the window frames. If the drapes reach to the floor, and there is hot-water baseboard along that cold outside wall, the baseboard will provide a vertical layer of warmth between drapes and wall. This minimizes air movement inside the room and maintains an even level of temperature throughout the room.

CAUTION: If there is electric basebaord instead of hotwater baseboard, do not use drapes down to the floor; electric baseboard must not be covered, and the drapes should terminate at least 6" above the top of the baseboard.

Another comfort feature provided by full drapes is the reduction in body heat loss. The basic laws of physics mandate that a warm body will radiate heat towards a cold wall. This is the cause of the "shivering seventies," when the air in the room is 72 degrees or higher, yet the human body feels chilly because it continues to radiate its heat at an uncomfortable rate. By creating a vertical zone of warmth behind the drapes that problem is eliminated.

Leasing reported

Bennett & Kahnweiler Associates reports the leasing of the one story 13,500 square foot building at 201 Scott Street, Elk Grove Village, to the Diamed Division of Illinois Tool Works. Diamed plans to use the facility to accommodate the expansion of their rapidly growing medical equipment operation.

Vernon F. Schultz of Bennett & Kahnweiler Associates represented Illinois Tool Works and Roger Baum and Don Hawkins of Gladstone Realty represented the lessor. Both parties were represented by house counsel in the transaction totaling more than $125,000.

Plan ahead for moving day

Moving day is an emotional trauma, psychologists testify to that, but according to one apartment development manager, there is no reason why a person's bank account must be similarly shocked by the event.

"The amount of money you spend on moving depends almost entirely on how far in advance you begin to plan for the event," says Ray Wojcik, resident manager of Barrington Lakes in Hoffman Estates. "I always say that the day you unpack at one new home is the day you should start preparing for your move to the next!"

This "planning" should begin with the type of furniture you purchase, Wojcik said. "If you haven't put your roots down yet and figure you will be moving a time or two more before settling down, then I suggest buying sofas and other expensive pieces of furniture in neutral colors. That way they will fit in no matter what color rug or paint your next apartment has."

Another thing to avoid is putting up gaudy wallpaper or supergraphics that before moving day will have to be taken down. "Sometimes your landlord will let you leave it up, but if he won't you will be faced with the expensive task of renting a steamer and perhaps even having to repaint the wall before you can get your deposit back."

Anyway, an excellent substitute for wallpaper is available that costs less and also can be taken with you when you go, Wojcik said. "Once when I had a large ugly wall to hide, I made a large wooden frame out of one by twos and stretched fabric over it. Not only was the fabric panel easier than wallpaper to put up and take down, but, as the decorating focal point, it could be changed, based on the seasons and our moods."

Wojcik said he can never emphasize enough how happy the person will be on moving day who has taken good care of his old apartment while he was living there. "Most people think that if need be, their security deposit will cover everything. They should read their lease. The fact is, you are responsible for any and all damage, and if it is more than the deposit, the landlord has the right to charge you."

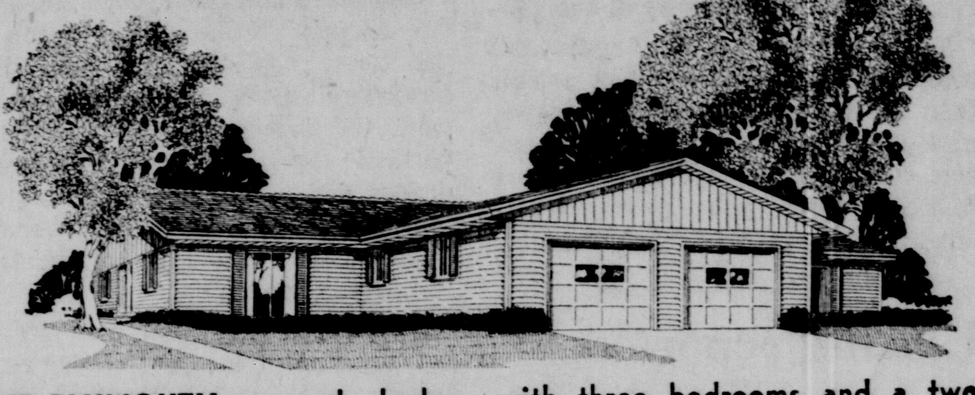
So Wojcik suggests that a person get started on the task of fixing up his old home well in advance of his moving date. Any holes in the wall bigger than a quarter of an inch in diameter should be patched; appliances should be cleaned; and keys should be gathered together to be returned. "Don't be tempted to cut your nose off to spite your face. Do these things regardless of what you think about your old landlord," Wojcik said.

The features of the new apartment can also result in moving day savings, Wojcik said. "Frankly, I think a person should look for a place like Barrington Lakes where such things as draperies, wood paneling, shower curtains, carpeting and grasscloth wall covering are standard. These things really save on your 'start-up costs,'" he said.

The kind of lease a person signs is a final cost factor to be considered, Wojcik said. "Ask the management firm if it offers a one-and a two-year lease. While the two-year lease allows you to better plan your budget, if you think you may be moving — for job-related reasons, a pending marriage, etc. — you should probably opt for the one-year lease. Just make sure it has a transfer and/or subletting clause," he said.

Barrington Lakes is a $20 million, 45-acre development with apartments ranging in size from a studio to a two-bedroom with den, and renting from $185 to $425 per month. The community includes a 10-acre stocked lake, lighted tennis courts, and a clubhouse with a resident lounge, wet bar, kitchen, billiards room, gymnasiums and locker rooms for men and women.

To visit the five furnished models, which are open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. seven days a week, take the Northwest Tollway to the Barrington Road exit. Travel south on Barrington Road to the first intersection (Hassell Road) and turn east. Barrington Lakes is about a half mile down Hassell Road on the left.



THE PLYMOUTH, a ranch duplex model at Campanelli's Weathersfield 21, features 2½ baths with three bedrooms and a two car garage.

Appoint Frank manager

Richard Frank has been appointed resident manager of the Country Lane Apartments at 1460 Fairlane Dr. in Schaumburg. Baird & Warner, Inc. is management agent for the 284-unit complex.

Frank has been associated with Baird & Warner since 1973 and has had a variety of managerial assignments throughout the Chicago metropolitan area, including Near North, West Side, and South Side properties.

His most recent post was as manager of the Twelve Oaks apartments in Arlington Heights.

Addressograph Multigraph Corporation, Mount Prospect, was recently presented a Northern Illinois Gas Company Energy Conservation Achievement Award.

Accepting the honor were Louis Howizt, vice president of manufacturing, and Laurence Mielenz, division energy conservation coordinator of Addressograph Corporation.

Addressograph, the only company in Mount Prospect to receive the award this year, was recognized for its contribution toward the wiser use of gas energy.

Joe Kaltwasser, NI-Gas division area sales manager, said Addressograph achieved more efficient energy utilization through the installation of a gas heat recovery system.

building/development

Plan ahead for moving day

Moving day is an emotional trauma, psychologists testify to that, but according to one apartment development manager, there is no reason why a person's bank account must be similarly shocked by the event.

"The amount of money you spend on moving depends almost entirely on how far in advance you begin to plan for the event," says Ray Wojcik, resident manager of Barrington Lakes in Hoffman Estates. "I always say that the day you unpack at one new home is the day you should start preparing for your move to the next!"

This "planning" should begin with the type of furniture you purchase, Wojcik said. "If you haven't put your roots down yet and figure you will be moving a time or two more before settling down, then I suggest buying sofas and other expensive pieces of furniture in neutral colors. That way they will fit in no matter what color rug or paint your next apartment has."

Another thing to avoid is putting up gaudy wallpaper or supergraphics that before moving day will have to be taken down. "Sometimes your landlord will let you leave it up, but if he won't you will be faced with the expensive task of renting a steamer and perhaps even having to repaint the wall before you can get your deposit back."

Anyway, an excellent substitute for wallpaper is available that costs less and also can be taken with you when you go, Wojcik said. "Once when I had a large ugly wall to hide, I made a large wooden frame out of one by twos and stretched fabric over it. Not only was the fabric panel easier than wallpaper to put up and take down, but, as the decorating focal point, it could be changed, based on the seasons and our moods."

Wojcik said he can never emphasize enough how happy the person will be on moving day who has taken good care of his old apartment while he was living there. "Most people think that if need be, their security deposit will cover everything. They should read their lease. The fact is, you are responsible for any and all damage, and if it is more than the deposit, the landlord has the right to charge you."

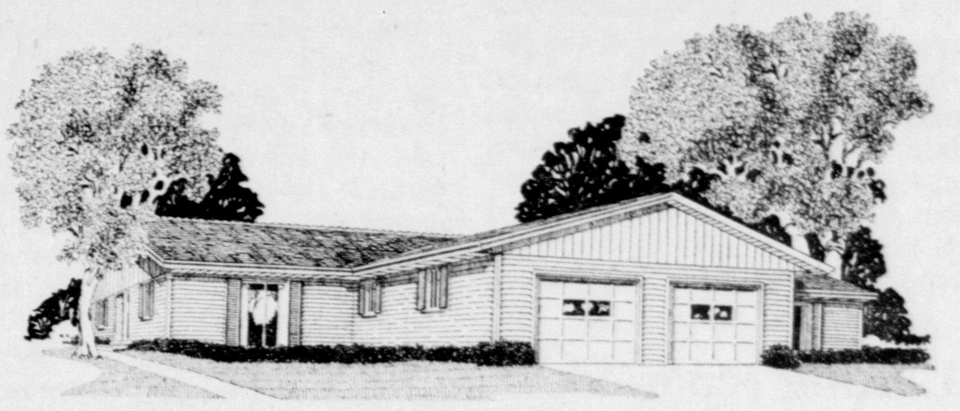
So Wojcik suggests that a person get started on the task of fixing up his old home well in advance of his moving date. Any holes in the wall bigger than a quarter of an inch in diameter should be patched; appliances should be cleaned; and keys should be gathered together to be returned. "Don't be tempted to cut your nose off to spite your face. Do these things regardless of what you think about your old landlord," Wojcik said.

The features of the new apartment can also result in moving day savings, Wojcik said. "Frankly, I think a person should look for a place like Barrington Lakes where such things as draperies, wood paneling, shower curtains, carpeting and grasscloth wall covering are standard. These things really save on your 'start-up costs,' " he said.

The kind of lease a person signs is a final cost factor to be considered, Wojcik said. "Ask the management firm if it offers a one-and a two-year lease. While the two-year lease allows you to better plan your budget, if you think you may be moving — for job-related reasons, a pending marriage, etc. — you should probably opt for the one-year lease. Just make sure it has a transfer and/or subletting clause," he said.

Barrington Lakes is a $20 million, 45-acre development with apartments ranging in size from a studio to a two-bedroom with den, and renting from $185 to $425 per month. The community includes a 10-acre stocked lake, lighted tennis courts, and a clubhouse with a resident lounge, wet bar, kitchen, billiards room, gymnasiums and locker rooms for men and women.

To visit the five furnished models, which are open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. seven days a week, take the Northwest Tollway to the Barrington Road exit. Travel south on Barrington Road to the first intersection (Hassell Road) and turn east. Barrington Lakes is about a half mile down Hassell Road on the left.



THE PLYMOUTH, a ranch duplex model at Campanelli's Weathersfield 21, features 2½ baths with three bedrooms and a two car garage.

Appoint Frank manager

Richard Frank has been appointed resident manager of the Country Lane Apartments at 1460 Fairlane Dr. in Schaumburg. Baird & Warner, Inc. is management agent for the 284-unit complex.

Frank has been associated with Baird & Warner since 1973 and has had a variety of managerial assignments throughout the Chicago metropolitan area, including Near North, West Side, and South Side properties.

His most recent post was as manager of the Twelve Oaks apartments in Arlington Heights.

Frank is a Chicago native. He attended Loyola University and was engaged in sales and public relations work before entering property management.

Campanelli opens duplex models

Capanelli, Inc., developer of Weathersfield in Schaumburg is opening two new duplex models for public inspection in Weathersfield Twenty-One.

The two ranch style contemporary models offer three floor plans from which to choose. The three-bedroom Plymouth features 2½ baths; Mr. & Mrs. double closets in the owner's bedroom suite; a large living room; an oversized two-car garage with direct entry; separate laundry room with utility tub, washer, dryer and trash compactor; a family kitchen complete with continuous clean oven, automatic food disposer, dishwasher, wood kitchen cabinets and ice-maker refrigerator.

Like other Weathersfield Twenty One models, the Plymouth also features central air conditioning, concrete patio, wall to wall carpeting, double thermal lined windows with screens, plus complete landscaping including trees, shrubs and lawn.

Member residents of Weathersfield Twenty One additionally enjoy the social and recreational facilities of an exclusive club, The Cambridge. There's swimming in an Olympic size pool; table tennis, pool and billiards, a card room; relaxation in a Finnish sauna. Golf and tennis can be enjoyed on nearby courses and courts.

Prices start at $37,990 for the luxury two-bedroom Brockton ranch model.

Weathersfield Twenty One also incorporates a selection of single family homes — with five models being offered.

Weathersfield Twenty One can be reached by taking Irving Park west to Roselle Road, north to Wise and west two miles. Models are open daily 'til dark.

Set reviews for state license exam

The state of Illinois is giving the examination in Springfield Dec. 9, for those seeking to be licensed as real estate salesmen or brokers. Real Estate Education Company has scheduled two All Day Reviews to prepare students for that state exam.

One All Day Review will be held near O'Hare Field Dec. 6, at the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge, 8201 Higgins Rd., Chicago. The second All Day Review is held Dec. 8, the day before the state exam, at the St. Nicholas Hotel, 4th and Jefferson, Springfield.

Both review sessons begin at 9:30 a.m. Tuition is $35 for those preparing to take the salesman's exam and $40 for those preparing for the broker's exam, with a $10 discount to students of the Real Estate Education Company.

To enroll or receive further information on the Basic Real Estate Transactions course, the Brokers courses, or the Home Study program, call (312) 644-0475 or Toll-Free at (800) 972-8303.

Lease building

Bennett & Kahnweiler Associates recently leased the one story 49,000 square foot industrial building located at 1550 Howard St., Elk Grove Village, to NTN Bearing Company of America.

Set reviews for state license exam

The state of Illinois is giving the examination in Springfield Dec. 9, for those seeking to be licensed as real estate salesmen or brokers. Real Estate Education Company has scheduled two All Day Reviews to prepare students for that state exam.

One All Day Review will be held near O'Hare Field Dec. 6, at the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge, 8201 Higgins Rd., Chicago. The second All Day Review is held Dec. 8, the day before the state exam, at the St. Nicholas Hotel, 4th and Jefferson, Springfield.

Both review sessons begin at 9:30 a.m. Tuition is $35 for those preparing to take the salesman's exam and $40 for those preparing for the broker's exam, with a $10 discount to students of the Real Estate Education Company.

To enroll or receive further information on the Basic Real Estate Transactions course, the Brokers courses, or the Home Study program, call (312) 644-0475 or Toll-Free at (800) 972-8303.

WEEKLY SHOPPING trips are possible for the elderly residents of Addolorata Villa in Wheeling because of the regular, year 'round visits of Volunteers Unlimited. Mrs. Olive Hawley, left, one of 400 workers in the St. James service group, helps resident Mrs. Amy Buchard into the car for a spin to a nearby shopping center and the Wheeling library.

Volunteers Unlimited

Neighbor helping neighbor

by ELEANOR RIVES

"When I was hungry — you formed a committee!"

The irony of the words on the church bulletin — big, bold and black — were meant to stir into action the members of St. James Catholic Church in north Arlington Heights that Sunday in July 1973.

And stir them it did. Some 600 persons — children as young as 8 years old, men, women, whole families — responded to the Parish Council's plea for volunteers to stand ready to help out anyone of any faith living within the parish boundaries, anyone facing a crisis, an illness, a loneliness, a need. Matt and Marion Hennessey volunteered to coordinate the program.

THUS BEGAN an organization now known as Volunteers Unlimited — good-hearted people reaching out to help their neighbors, eager to put into practice the Good Samaritan concept of Christianity.

But volunteers, no matter how good-hearted, can channel their efforts more effectively after needs are precisely determined and available help is systematically matched to those needs. This requires training, experience, organization, a complete operating structure.

So early in 1974, Volunteers Unlimited turned to Catholic Charities for leadership training, advice and guidance based on similar programs in the inner city.

TODAY, THE St. James program gives needed help on a strict confidential basis to about 100 persons (or families) a year. It is coordinated by Mrs. George Schott, with the Hennesseys as co-chairmen, and administered by a steering committee of six liaison people, a number of visitors who visit those asking for help and assess their needs, service chairmen in charge of various categories of help and about 400 volunteers. Each has registered his ability and willingness to provide a certain type of service.

Sounds unwieldy? Not at all. When a call comes for help, good organization makes it possible to answer it swiftly and completely.

BUT THERE aren't any needy people in the suburbs, you say? Wrong. There are. But many are reluctant to ask for help.

"Receiving is as necessary as giving," said Terry Schott, who takes the initial phone calls for help and sets the machinery in motion. "In its own way, receiving is giving — it's giving someone else the joy of helping you. We hope over a period of time to establish a trust level — that doesn't come overnight.

"It says in one of our meditations, 'A person becomes a person only when he is capable of standing open to all the gifts which are prepared for him.' "

THREE YEARS ago, Terry and Ann Metzger, now a member of the steering committee, were part of a group who responded when Father William Zavaski issued a call for help. A blind woman in the parish had come to him in desperate circumstances. Deserted by her husband, she and her five children were about to be evicted.

For nine months, Ann, Terry and the others helped the family. They placed the children in temporary foster homes, sent the mother for training at the Illinois Institute for the Blind, found an apartment for her, helped her eventually to return with her children to her original rural town. The family is still together.

"We're not rescuers, just helpers," said Terry. "We don't solve the problem; we make it possible for the individual to solve his own."

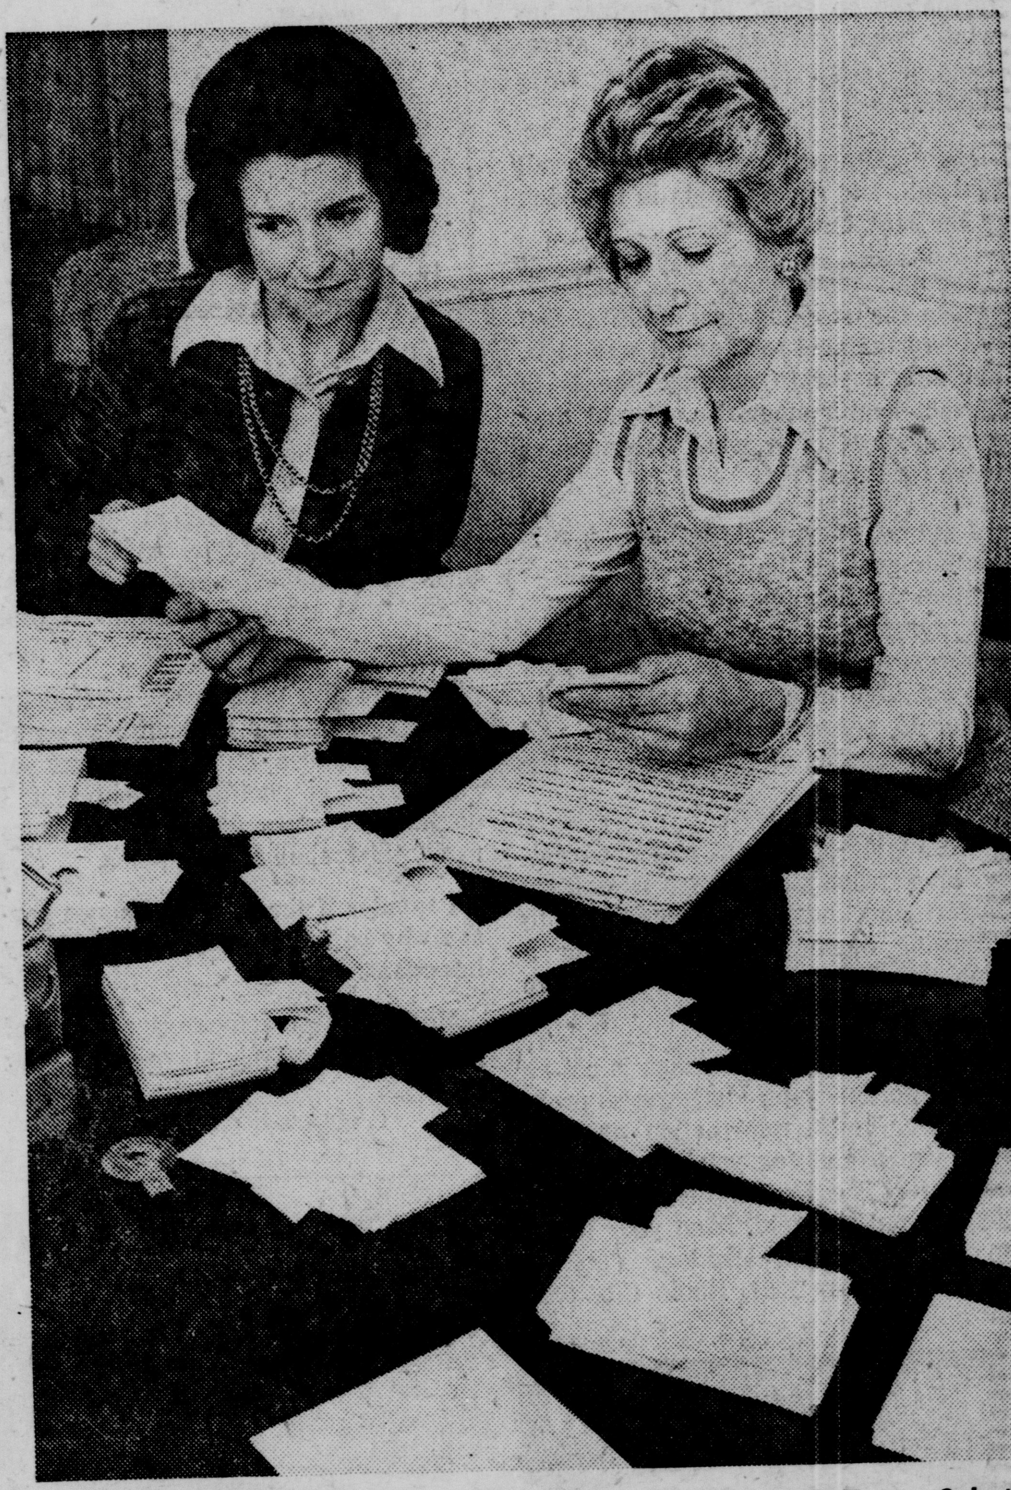
TODAY VOLUNTEERS Unlimited answer calls to visit the sick, elderly and lonely; to drive the sick and elderly to hospitals, clinics, doctors' offices; to shop for shut-ins and to help with home nursing care. Emergency help for a limited time is available in the form of babysitting, household help, food supplies, making and delivering hot meals, home maintenance and minor repairs. Donated usable furniture and appliances are channeled to those in need of them.

Volunteers Unlimited also help people obtain food stamps, public aid and medical assistance. They refer people to numerous agencies for assistance. Bilingual volunteers help foreign-speaking persons.

ACCORDING TO Terry, the most common need is for drivers, the second most common for meals. One of the greatest needs in the northwest suburbs by people willing to pay for it is for babysitters and homemakers.

"We can meet this need for about a week in emergencies, but not on a long-term basis," said Terry. "All our services are free and volunteer — but we could also use a list of paid babysitters or homemakers."

Groups of boys have helped elderly couples with yard work, snow shoveling, hanging storm windows. For a year, two dedicated housewives assisted an elderly couple on alternate weeks with housework. A volunteer quickly responded to the plea of a man for someone to "be with" his wife. She had just been released from the hospital, and he was afraid to leave her alone those first few days while he worked.



RECRUITMENTS at 2-year intervals keep volunteer lists up to date at St. James Church. Ann Metzger, left, and Terry Schott complete the master card file of volunteers and services.

WHEN A HUSBAND or wife is hospitalized, volunteers may make and deliver three hot dinners a week to make life a little easier for the family. "It's a small way of saying 'We really understand,' " said Ann.

The most urgent case Terry has come across was that of an elderly couple — the wife in a wheelchair, the husband recuperating from surgery — who wanted desperately to stay together rather than enter a nursing home. For nine months, Volunteers Unlimited helped them with meals, care, light housekeeping, even shampoos, and assuaged their loneliness at the same time. Many people were involved. Terry termed it "an example of real caring."

IN ITS SHORT two-year history, the impact of Volunteers Unlimited has been felt throughout St. James parish. Its leaders fervently hope to inspire other churches and parishes to follow suit in their own areas and will gladly help them initiate such a program.

"This is neighbor helping neighbor," said Terry. "Even volunteers need help in emergencies."

"To give is to receive and to receive is to give," added Ann. "Love is extended through both. To me, this is what it means to be a Christian."

THE "COMMON PANTRY" at St. James Church, a storehouse of food contributed periodically by the parishioners, is raided by Mrs. Mary Burkhardt, left, and Mrs. Nova Thompson as they prepare Thanksgiving food baskets for any needy families living within the parish boundaries.

Starving lands must direct growth

by Monica Wilch Perin

As many Americans today sit down to bountiful Thanksgiving feasts, our thankfulness cannot help but be overshadowed by deeply troubled feelings over starvation in other parts of the world.

But, while we enjoy far more abundance than we need, and while we need to reform our wastefulness and redistribute our abundance within our own country, the humanitarian cry to give our excess to starving Indians and Africans is unrealistic, according to University of Wisconsin agronomist Dr. Lincoln Engelberg.

"Sending food to them is incidental," declares the professor of soil sciences and frequent lecturer on world food problems.

"The Indians will decide themselves whether they eat or starve. And right now agriculture is not being given top priority by the Indian government."

IN THE VIEW of Prof. Engelberg, who formerly served on the U.N.'s Food and Agricultural Organization (FAO), population control and agricultural initiative are the keys to controlling starvation, and these steps must be undertaken by the countries themselves. It cannot be done for them.

"Look at Bangladesh — they have a population of about 75 million in a territory about the size of Illinois. Any food we send will make little difference unless they can control this growth.

"Sure, we can help out in an emergency — but if we assume this burden and every year is an emergency, with their rate of population growth in 10 years it would become a very large percentage of our grain crop."

It's a matter of politics, according to Engelberg. "India has a lot of good land and water potential; they could irrigate a tremendous amount — but they're not giving it much attention. The FAO once tried to get the present prime minister's father to build fertilizer plants instead of steel mills, but got nowhere.

"WE CAN'T change this, as long as they want to compete in atomic energy and support large armies — India has one of the biggest military budgets in the world."

In Africa, Engelberg said, the problem is one of over-technologizing and over-stocking the land.

"Today's man has forgotten that people must first take care of the primary needs — food, shelter, clothing. These must be the primary focus, not a side issue in the developing countries. When you go in there with technology first, you can damage them. Our sophisticated irrigation has led to sterilization of the land through salt build-up in some places.

"In one case in West Africa they shouldn't have had more than six million head of animals grazing, but the FAO drilled wells when they already had 15 million head, and the number went up to 25 million head. The land around the water holes was desertized, then they got a drought and it was disastrous.

"YOU HAVE to systematize these things into the whole culture. You have to re-educate the society and internalize the process. We take for granted the tremendous training and backup support farmers have here in the U.S. Over there, they have none of this.

"We thought technology and a 'quick fix' could do it, but it's much more difficult than that."

To the extent that sending food or money can be a stopgap measure for a few people over there, Engelberg believes private organizations such as churches can do this more effectively than governments.

But the harsh reality is summed up in a statement from the "Man in His Environment" presentation at the Field Museum of Natural History: "We must reach zero population growth everywhere very soon or there will be mass starvation on a scale the world has never seen."

Symptoms not like gout

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Would you please give me some information on gout? My daughter has what some doctors say are symptoms of gout. She is in her early thirties.

Her ankles and top of her feet swell real full, and she has pain in the back of her heel, in the cords.

She only takes water pills which decrease the swelling just a little. She has had the acid test, and it was high, but now down to normal. She is in perfect health otherwise. Should they give other tests or what treatment is there for it?

I am not convinced that your daughter has gout on the basis of the information you have given me. Gout causing symptoms in young women are quite rare. More often women may have a high uric acid level, but only about 10 per cent develop bone and joint symptoms of gout. Men are the usual victims.

Women do have gout and apparently may transmit various hereditary factors that pass the disorder on to offspring, hence the tendency for a high family incidence of gout in those affected.

THE TYPICAL gout attack is not as you describe your daughter's problem. For more information on gout that you asked for you can send 50 cents for The Health Letter number 2-3, Gout, Uric Acid. Send your letter to me in care of Paddock Publications, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Include a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. That issue will give you a run-down on the various levels of uric acid and their meaning and the current thinking about the treatment and management of gout, including the current ideas about diet for gout.

Incidentally, gout is not treated by taking water pills. Sometimes water pills will cause an acute attack of gout. This is another reason that I doubt that your daughter's doctors really think she has gout pains.

I wonder if there is any known reason why so many women have kidney infections.

Most of those infections are not of the kidney, but the bladder. The in-

"WE CAN'T change this, as long as they want to compete in atomic energy and support large armies — India has one of the biggest military budgets in the world."

In Africa, Engelberg said, the problem is one of over-technologizing and over-stocking the land.

"Today's man has forgotten that people must first take care of the primary needs — food, shelter, clothing. These must be the primary focus, not a side issue in the developing countries. When you go in there with technology first, you can damage them. Our sophisticated irrigation has led to sterilization of the land through salt build-up in some places.

"In one case in West Africa they shouldn't have had more than six million head of animals grazing, but the FAO drilled wells when they already had 15 million head, and the number went up to 25 million head. The land around the water holes was desertized, then they got a drought and it was disastrous.

"YOU HAVE to systematize these things into the whole culture. You have to re-educate the society and internalize the process. We take for granted the tremendous training and backup support farmers have here in the U.S. Over there, they have none of this.

"We thought technology and a 'quick fix' could do it, but it's much more difficult than that."

To the extent that sending food or money can be a stopgap measure for a few people over there, Engelberg believes private organizations such as churches can do this more effectively than governments.

But the harsh reality is summed up in a statement from the "Man in His Environment" presentation at the Field Museum of Natural History: "We must reach zero population growth everywhere very soon or there will be mass starvation on a scale the world has never seen."

Symptoms not like gout

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Would you please give me some information on gout? My daughter has what some doctors say are symptoms of gout. She is in her early thirties.

Her ankles and top of her feet swell real full, and she has pain in the back of her heel, in the cords.

She only takes water pills which decrease the swelling just a little. She has had the acid test, and it was high, but now down to normal. She is in perfect health otherwise. Should they give other tests or what treatment is there for it?

I am not convinced that your daughter has gout on the basis of the information you have given me. Gout causing symptoms in young women are quite rare. More often women may have a high uric acid level, but only about 10 per cent develop bone and joint symptoms of gout. Men are the usual victims.

Women do have gout and apparently may transmit various hereditary factors that pass the disorder on to offspring, hence the tendency for a high family incidence of gout in those affected.

THE TYPICAL gout attack is not as you describe your daughter's problem. For more information on gout that you asked for you can send 50 cents for The Health Letter number 2-3, Gout, Uric Acid. Send your letter to me in care of Paddock Publications, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Include a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. That issue will give you a run-down on the various levels of uric acid and their meaning and the current thinking about the treatment and management of gout, including the current ideas about diet for gout.

Incidentally, gout is not treated by taking water pills. Sometimes water pills will cause an acute attack of gout. This is another reason that I doubt that your daughter's doctors really think she has gout pains.

I wonder if there is any known reason why so many women have kidney infections.

Most of those infections are not of the kidney, but the bladder. The in-

Potting shed

by Mary B. Good

Summer's memory rots into the past as refrigerator leftovers.

When the frig won't close anymore, that signals the inevitable time to clean it, thus hailing the last of the fading tomatoes from the garden. A squishy pepper here a moldy zucchini there, and some dried-up parsley hidden in a crumpled Baggie in back of the mayonnaise are the last mortifying vestiges of what was once a proud growing achievement.

Perhaps like me, you consider it a personal victory if you can keep refrigerated tomatoes from your garden in satisfactory condition until Thanksgiving. I've still brussels sprouts, pascal celery, lettuce, beets and broccoli making it through all kinds of weather in my garden (under a plastic overcoat). And last year it was Dec. 10 before the garden "died," thanks to seaweed, plastic and straw mulch. This year I'm shooting for Dec. 25, so we can have brussels sprouts for Christmas.

I'M SURE MANY of you still have vegetables in the ground and home-grown tomatoes in your refrigerators. I'd be interested in knowing how long some of our readers have kept their home-grown vegetables, particularly tomatoes, in the refrigerator. Maybe you've got a secret for extending the life of old-age tomatoes we could all share!

In tossing out the rotten turban squash we never ate, it occurred to me how many things other than food we store in our refrigerators.

Consider some of the stuff that is taking up food room right now: baby teething rings, baking soda, suet bird food, medications like penicillin, laundry waiting to be ironed, wallpaper paste, photo film, pipe tobacco, corsages from Mother's Day, ladybugs and mantis cocoons in suspended animation, and tulip bulbs in paper bags.

WHEN MINK earrings were in vogue some time back, a relative of mine, I recall, kept her pair in the refrigerator to protect against moths during the summer when the earrings weren't in use.

I have a bird watcher neighbor, who picks up dead woodpeckers and stores them in her freezer. She also has chickadees, grosbeaks, a sapsucker and a big hawk she says she's saving for "the university."

I shouldn't talk about other people. I have deer legs — hoof, hair and all. My husband tells me that we have to keep these legs with hunting tags attached until all the meat is eaten. That is the law. Between the fish locator batteries in the freezer and the nightcrawlers, grubs, wigglers and roe in the refrigerator, my icebox is turning into a nightmare.

It's no wonder the vegetables are going bad. There's no room for food in the refrigerator!

Diabetic can have his 'cake' and eat it too

Dear Dorothy: All those with diabetes can look forward to having their cakes on birthdays and anniversaries like everyone else. For years my husband did without, but two years ago I decided he was going to have a cake, one way or another.

Made our favorite meat loaf in a round cake pan and then "iced" it with mashed potatoes. For decoration I used green peas for stems and leaves and sliced, cooked carrots for flowers.

He was surprised and delighted. So you can see how love and imagination can turn everyday food into something special. The cake can be decorated differently with any vegetable — and one can even use catsup to write a message. — Roberta Hester

A great many people who have the same diet problems are going to salute you for your loving imagination. For all of them, thank you.

Dear Dorothy: Is there a way to wipe up dried spills in a freezer without defrosting? Any sponge or cloth sticks to the surface. — Mrs. A. B. Pizzato

Only one way: Use a sponge or piece of toweling dripping with very hot water. The spill should come off before the sponge or towel cools and sticks to the cold surface. I forgot a bottle of cola one day and, after a most unpleasant hour of wiping up bits of glass and ice, I hope never to go through that again.

Dear Dorothy: Ever worn a pantsuit and then had to sit on the floor of a newly carpeted room? It picked up every bit of fluff and lint there was room for! Tried to get it off with a stiff brush — no luck. Then noticed the roll of cellophane tape. Rolled a little around my hand and patted away, using both sides of the hand. It took several fresh strips, but it all finally came off. — Marlene Pettit.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to her in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

fection gets into the bladder easily through the short urethra. The man is protected by the relatively longer urethra. That's anatomy for you, and it does make a difference. Men may also get some protection from an antibacterial substance apparently formed by the prostate gland.

The location of the female urethra makes it easy to be injured or irritated with normal family life. This may permit the onset of a urinary tract infection.

THEN AS A woman gets older and her muscles relax, the emptying of the bladder may not be perfect, and this leads to infection. Even the decrease in female hormones with age may cause changes in the character of the cells of the bladder that make it easier for an infection to get started.

The kidneys can become infected secondarily by spread of an infection from the bladder, but that is considerably less common.

Resume Service

HOW IMPORTANT ARE RESUMES?

A resume is your first impression with a potential employer. It is the only effective method to present your credentials when applying for a job.

Unfortunately, a resume will frequently ELIMINATE an applicant than it will secure the all-important interview.

Your resume will compete for attention with those of many other applicants for that interview.

How can you overcome this obstacle? Your resume must be composed so that it DEMANDS attention and at once presents you as a logical choice for employment.

How can you make sure that your resume will generate more interviews?

Phone for details or a no-obligation appointment. Since 1957, we have assisted men & women on their first job, to the senior executive.

Resume Service

HOW IMPORTANT ARE RESUMES?

A resume is your first impression with a potential employer. It is the only effective method to present your credentials when applying for a job.

Unfortunately, a resume will frequently ELIMINATE an applicant than it will secure the all-important interview.

Your resume will compete for attention with those of many other applicants for that interview.

How can you overcome this obstacle? Your resume must be composed so that it DEMANDS attention and at once presents you as a logical choice for employment.

How can you make sure that your resume will generate more interviews?

Phone for details or a no-obligation appointment. Since 1957, we have assisted men & women on their first job, to the senior executive.

Reflecting upon our past

Reflecting upon our past involves more than just the traditional Thanksgiving holiday. There is a whole heritage to be considered.

So on a day when turkey and all the usual trimmings are served, here are a few updated recipes from Lipton Kitchens for traditional foods from 200 years ago.

YORKTOWN SPOONBREAD

1 cup yellow corn meal
2 teaspoons sugar
2 cups boiling water
5 tablespoons Onion Butter*
1 cup cold milk
4 eggs

Preheat oven to 375 degrees.

In large bowl, mix corn meal and sugar; stir in water and Onion Butter. Add milk and beat in eggs one at a time.

Pour into greased 1 ½ quart casserole, and bake 50 minutes or until set. Serve hot with additional Onion Butter. Makes about 8 servings.

*Onion Butter:

Thoroughly blend one envelope Onion Soup Mix with ½ pound butter or margarine. Makes about 1 ¼ cups. Store covered in refrigerator.

COLONIAL PEPPER RELISH

3 cups finely shredded cabbage
¾ cup finely chopped green pepper
¾ cup finely chopped red pepper*
¾ cup finely chopped celery
1 small onion, thinly sliced
⅓ cup Italian dressing

In large bowl, combine cabbage, peppers, celery, and onion; add Italian dressing and toss lightly. Chill at least 2 hours before serving. Makes about 8 servings.

*SUBSTITUTION: ¼ cup diced pimiento.

SPICED APPLE GROG

3 cups boiling water
8 tea bags
3 cups apple juice
⅓ cup brown sugar
8 whole cloves
1 cinnamon stick
½ cup rum (optional)

In medium saucepan, pour boiling water over tea bags; cover and brew 5 minutes. Remove tea bags.

Add apple juice, sugar, cloves, and cinnamon; simmer 5 minutes. Remove spices and stir in rum. Serve in mugs and garnish, if desired, with apple wedges. Makes about 8 servings.

TAVERN CHICKEN—BRUNSWICK STYLE

1 bottle 8 ounce Italian dressing
2 chickens (2 to 2 ½ pounds ea.) cut into serving pieces
1 can (28 ounce) peeled whole tomatoes
1 bay leaf
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
1 package (10 ounce) frozen lima beans
1 package (10 ounce) frozen okra
1 can (16 ounce) string beans, drained
1 can (12 ounce) whole kernel corn, drained
1 ½ tablespoons cornstarch
½ cup water

In large shallow oven-proof baking dish, place chicken in single layer. Pour ⅔ cup Italian dressing over chicken; cover and marinate in refrigerator 3 hours, turning occasionally. Preheat oven to 375 degrees. In marinade dish, bake chicken, skin-side up, 1 hour or until tender, basting occasionally.

Meanwhile, in large saucepan, combine tomatoes, bay leaf, salt, sugar, and remaining ⅓ cup Italian dressing; simmer covered 15 minutes. Add lima beans, okra, string beans, and corn; bring to a boil, then simmer covered 15 minutes. Stir in cornstarch blended with water and simmer, stirring constantly, until sauce is thickened; serve with chicken. Makes about 8 servings.

SYLLABUB PYE

5 tablespoons cream sherry
¼ cup cold milk
1 cup milk, heated to boiling point
1 cup (½ pint heavy cream)
⅓ cup sugar
2 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 cup ice cubes
Macaroon Crumb Crust*
Peach slices (for garnish)
Strawberry jam or currant jelly

In 5-cup blender, sprinkle unflavored gelatin over 4 tablespoons sherry and cold milk; let stand until moistened. Add hot milk and process at low speed 2 minutes. Add cream, sugar, egg yolks, lemon peel, and ice cubes one at a time and process at high speed until ice is melted. Let stand until mixture is thickened, about 10 minutes.

In large bowl, beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry; fold in gelatin mixture. Turn into Macaroon Crumb Crust and chill until set, about 2 hours.

Meanwhile, in small bowl combine peaches and remaining sherry; let stand 2 hours.

To serve, arrange peaches on pie, alternating with teaspoonfuls of jelly. Makes about 8 servings.

*Macaroon Crumb Crust: In small bowl, combine 1 ¾ cups crisp macaroon cookie crumbs and ¼ cup softened butter or margarine. Press into deep 9-inch pie pan or 10-inch pie pan: bake at 375 degrees for 8 minutes and cool.

Enemy found in sodium

BY THE EDITORS OF CONSUMER REPORTS
(Fourth in a Series)

Although sodium is an important mineral in maintaining health, people with certain types of heart disease or high blood pressure may be advised by their doctors to reduce the amount of sodium in their diets.

Limiting salt means limiting sodium (including the sodium naturally contained in many foods). Many people on sodium-restricted diets are allowed no more than two grams (2,000 milligrams) of sodium daily — equivalent to about one teaspoon of table salt. This, of course, means not only cutting out the salt shaker but also being careful about certain foods. "Sodium" is the key word to look for on the labels of prepared foods. It often appears as "sodium chloride" or "monosodium glutamate." For seasoning foods, commercial salt substitutes are available. Because these substitutes may be expensive, Consumers Union suggests that you try natural spices for flavoring.

If you're on a salt-restricted diet, Consumers Union's medical consultants suggests that you avoid the following foods:

Bread and Snack Foods: Bread and rolls with salt toppings, potato chips, pretzels, other salted snack foods.

Cheese: Processed cheese, specialty cheeses such as Roquefort, Camembert, Gorgonzola.

Meats: Smoked or prepared meats such as bacon, bologna, corned beef, ham, liverwurst, luncheon meats, pastrami, pepperoni, smoked tongue.

Soups: Most canned soups (check the label for sodium or salt), bouillon cubes or mixes.

Spices and Seasonings: Table salt, so-called flavor enhancers (such as Accent), ketchup, prepared mustard, meat sauces, soy sauce, prepared horseradish.

Vegetables: Sauerkraut, pickles, other vegetables prepared in brine (such as pickled beets and pickled peppers).

Compare costs

Homemakers tempted to bake at home or hoard products should compare total costs of all alternatives, says an Oklahoma State University home economist.

J. C. Hamilton, Extension economist, said last year's flour can become buggy and last summer's high-priced sugar can become harder than a rock unless stored properly. Prices on both products are lower priced now than last year.

Hamilton said retailers report distinct changes in consumers' buying. They are becoming do-it-yourself persons once again. Sales have been increasing sharply for flour, yeast and other baking ingredients. In most stores, sales of mixes have been declining, he added.

Specials?

It's really too bad, but many shoppers measure food savings by looking at advertised "specials."

Too bad, because "specials" can only give you a sample of the kind of prices you'll find throughout the store. And what's worse, they may be "come-ons," items specially priced to get you into the store, where higher prices on other items may eat up the savings you get on the "specials."

Gimmicks?

Stamps, free dishes, give-away games . . . you've probably seen them all advertised at many supermarkets.

And while it may be fun to play the games, or seem rewarding to collect the stamps and dishes, the plain, simple truth of the matter is that someone has to pay for all those "FREE" things.

Guess who? It's likely that you're paying higher prices in those stores to help pay for the promotional "gimmicks."

The Eagle Way!

Specials?

It's really too bad, but many shoppers measure food savings by looking at advertised "specials."

Too bad, because "specials" can only give you a sample of the kind of prices you'll find throughout the store. And what's worse, they may be "come-ons," items specially priced to get you into the store, where higher prices on other items may eat up the savings you get on the "specials."

Gimmicks?

Stamps, free dishes, give-away games . . . you've probably seen them all advertised at many supermarkets.

And while it may be fun to play the games, or seem rewarding to collect the stamps and dishes, the plain, simple truth of the matter is that someone has to pay for all those "FREE" things.

Guess who? It's likely that you're paying higher prices in those stores to help pay for the promotional "gimmicks."

The Eagle Way!

Eagle offers you a sensible way to get more for your food dollar. Everyday Low Discount Prices.

We don't offer a few scattered "specials" or "bargains." You'll not find us playing "games" with your food dollars. Instead, you'll find dependable low prices that can mean savings where they count the most . . . at the check-stand.

Holiday foods

Lefse inspires sweet tradition

by LOIS SEILER

Traditionally served by Norwegians for holiday dinners, lefse has become a specialty of Liz Hardy, Palatine.

Inspired by a Norwegian cookbook, she tackled the recipe with help from her husband Dave's mother and aunt. Now proficient in preparing lefse, Liz heads the committee which makes quantities of it for the December smorgasbord at the Bethel Lutheran Church in Palatine.

Somewhat similar to a thin crepe, lefse is fried quickly on a griddle and then kept soft and tender between moist towels. Before serving, it is spread with butter, sprinkled with sugar and cinnamon and rolled up.

LIZ TRADITIONALLY serves this with meat balls on Christmas Eve and with turkey on Christmas day. However, her three children enjoy eating it throughout the year.

Also traditional in the Hardy family is Christmas caroling. Laden with home-baked cookies, they head for the homes of friends delivering their greetings.

The children help make the cookies and one of their favorites is a thin, crispy sugar cookie with mace flavoring — a recipe from Liz's German grandmother. They also like Salted Peanut Cookies which originally came from Liz's mother.

Liz is director of the nursery school at church, teaches Sunday school and sings in the choir. Because these activities take up lots of extra time during the holidays, she starts her Christmas baking early and stores the food in her freezer.

LEFSE

One day ahead, make potatoes using instant potato buds. Follow recipe on box to serve eight, substituting Half and Half for milk. Store in refrigerator overnight. The next day, measure:

1½ teaspoons salt
2 cups flour
12 tablespoons commercial sour cream

Heat griddle, Lefse grill or electric skillet to 400 degrees. Do not grease or oil griddle.

Roll one heaping tablespoon of potato mixture as thin as possible on floured board or pastry cloth with floured rolling pin. If dough is sticky, add more flour. Rounds should be 12 to 14 inches in diameter.

If a round Lefse grill is used, the whole crepe can be placed on it at once. If not, cut rounds into wedges and fit as many as possible into pan. Fry about two minutes on each side. Lefse will be white with small brown spots on it.

When removing from grill, place between moist towels. Lefse may be eaten immediately, or it can be kept as long as a week if stored between moist towels in refrigerator. To eat, spread with butter, sprinkle with sug-

LEFSE IS FRIED on a hot, dry griddle four minutes before Liz Hardy, Palatine, layers it between moist towels to keep it tender. Eaten like a bread, this Norwegian holiday food is first spread with butter, sprinkled with sugar and cinnamon and rolled into the shape of a jelly roll.

Classes and cookbooks

A one-evening session in "Sausage Making" will be sponsored by MONACEP from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 3, at Maine West High School, Wolf and Oakton, Des Plaines. Birdie Selinger, a MONACEP cooking instructor since 1971, will demonstrate a variety of sausages, including breakfast type, Polish and Italian. The session will include tasting and recipes. Fee for the evening is $9 for both residents and non-residents of Maine and Niles Townships. For further information, readers may call 967-5821.

Holiday foods

by LOIS SEILER

Traditionally served by Norwegians for holiday dinners, lefse has become a specialty of Liz Hardy, Palatine.

Inspired by a Norwegian cookbook, she tackled the recipe with help from her husband Dave's mother and aunt. Now proficient in preparing lefse, Liz heads the committee which makes quantities of it for the December smorgasbord at the Bethel Lutheran Church in Palatine.

Somewhat similar to a thin crepe, lefse is fried quickly on a griddle and then kept soft and tender between moist towels. Before serving, it is spread with butter, sprinkled with sugar and cinnamon and rolled up.

LIZ TRADITIONALLY serves this with meat balls on Christmas Eve and with turkey on Christmas day. However, her three children enjoy eating it throughout the year.

Also traditional in the Hardy family is Christmas caroling. Laden with home-baked cookies, they head for the homes of friends delivering their greetings.

The children help make the cookies and one of their favorites is a thin, crispy sugar cookie with mace flavoring — a recipe from Liz's German grandmother. They also like Salted Peanut Cookies which originally came from Liz's mother.

Liz is director of the nursery school at church, teaches Sunday school and sings in the choir. Because these activities take up lots of extra time during the holidays, she starts her Christmas baking early and stores the food in her freezer.

LEFSE

One day ahead, make potatoes using instant potato buds. Follow recipe on box to serve eight, substituting Half and Half for milk. Store in refrigerator overnight. The next day, measure:

3 cups of firmly-packed cold mashed potatoes
1½ teaspoons salt
2 cups flour
12 tablespoons commercial sour cream

Sift salt and flour into potatoes and mix well. Stir in sour cream.

Heat griddle, Lefse grill or electric skillet to 400 degrees. Do not grease or oil griddle.

Roll one heaping tablespoon of potato mixture as thin as possible on floured board or pastry cloth with floured rolling pin. If dough is sticky, add more flour. Rounds should be 12 to 14 inches in diameter.

If a round Lefse grill is used, the whole crepe can be placed on it at once. If not, cut rounds into wedges and fit as many as possible into pan. Fry about two minutes on each side. Lefse will be white with small brown spots on it.

When removing from grill, place between moist towels. Lefse may be eaten immediately, or it can be kept as long as a week if stored between moist towels in refrigerator. To eat, spread with butter, sprinkle with sug-

LEFSE IS FRIED on a hot, dry griddle four minutes before Liz Hardy, Palatine, layers it between moist towels to keep it tender. Eaten like a bread, this Norwegian holiday food is first spread with butter, sprinkled with sugar and cinnamon and rolled into the shape of a jelly roll.

Classes and cookbooks

A one-evening session in "Sausage Making" will be sponsored by MONACEP from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 3, at Maine West High School, Wolf and Oakton, Des Plaines. Birdie Selinger, a MONACEP cooking instructor since 1971, will demonstrate a variety of sausages, including breakfast type, Polish and Italian. The session will include tasting and recipes. Fee for the evening is $9 for both residents and non-residents of Maine and Niles Townships. For further information, readers may call 967-5821.

Colorful plight emerges

Have American consumers gone overboard on the color of their fruits and vegetables? According to some government officials, they have. The uses of dyes and gasses to attain a "perfect" color have increased, according to the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Floyd Hedlund, a fruit and vegetable expert at the USDA, said, "On apples, on peaches, we're just going overboard on color. It's a fact that consumers have opted for color. Canada won't even let our apples in unless they meet a certain color line."

But Jane Armstrong, Jewel's consumer specialist, disagrees.

"TRADITIONALLY, CUSTOMERS like the idea of good color in their produce," she said. "But I do feel they understand better than before that all produce isn't perfect."

The government experts contend that the color craze has grown with the nation's exposure to full color advertising, where the food seen in print or in television commercials always looks better than life. Eventually shoppers began to expect their produce to look like the ads, forgetting that an apple on a backyard tree or a tomato from the garden usually is not perfect. Or so say the people in the Agriculture Dept.

However, Jane Armstrong said that with the upsurge in consumerism fewer people — not more — expect color perfection in their produce.

"THE CONSUMER IS becoming educated on selection of quality," she said. She said she sees more people selecting produce on the basis of firmness, and ripeness characteristics rather than just color.

So the debate continues.

Also continuing are manufacturing and marketing practices like prepackaging of fresh produce (how does a consumer judge the firmness and ripeness of such fruits and vegetables?) and the use of Red Dye No. 2.

The dye is still under study to determine whether it can cause cancer, birth defects or genetic damage. But even with questionable safety, it is still the most widely used food coloring in the U.S., according to the Dept. of Agriculture.

Why? The people who make strawberry ice cream, red soda pop and other colored foods claim their products would be forced off the market if the dye isn't used.

Lefse made in advance of holidays

ar or a mixture of cinnamon and sugar. Roll like a jelly roll. Lefse may be frozen between pieces of waxed paper and stored in plastic bags. Defrost and place between moist towels. Makes about five dozen.

MACE COOKIES

1 cup butter or margarine
2 cups sugar
2 whole eggs
¼ cup milk
3½ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon mace

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs and beat well. Blend in milk. Sift dry ingredients together and gradually beat into batter. Chill in refrigerator about two hours.

Remove dough; roll out in small amounts on a floured board to 1/8 - inch thickness. Cut with Christmas cookie cutters. Place on greased cookie sheets and bake at 350 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes. Decorate as desired with colored confectioners' sugar icing.

SALTED PEANUT COOKIES

1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup white sugar
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup corn flakes
1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
1 cup whole salted peanuts

Cream together butter and sugars. Add eggs and beat well. Sift flour, baking powder and soda together and add to batter. Slowly beat in remaining ingredients.

Drop by teaspoonful onto greased cookie sheets and bake at 350 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes. Makes approximately five dozen, depending on size.

Hot and cold

Keep hot foods above 140 degrees and cold ones below 40 degrees to prevent spoilage. Never leave hot or cold foods at room temperature for more than two hours.

Extra fuses

Put extra fuses on your holiday shopping list for emergency replacement of blown ones resulting from the use of too many electrical appliances at one time.

Colorful plight emerges

Have American consumers gone overboard on the color of their fruits and vegetables? According to some government officials, they have. The uses of dyes and gasses to attain a "perfect" color have increased, according to the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Floyd Hedlund, a fruit and vegetable expert at the USDA, said, "On apples, on peaches, we're just going overboard on color. It's a fact that consumers have opted for color. Canada won't even let our apples in unless they meet a certain color line."

But Jane Armstrong, Jewel's consumer specialist, disagrees.

"TRADITIONALLY, CUSTOMERS like the idea of good color in their produce," she said. "But I do feel they understand better than before that all produce isn't perfect."

The government experts contend that the color craze has grown with the nation's exposure to full color advertising, where the food seen in print or in television commercials always looks better than life. Eventually shoppers began to expect their produce to look like the ads, forgetting that an apple on a backyard tree or a tomato from the garden usually is not perfect. Or so say the people in the Agriculture Dept.

However, Jane Armstrong said that with the upsurge in consumerism fewer people — not more — expect color perfection in their produce.

"THE CONSUMER IS becoming educated on selection of quality," she said. She said she sees more people selecting produce on the basis of firmness, and ripeness characteristics rather than just color.

So the debate continues.

Also continuing are manufacturing and marketing practices like prepackaging of fresh produce (how does a consumer judge the firmness and ripeness of such fruits and vegetables?) and the use of Red Dye No. 2.

The dye is still under study to determine whether it can cause cancer, birth defects or genetic damage. But even with questionable safety, it is still the most widely used food coloring in the U.S., according to the Dept. of Agriculture.

Why? The people who make strawberry ice cream, red soda pop and other colored foods claim their products would be forced off the market if the dye isn't used.

Lefse made in advance of holidays

ar or a mixture of cinnamon and sugar. Roll like a jelly roll. Lefse may be frozen between pieces of waxed paper and stored in plastic bags. Defrost and place between moist towels. Makes about five dozen.

MACE COOKIES

1 cup butter or margarine
2 cups sugar
2 whole eggs
¼ cup milk
3½ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon mace

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs and beat well. Blend in milk. Sift dry ingredients together and gradually beat into batter. Chill in refrigerator about two hours.

Remove dough; roll out in small amounts on a floured board to 1/8 -inch thickness. Cut with Christmas cookie cutters. Place on greased cookie sheets and bake at 350 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes. Decorate as desired with colored confectioners' sugar icing.

SALTED PEANUT COOKIES

1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup white sugar
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup corn flakes
1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
1 cup whole salted peanuts

Cream together butter and sugars. Add eggs and beat well. Sift flour, baking powder and soda together and add to batter. Slowly beat in remaining ingredients.

Drop by teaspoonsful onto greased cookie sheets and bake at 350 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes. Makes approximately five dozen, depending on size.

Hot and cold

Keep hot foods above 140 degrees and cold ones below 40 degrees to prevent spoilage. Never leave hot or cold foods at room temperature for more than two hours.

Extra fuses

Put extra fuses on your holiday shopping list for emergency replacement of blown ones resulting from the use of too many electrical appliances at one time.

Ideas for turkey roll rate center attention

Turkey is more than a holiday eating experience these days. Yet, at Thanksgiving there always is the perplexing quandary of what to do with the bird. As family size diminishes and fewer sit down to feast on a handsome, golden stuffed roast turkey with all the trimmings, it is time to grace this very special meal with a different turkey dish. Why not try glazed turkey legs, or turkey roll en croute, or curried turkey over broiled bananas? Turkey now comes in rolls, breasts and legs, so casseroles, soups and other different turkey dishes no longer require the previous roasting of a whole 12-or 24-pound bird.

CRANBERRY TURKEY ROLL EN CROUTE

6 slices bacon, diced
1 large onion, chopped
1 cup fresh cranberries
½ cup dry bread crumbs
1 package pie crust mix
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 egg, well beaten.

Roast turkey roll as label directs. Cool slightly, remove string. Remove skin, if desired. fry bacon and onion until bacon is crisp. Pour off half of drippings. Add cranberries and cook until cranberries are soft, about 5 minutes. Stir in bread crumbs. Cool. Mix pie crust mix and poultry seasoning then prepare as label directs. On a floured surface, roll three-fourths of crust into 16 by 12 inches oblong. Spread pie crust with cranberry mixture. Place turkey roll on pie crust and roll crust around turkey roll to enclose completely. Seal all edges.

On greased cookie sheet place turkey roll, seam-side down. Brush pie crust with beaten egg. On floured surface roll remaining pie crust. With turkey shaped cookie cutter cut pie crust into turkey cutouts. Firmly press turkey cutouts on to pastry covered turkey roll. Brush cutouts with beaten egg. Place pastry covered roll on baking sheet. Bake in preheated 400-degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes or until pie crust is brown. Place on heated platter and surround with a harvest of cooked drained vegetables. Makes 6 servings.

GLAZED TURKEY LEGS

8 Turkey legs
Salt, pepper, poultry seasoning
½ cup butter or margarine, melted
2 cups fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained
½ cup cranberry juice cocktail
Juice of 1 lemon
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar

Sprinkle turkey legs with salt, pepper and poultry seasoning. Brush turkey with ½ cup melted butter. Place legs on a rack in single layer in a shallow baking pan. Roast in a preheated 350 degree oven for one and a half hours,turning legs once, until legs are easily pierced. While turkey is roasting, combine cranberries, cranberry juice and lemon in a saucepan. Bring to a boil, lower heat and simmer for 15 minutes. Stir in ¼ cup melted butter until smooth. Beat in brown sugar. Spoon mixture over turkey legs and roast another 20 minutes. Serve garnished with parsley.

Serve with succotash made by combining equal parts of cooked kernel corn and baby limas. Toss with butter and salt. Makes 8 servings.

TURKEY ROLL EN GELEE

1 frozen turkey roast 4¼ pounds)
with light and dark meat
¼ teaspoon crushed rosemary
Salt and pepper
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
3 cups cranberry-apple drink
1 tablespoon whole pickling spice
¼ cup lemon juice
Thinly sliced radishes
Thinly sliced cucumbers
Thinly sliced carrots

Roast turkey roll as directed on package, sprinkling with salt, pepper and crushed rosemary. Cool and chill, then carefully remove strings and skin. Put roast on a rack in a shallow pan; refrigerate. Soak gelatin in one-half cup of cranberry drink for 5 minutes. Put over low heat, add pickling spice and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in remaining cranberry juice and lemon juice. Cool and strain.

Chill until the consistency of unbeaten egg whites, then spoon gelatin over roast, covering it completely with a thin layer. Decorate top of roast with thinly sliced radishes, cucumbers and carrots arranged in a pretty pattern in gelatin. Chill roast for 10 minutes. Carefully spoon another layer of gelatin over roast and decoration. Chill again until firm. Continue spooning gelatin and chilling until roast is completely covered but not with such a thick layer that the pattern on the top is obscured. Chill remaining gelatin. Place roast on a platter. Chop remaining gelatin and drippings, then spoon around edge of roast. Serve roast cut into thin slices with some of the chopped gelatin added to each serving. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

CURRIED TURKEY OVER BROILED BANANAS

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
3 tablespoons flour
3/4 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon curry powder
1 chicken bouillon cube
1½ cups milk
2 cups cut-up cooked turkey
½ cup sliced pitted ripe olives

In a medium saucepan, melt butter. Add onion and celery and cook over medium heat until tender. Blend in flour, salt, curry powder and crushed bouillon cube. Cook 1 or 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Gradually stir in milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Simmer 2 or 3 mintues. Add turkey and olives and heat through.

Serve over Broiled Bananas. Makes 4 servings.

BROILED BANANAS

Cut 4 bananas in half lengthwise. Place on a buttered baking sheet. Brush with melted butter and broil for 3 to 5 minutes.

Turkey now comes in rolls, breasts and legs, so casseroles, soups and other different turkey dishes no longer require the previous roasting of a whole 12-or 24-pound bird.

CRANBERRY TURKEY ROLL EN CROUTE

1 frozen turkey roll, 4 pounds
6 slices bacon, diced
1 large onion, chopped
1 cup fresh cranberries
½ cup dry bread crumbs
1 package pie crust mix
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 egg, well beaten.

Roast turkey roll as label directs. Cool slightly, remove string. Remove skin, if desired. fry bacon and onion until bacon is crisp. Pour off half of drippings. Add cranberries and cook until cranberries are soft, about 5 minutes. Stir in bread crumbs. Cool. Mix pie crust mix and poultry seasoning then prepare as label directs. On a floured surface, roll three-fourths of crust into 16 by 12 inches oblong. Spread pie crust with cranberry mixture. Place turkey roll on pie crust and roll crust around turkey roll to enclose completely. Seal all edges.

On greased cookie sheet place turkey roll, seam-side down. Brush pie crust with beaten egg. On floured surface roll remaining pie crust. With turkey shaped cookie cutter cut pie crust into turkey cutouts. Firmly press turkey cutouts on to pastry covered turkey roll. Brush cutouts with beaten egg. Place pastry covered roll on baking sheet. Bake in preheated 400-degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes or until pie crust is brown. Place on heated platter and surround with a harvest of cooked drained vegetables. Makes 6 servings.

GLAZED TURKEY LEGS

8 Turkey legs
Salt, pepper, poultry seasoning
½ cup butter or margarine, melted
2 cups fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained
½ cup cranberry juice cocktail
Juice of 1 lemon
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar

Sprinkle turkey legs with salt, pepper and poultry seasoning. Brush turkey with ½ cup melted butter. Place legs on a rack in single layer in a shallow baking pan. Roast in a preheated 350 degree oven for one and a half hours,turning legs once, until legs are easily pierced. While turkey is roasting, combine cranberries, cranberry juice and lemon in a saucepan. Bring to a boil, lower heat and simmer for 15 minutes. Stir in ¼ cup melted butter until smooth. Beat in brown sugar. Spoon mixture over turkey legs and roast another 20 minutes. Serve garnished with parsley.

Serve with succotash made by combining equal parts of cooked kernel corn and baby limas. Toss with butter and salt. Makes 8 servings.

TURKEY ROLL EN GELEE

1 frozen turkey roast 4¼ pounds) with light and dark meat
¼ teaspoon crushed rosemary
Salt and pepper
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
3 cups cranberry-apple drink
1 tablespoon whole pickling spice
¼ cup lemon juice
Thinly sliced radishes
Thinly sliced cucumbers
Thinly sliced carrots

Roast turkey roll as directed on package, sprinkling with salt, pepper and crushed rosemary. Cool and chill, then carefully remove strings and skin. Put roast on a rack in a shallow pan; refrigerate. Soak gelatin in one-half cup of cranberry drink for 5 minutes. Put over low heat, add pickling spice and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in remaining cranberry juice and lemon juice. Cool and strain.

Chill until the consistency of unbeaten egg whites, then spoon gelatin over roast, covering it completely with a thin layer. Decorate top of roast with thinly sliced radishes, cucumbers and carrots arranged in a pretty pattern in gelatin. Chill roast for 10 minutes. Carefully spoon another layer of gelatin over roast and decoration. Chill again until firm. Continue spooning gelatin and chilling until roast is completely covered but not with such a thick layer that the pattern on the top is obscured. Chill remaining gelatin. Place roast on a platter. Chop remaining gelatin and drippings, then spoon around edge of roast. Serve roast cut into thin slices with some of the chopped gelatin added to each serving. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

CURRIED TURKEY OVER BROILED BANANAS

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
3 tablespoons flour
3/4 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon curry powder
1 chicken bouillon cube
1½ cups milk
2 cups cut-up cooked turkey
½ cup sliced pitted ripe olives

In a medium saucepan, melt butter. Add onion and celery and cook over medium heat until tender. Blend in flour, salt, curry powder and crushed bouillon cube. Cook 1 or 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Gradually stir in milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Simmer 2 or 3 mintues. Add turkey and olives and heat through.

Serve over Broiled Bananas. Makes 4 servings.
